GREATER SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA STRAIGHT AHEAD

SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 21, 1922

Liberty Under Law—Equal Rights—True Industrial Freedom.

CONTINUE FIGHT AGAINST FROST IN CITRUS BELT.

Ultimate Quarter Crop Damaged, but Enough Saved for Market; Citrus Men Call Meeting.

Covering the San Gabriel Valley from Los Angeles to Pomona with temperatures ranging from 19 to 28 deg. between midnight and daybreak, the cold snap which set in Thursday night did damage to the citrus crop. Officials of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange would not venture yesterday to estimate the total loss, but did not deny that it might run as high as 25 per cent of the entire crop.

Weather Bureau attaches stated yesterday that low temperature would likely prevail during the night, but that the temperature might moderate somewhat. Frost warnings were posted in all fruit districts, and the growers were prepared early last night for another battle with the cold.

While the temperatures which prevailed in Los Angeles and Riverside counties were not quite so low as they were at the time of the frost of 1913, when almost the entire citrus crop was ruined, the low temperature manifested itself earlier in the night and continued for many hours, exchange officials said, forcing the biting cold into the fruit after a cold, raw day in which temperatures failed to rise noticeably.

In this city the lowest temperature Thursday night was 31 deg., while it was three deg. lower the night of the disastrous freeze in 1913, and low levels in virtually all citrus districts varied about that mark Thursday night, Weather Bureau attaches stated.

There was, however, sufficient cold Thursday night to damage fruit in many localities quite badly, especially if warm weather should set in at once, horticultural authorities assert.

MEANS GOOD PRICES.

Earl G. Denell, assistant general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, in a statement yesterday asserted that great damage had been done, especially in a strip of naval orange country running east from Los Angeles to Cucamonga, but that sufficient fruit had been saved out of what was thought to be an unusually large crop, to take care of a certain per cent of the market's demands and that growers who were careful to harvest only the good fruit

Dispenser Damaged as Cold Snap Arrives and Pressure is Reduced.

Failure in many parts of the city failed to throw off the usual degree of heat calories during the cold snap for the reason that one of the big compressors at the ice works broke down at a time when it was needed most. As a result, a low gas pressure prevailed in outlying sections of the city.

The compressor was repaired and started working again yesterday afternoon, officials of the company stated last night that normal pressure would soon be restored. Failures of power and light companies reported so it as a matter of record, there.

COLD WAVE MODERATES.

Coast Sections Report Slightly Warmer; $150,000 Artichoke Crop Damage Is Claimed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—The gripping cold of the last forty-eight hours centered in several sections of the Pacific forecast district, definite information on the crop damage resulting had not reached weather officials here tonight. Unofficial reports from Watsonville, however, indicated approximately $150,000 damage to the artichoke crop, resulting from the lowest temperature in that section, 20 deg., in thirty-five years.

The forecast for tomorrow is cold weather for the entire district, moderating slightly during the day. The North Pacific States experienced slightly moderating temperatures today, as also did points further south, including San Francisco, where the minimum was 38, as compared with yesterday's record minimum of 32.

VALENCIAS DAMAGED.

FRESNO, Jan. 20.—With a minimum temperature of from 19 to 24 deg. prevailing throughout the San Joaquin Valley late last night and early this morning, citrus growers of the Tulare and Fresno county orange belt, tonight, expressed the fear that the Valencia crop had been severely damaged. Growers around Exeter, Tulare county, placed the loss as high as 25 per cent of the spring crop, but declared that exact losses could not be estimated for several days. Clear, cold weather prevailed here tonight.

COLD WAVE BROKEN.

MODESTO, Jan. 20.—With the moderation of a cold wind and continued sunshine today, the cold wave which hovered over Modesto for a week past seemed broken. At 6 o'clock there was a noticeable drop in the temperature, the thermometer reading 42 deg. At 8 o'clock the temperature showed HALT PACT ON CHINA.

Japan Holds Up Agreement.

Delegates Object to Making Public Treaties and Understandings.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The American proposal to lay openly before the world all the treaties and understandings that relate to China met with an unexpected setback today when it came before the Far Eastern committee for formal adoption.

Although such a step had been agreed yesterday "in principle," the problem of defining the exact scope of the agreement precipitated a long debate and after several changes had been made in the draft presented by the American delegation, final action was postponed at the suggestion of Japan.

REDUCTION OF ARMY.

The committee did adopt, however, a resolution expressing the hope of the powers that China speedily would reduce the large military forces now maintained within her borders. That action, the resolution declared, was considered requisite to any real financial rehabilitation of the Chinese government.

Meantime, in another subdivision of the conference, the groundwork was laid for another international gathering which some delegates seemed to regard as a partial realization of President Harding's plan for a continuing series of meetings to discuss world affairs. The sub-committee on draft, headed by Elihu Root, approved a resolution putting over a revision of the rules of warfare to a future conference which, it is contemplated, shall be called by the United States soon.

BREAKS OUT IN SENATE.

For the first time in several weeks discussion of the Washington negotiations broke out in the Senate, where a resolution was presented by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asking information about the status of the Shantung controversy. REPORT ON PHILIPPINES CRITICISED Wood-Forbes Mission Has Only Served to Stir People Further, Says Gabaldon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The report of the Wood-Forbes mission which advised against granting the Philippines their independence was criticised in the House today by Isauro Gabaldon, one of the resident commissioners from the islands, who declared his people could "neither agree to nor accept the recommendations of the investigators."

Contending that the report had only served to increase the insistence of Filipinos for independence, Mr. Gabaldon said:

"We can find no other conclusion than that the object of the investigators was to find excuses for delaying independence. In deciding the fitness of the islands for independence he declared that the mission had set arbitrary qualifications that no nation can now or ever will be able to meet.

As two additional developments in the Pacific situation which make granting of independence at this time "opportune," Mr. Gabaldon mentioned the four-power Pacific treaty and the fact that the Nacionalista party which, he declared, was in the overwhelming majority in the Philippines, recently adopted a platform in favor of independence without protection.

"I pray you not to do us the injustice of misunderstanding our motive in petitioning you for complete independence," he declared. "We do not challenge the benevolence of your intentions, but are merely yearning for the freedom which is inherent to every self-respecting people."

Britain, France Will Negotiate Pact at Once.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Jan. 20. — Negotiations through regular diplomatic channels between Paris and London regarding the proposed Anglo-French pact will be begun at once, inaugurating a reversion to the old school of diplomacy, it was announced today.

The next question to be taken up, it was stated, probably will be measured with reference to Germany.

AMERICA IS WATCHING.

Genoa Meeting May Fail.

Attitude of France is Very Likely to Kill Proposed Conference.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A fortnight or more is likely to elapse before the administration decides whether the United States is to accept the invitation of the European powers to participate in the economic conference at Genoa March 8.

President Harding decided today to postpone action on the invitation and it was indicated at the White House that the matter would not be considered until the Conference on the Limitation of Armaments concluded its work.

The administration also intends to delay action until the attitude of France toward the Genoa parley is disclosed more definitely.

POINCARE'S STATEMENT.

The statement of policy made by Premier Poincare, in which he announced that Germany must make full reparation payments, and that France could not accept an invitation to Genoa unless it was understood in advance the question of German reparations was not to be discussed, does not fit in with the American position.

The United States also feels the question of the reduction and limitation of land armaments of European nations should be considered as one of the necessary steps in a sincere effort to balance national budgets. There is no indication in what Premier Poincare said that France is prepared to consider that question at all.

MAY CHANGE PLANS.

The present attitude of France in antagonism to the modification of German reparations payments, and other conditions laid down by France as essential to its participation in the proposed Genoa conference, it was pointed out here, made it uncertain that the conference would be held on March 8, if at all.

Another feature of the developments which are displeasing to some American officials is the activity displayed by Leon Trotsky, the soviet War Minister,

PONTIFF SINKING FAST; SUFFERS INTENSE PAIN; DEATH EXPECTED SOON

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Jan. 21.—Pope Benedict at 8:15 a.m. was still living, but rapidly failing. At 7 o'clock it had been announced at the Vatican that the Pope was dying and telegrams were sent to the papal nuncios to that effect.

At 8 o'clock the Pontiff's physicians issued a bulletin saying:

"The condition of the Holy Father became worse during the night, which was agitated and sleepless. The pneumonia had progressed.

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

Since early this morning a crowd which was at first largely composed of newspaper men had been gathering before St. Peter's. Carriages and automobiles bearing cardinals and diplomats soon began to arrive and a strict watch was being kept on the Vatican doors. Few were permitted to approach the Pope's apartment besides the cardinals and certain other dignitaries, and only two newspaper men — the representatives of the Stefani News Agency and the Osservatore Romano — were permitted in the ante-chamber.

The Pope's nephew, the Marquis Della Chiesa, who arose from his sick bed yesterday to visit his uncle, returned to the sick chamber at 6:45 o'clock, and Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, arrived ten minutes later. Within five minutes after their arrival the announcement was given out that the Pontiff was dying.

Mons. Migone celebrated mass in the chapel adjoining the Pope's room at 1:15 o'clock, the Pope listening through the open door while the celebrant administered communion.

MIND STILL CLEAR.

Cardinal Giorgi, who in the event of death will conduct the special ceremonies over his body, passed the night in the Vatican.

According to the newspaper Messaggero, the Pope's mind was still clear at 2:30 o'clock this morning, when he said affectionately to Dr. Battistini, who was attending him: "What are you doing here at this hour? You are old; go and sleep."

Fresh centers of pneumonic infection have developed in the lungs of the patient and the catarrh from which he suffers still persists. His temperature shortly after midnight was 101. Breathing was hard and difficult.

The pneumonia was localized during Friday as centered in the Pontiff's right lung, but neither lung was functioning as the physicians desired, in consequence of which there was much accumulation of phlegm, which at times threatened suffocation. The pneu-

GASPARRI SUMMONS CARDINALS

Papal Secretary of State Urges Those Abroad to Hasten to Rome.

ROME, Jan. 20.—Cardinal Gasparri papal secretary of state, says the Tribuna today, has sent an urgent summons for all the cardinals resident abroad to come to Rome in order that the sacred college may be present there, ready for any eventuality.

FORWARD STEP TAKEN TO UPBUILD PACIFIC PORTS.

Representatives of Ten Largest Cities Indorse Shipping Pool; Ask for No Subsidy.

BY ARTHUR PANGBURN.
"Times" Staff Correspondent.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—With only one delegation, that from Portland, refraining from voting, delegates from the chambers of commerce of all the big seaports of the Pacific Coast went on record here late today as indorsing the plan of Herbert Fleishhacker, prominent San Francisco banker, for the formation of a $30,000,000 steamship company for the operation, under private ownership, of the United States Shipping Board vessels in the Pacific. Executive sessions marked the entire progress of the conference.

A subcommittee, appointed by a committee of the whole and composed of Harry Chandler of Los Angeles, Capt. Robert Dollar of San Francisco and Harris J. Robbins of Oakland, presented to the conference the resolution that was finally adopted. Approval of the action of the delegates rests with the chambers of commerce which they represent, but it was indicated that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will ratify without hesitation the action of its delegation.

WILL ASK NO SUBSIDY.

The first step toward bringing into being the proposed giant ship company, it was said at the close of the conference, will be taken by a committee to be named by Mr. Fleishhacker. It will be the task of this committee to go to Washington and, with Mr. Fleishhacker as spokesman, submit to Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board the conditions under which the successful organization of the proposed company can be carried out.

Certain things will be asked of the government, but a ship subsidy will not be one of them. This point was emphasized by Capt. Robert Dollar. Favorable contracts for the carrying of the government mails, contracts that will mean the taking over by the company of all government transport work and certain legislation that will enable the company to compete successfully with foreign ship operating companies will be asked for at Washington.

Another committee composed of one delegate from each Chamber of Commerce represented at today's conference will be appointed to work out the organization and financing details. This committee will meet here at a date to be set by Mr. Fleishhacker.

The general plan of the proposed ship company, as outlined at the conference, is as follows:

The company will succeed to the operations of all government-owned vessels in trans-Pacific service giving combined freight and passenger service, including all such ships allocated to private companies, and all ships engaged in transport service.

It will not succeed to the activities between domestic ports, including operations between

MINERS' DEMANDS MANY.

Twenty Per Cent Increase in Wages Among Numerous Things Asked for Anthracite Diggers.

SHAMOKIN (Pa.) Jan. 20.—The tri-State convention of the anthracite mine workers today adopted the recommendation of the scale committee demanding a 20 per cent increase in wages for contract miners and $1 a day increase for all day men.

The convention had before it tonight a recommendation providing for a suspension of mining on April 1, in the event no satisfactory agreement has been reached by that date.

The delegates also adopted a demand that the proposed new agreement to take the place of the present one which expires March 31, shall not exceed a period of two years, and prohibiting the making of individual agreements and contracts in the mining of coal.

The scale committee presented nineteen proposed demands on the operators and three recommendations to be carried out by the scale committee.

Other demands provide for a uniform wage scale so that various occupations of like character shall command the same wages; that the eight-hour clause in the present agreement shall be applied to all persons working in and about the mines coming under the jurisdiction of the mine workers' union; time and one-half time for all overtime work, and double time for Sunday and holiday work; a standard check-off system; dead work to be paid for on a uniform consideration basis; that where coal is paid for by the car, it shall be charged and payment made on the legal ton basis and dockage eliminated; that carpenters and other tradesmen be paid the recognized standard rates existing in the regions, which should not be less than 90 cents an hour; that in rehiring men laid off the seniority rule shall apply; that employees of stripping contractors be brought under the agreement; that powder be delivered to the miners at their working places, and that where men have been working on'y six or seven-hour days in collieries where eight hours prevail, that they have their wages readjusted, based on normal conditions.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Rome newspapers, according to a dispatch to the Central News, express the opinion that in the event of the death of Pope Benedict his successor will be Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state. His election, it is added, would have the support of the Italian government.

CEREMONIES INTERESTING.

Cardinal Camerlengo Sets Machinery Going.

Obsequies Last Nine Days in the Vatican.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The election of a Pope is neither simple nor direct. The controversies surrounding the legal means for ascension to this office have been many in the long history of the Catholic church, and reached in a rather involved procedure.

Strictly speaking, however, any male Christian who has reached the age of reason can be chosen; not, however, a heretic, a schismatic or a notorious Simonist. Although since Urban VI (1378-1389) none but a cardinal has been elected Pope, new laws reserve to the cardinals this right.

The procedure upon the Pope's death is set in motion by the cardinal camerlengo, who, as representative of the sacred college, assumes charge of the papal household and verifies the death of the Pontiff. In the presence of the house he strikes the forehead of the dead Pope three times with a silver mallet, calling him by his baptismal name. The fisherman ring and the papal seals then are broken. A notary draws up the act which is the legal evidence of the Pope's death. The obsequies last nine days.

CARDINALS NOTIFIED.

Meanwhile the cardinals have been notified of the impending election and those resident in Rome await their absent brethren, assisting in the meantime at the functions for the deceased Pontiff.

All cardinals, and they alone, have the right to vote in the conclave; they must, however, be legitimately appointed, have the use of reason and be present in person, not through a procurator or by letter. This right is acknowledged, even if they are subject to, for example, excommunication, or if the ceremonies of their "creation" as cardinals have yet to be performed.

During the aforesaid nine days, and until the election of a successor, all cardinals appear with uncovered rochete, just as all have canopies over their seats at the conclave, to show that the supreme authority is in the hands of the whole college.

The cardinal camerlengo is assisted by the heads of the three cardinalitial orders known as the "capita ordinum."

FREQUENT MEETINGS.

There are frequent meetings or "congregations" of these four cardinals to determine every detail, both of the obsequies of the Pope and of the preparations for the conclave. All matters of importance are referred to the general congregations which, since 1870, are held in the Vatican.

The cardinal dean, always the bishop of Ostia, presides over these congregations, but which the cardinals take rank and precedence from the date of their elevation to the purple. Formerly they also had to provide for the government of the papal states and to repress frequent disorders during the interregnum.

In the first of these congregations the various constitutions which govern the conclave are read and the cardinals take an oath to observe them. Then in the following days the various officers of the conclave, the conclavists, the confessors, and physicians and servants of various kinds are ordained or appointed by special commission. Each cardinal has a right to take into the conclave a secretary and a servant, the secretary usually being an ecclesiastic.

In case of illness a third conclavist may be allowed with agreement of the general congregation. All are equally sworn to secrecy and also not to hinder the election.

CONCLAVE WALLED OFF.

Meanwhile, the conclave, formerly a large room, now a large part of the Vatican palace, including two or three floors, is walled off and the space divided into apartments, each with three or four small rooms or cells, in each of which are a crucifix, a bed, a table and a few chairs. Access to the conclave is free through one door only, locked from without by the marshal of the conclave and from within by the cardinal camerlengo.

There are four openings provided for the passage of food and other necessaries, guarded from within and without, on the exterior by the authority of the marshal and major-domo, on the interior by the prelate assigned to this duty by the three cardinals mentioned above, representative of the three cardinalitial orders. Once the conclave begins the door is not again opened until the election is announced, except to admit a cardinal who is late in arriving.

All communication with the outside is strictly forbidden, under pain of loss of office and ipso facto excommunication. A cardinal may leave the conclave in case of sickness (certified under oath by a physician) and return; but so a conclavist.

LIVE IN CELLS.

Within, the cardinals live with their conclavists in the cells. Though all meals are taken in private, they are served from a common quarter, but great care is taken to prevent written communication by this way. The cells of the cardinals are covered with cloth, purple if the cardinal was "created" by the last Pope; green if not. When they wish to be undisturbed they close the door of their cell, the framework of which is in the shape of a St. Andrews cross.

The conclave opens officially on the evening of the tenth day after the Pope's decease, unless another day has been assigned.

Every precaution is taken to exclude those who have no right within the enclosure. Papal legislation has long since forbidden the once customary "capitulations" or ante-election agreements binding on the new Pope; it also has forbidden the cardinals to treat of papal succession among themselves during the Pope's lifetime; the Pope may, however, treat of the matter with the cardinals. All true cardinals may enter the conclave, but those only who have received deacons or doctors have a right to vote unless they have received a special indult from the late Pope. Cardinals who have been preconized but not yet elevated to the purple are entitled by a decision of St. Pius V (1571) both to be presented to vote.

Including the cardinals, prelates and conclavists, there are perhaps 250 persons in the enclosure, but the government of the conclave is in the hands of cardinal camerlengo, and of the three representative cardinals who succeed one another in order of seniority every three days.

ASSEMBLE FOR VOTING.

About 7 or 8 o'clock on the morning of the eleventh day, the cardinals assemble in the Pauline Chapel and assist at the mass of the cardinal dean. After mass they assemble in the Sistine Chapel, where the actual voting takes place.

Their six candles are lighted on the altar on which rest the paten and chalice to be used in the voting. The papal throne is removed. Before each chair is a small writing desk. When ready to vote they enter the Sistine Chapel, accompanied by their conclavists bearing their portfolios and writing materials. Prayers are said by the bishop sacristan; the ballots are distributed and then all are excluded except the cardinals, one of whom bolts the door.

There are four possible forms of election: Scrutinum, compromissum, Accessus, Quasi-Inspiratio. The usual form is that of scrutinum, or secret ballot, and in it the successful candidate requires a two-thirds vote exclusive of his own. When there is a close vote, and only then, the ballot of the pope-elect, which, like all the others, is distinguishable by a text of Scripture written on one of its outside folds, is opened to make sure that he did not vote for himself.

BALLOTS DEPOSITED.

Each cardinal deposits his vote in the chalice on the altar and at the same time takes the prescribed oath: "Testor Christum Dominum qui Me Judicaturus, est me eligere quem secundum deum judico eligi debere et quod idem in accessu praetabo," which, translated, is "I call to witness the Lord Christ, who will be my judge, that I am electing the one whom, according to God, I think ought to be elected."

For this election by secret ballot three cardinals (scrutatores) are chosen by lot each time to preside over the operation of voting, three others (revisores) to control the count of their colleagues, and still three others (infirmarii) to collect the ballots of the sick and absent cardinals. If the sick cardinals cannot attend the balloting, then the three infirmarii go to their cells and bring back their votes in a box to the three cardinals presiding, who count them and put them in the chalice with the others.

Then all the ballots having been shaken up and counted, if the number agrees with the number of electors, the chalice is brought to the table and the ballots, on the outside of which appear the names of the candidates, are passed from hand to hand to the third cardinal, who reads the names aloud. All present are provided with lists on which the names of all the cardinals appear, and it is customary for the cardinals to check off the votes as they are read. Then the three cardinal revisers verify the result, which is proclaimed as definite.

If, upon the first ballot, no candidate receives the necessary two-thirds vote recourse is often had to the form of voting known as accessus. This form is designed primarily to hasten elections and usually considered to favor the chances of the candidate who has the most votes. All use the same blanks again with the difference that if the elector wishes his vote to count for his first choice he writes "accedo nemini" if he changes his vote he introduces the name of his latest choice. When the required two-thirds are not obtained the ballots are consumed in a stove whose chimney extends through a window of the Sistine chapel.

BALLOTS AND STRAW.

When there is no election straw is mixed with the ballots to show by its thick smoke to those waiting outside that there has been no election. There are always two votes taken every day, in the morning and in the evening and they occupy two to three hours each.

Other forms of election made almost impossible by the legislation of Gregory VI are known as quasi-inspiration and compromise.

The former supposes that before a given session there had been no agreement among the cardinals and that one of the cardinals addressing the assembly proposes the name of a candidate with the words "Ego Eligo"—(I elect, etc.) An election by compromise supposes that after a long and hopeless contest the cardinals unanimously delegate a certain number of their body to make a choice. It has not been employed since the fourteenth century.

CHOICE OF NAME.

When a candidate has obtained the required number of votes the cardinal dean asks him whether he will accept the election and by what name he wishes to be known. Each Pope takes a new name in imitation of St. Peter's change of name. The doors have been opened and official cognizance is taken of the new Pope's answer. Immediately the masters of ceremonies lower the canopies of all the cardinals' chairs save that of the Pope-elect and he is conducted to a neighboring room where he is clothed in papal garments. The cardinals then advance and pay him the first "obedience." Then follows the proclamation to the people. The Pope then either confirms or appoints the cardinal camerlengo who puts upon his finger the fisherman's ring. Then follows the proclamation to the people made by the senior cardinal deacon in St. Peter's. The conclave then usually terminates.

If the Pope happens to be a bishop he must be consecrated at once and, according to immemorial tradition by the cardinal bishop of Ostia. If already a bishop there takes place only the solemn blessing.

END NEAR FOR POPE BENEDICT.

MIND CLEAR.

Through all his sufferings the mind of the Pontiff remains bright and he is described as being exceedingly cheerful and unafraid of death. "If it pleases the Lord that I shall work again for His church, I am ready; if He says it is enough, let His will be done," the Pontiff said Friday evening as the cardinals were withdrawing from the sick chamber after having paid him a visit.

Throughout the early hours of the evening Benedict was reported to have been fairly comfortable, but as midnight approached he became restless. He found difficulty in breathing and oxygen again was administered. This seemed to give some relief.

RECEIVES UNCTION.

During the day the Holy Father received extreme unction and the holy sacrament was administered. Many of the cardinals and members of the diplomatic corps attached to the Vatican, many of them with tears in their eyes, watched the solemn ceremony through the doorway leading from the sick chamber into the anteroom.

Several times when cardinals entered the bedroom during the day and knelt and kissed the hand of the Pontiff as it lay on a cushion at his bedside, the Holy Father spoke words of cheer to them.

That the members of the Sacred College fully realized the gravity of the situation was evident from the troubled looks upon their faces. All night three physicians were at the Pope's bedside, while until late into the evening the anteroom was filled with diplomats and cardinals.

St. Peter's and all the churches of Rome during the day and the night were crowded with persons offering up prayers for the recovery of the Holy Father.

APARTMENT OF PIUS X.

The apartment occupied by the Pontiff is the same as that used by Pope Pius X. The windows open on the spacious St. Peter's Square overlooking the whole of Rome. The bedroom of the Pope is the last but one from the corner. The corner room, now a small chapel, was the death chamber of Pius X.

Among the cardinals of the Curia who remained in the Vatican throughout the afternoon and during the evening was Vincent Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College. He said that at a time like this the death of the Holy Father would be a great calamity.

When the great specialist, Dr. Marchiafava, proclaimed that there still was a thread of hope for the recovery of the Pope, a humble friar of the "do good brethren" who has been attending the Pope throughout his illness, was even more sanguine, saying: "During my lifetime work among the sick and poor I have seen so many recover who looked worse than does the Pontiff. To me he does not show the appearance of being a desperate case."

"I accept this as a happy augury."

The Pontiff's voice, however, was hoarse, and it was with difficulty that he spoke.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Rome newspapers, according to a dispatch to the Central News, express the opinion that in the event of the death of Pope Benedict his successor will be Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state. His election, it is added, would have the support of the Italian government.

NATIONAL CHURCH MEETING.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A national conference of all religious denominations to promote further international co-operation in the churches of the United States will be held at Cleveland, May 16-18, under the auspices of the World Alliance for International Friendship, it was announced today.

Cardinal O'Connell Asks Prayers.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Cardinal O'Connell tonight issued a formal announcement at the arch diocese of Boston asking for prayers of priests and laymen for Pope Benedict.

UNION DEMANDS PRIVATE AUTOS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Union electricians employed by the city of Chicago scorn to use the plebeian street cars going to and from their work. They demand an allowance of $125 a month for the upkeep of their private cars, or, as an alternative, the city must furnish cars.

The city was willing to allow $75 a month for the upkeep of each private machine owned by the union electricians, but the business agent of the union said the lowest figure the men would consider would be $4 a day. He said the union would give the city sixty days in which to provide private cars for the use of electricians or pay the $125 a month for upkeep of their own cars. Otherwise the men "would walk" to and from the jobs assigned them.

CATHOLICS IN AMERICA SORROWFUL

Papal Deltgate Receives Many Anxious Inquiries; Special Prayers Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Word of the serious illness of Pope Benedict was received today with the deepest expressions of regret. Both official and unofficial Washington eagerly sought the latest information as conveyed in press dispatches from Rome while at the apostolic delegation the deepest concern was manifested.

Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, has been notified of the gravity of the illness, but it was said tonight that it was doubtful if Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia had been informed as he is on a cruise in the Antilles. For this reason it is feared that should Benedict die he might not reach Rome in time for the opening of the conclave which takes place ten to eleven days after the death of the Pope.

If this should occur it would be a repetition of what happened in the conclave of 1914 when both Cardinal O'Connell and the late Cardinal Gibbons arrived after the election of the present Pope.

Mons. Bonzani, papal delegate in Washington, was informed in a telegram received at 9:45 o'clock today from Cardinal Gasparri papal secretary, that Pope Benedict was "very seriously ill." Such a message was regarded as indicating that the Pontiff was in a most serious condition.

Anxious inquiries are being received by Monsignor Bonzani from all over the United States. In many dioceses archbishops and bishops have ordered prayers for the recovery of the Pontiff. As is customary when the death of the Pope is expected, cardinals must be ready to go to Rome to participate in the conclave for the election of a successor.

When Benedict XV was chosen as successor of Pius X, it was stated that his election was due to such a small majority that the presence of two American cardinals in the conclave might have changed the decision of the sacred college. The Americans arrived shortly after Pope Benedict was chosen.

JAP ENVOYS AND TOKIO DISAGREE.

DELAY IN UNDERSTANDING ON FORTIFICATION OF BONIN ISLANDS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Delay in agreement on the fortifications status quo provision of the Arms Conference naval treaty was learned definitely today to be caused by differences between Japanese delegates on one hand and the Japanese government and people on the other regarding the privilege of fortifying the Bonin Islands adjacent to Japan.

It was stated officially that there was no dispute in Washington. The original agreement, when the treaty was drafted, was said to be that the Bonin Islands should not be fortified. The Japanese delegates, it was declared, still adhere to this agreement. Meager press reports of the clause, however, gave the impression to the Japanese government and people that the right to fortify the Bonin Islands would be retained. Public sentiment in Japan has been developed strongly, it was said, on this view and Tokio and the public were said to be insisting that the privilege of fortifying the Bonin Islands should be retained.

The Japanese delegates were said to be engaged in an effort to convince the public and the Tokio officials that their agreement against the right of fortifying the islands should be supported.

The American position as given in American official quarters was said to be that the Bonin Islands should not be fortified if the Philippines also were to remain unfortified.

BUILDING PROGRESSES.

TOKIO (Japan) Jan. 20.—Japan is going steadily ahead with its program for the fortification of the Bonin Islands. Big gun emplacements are virtually completed and an aviation expert is now en route from Nagasaki to supervise the laying out of an aviation field, the erection of hangars, etc. The plans also include the widening of the eastward channel to permit the egress of destroyers in either direction.

Regarding the program for the conversion of warships Japan is exerting every influence to have the hulls of the fast ships transformed into airplane carriers and tank ships. This desire, over the British and American objections possibly accounts for the decision to include the Bonins in the unrestricted territory.

FORMER AMERICAN, BRITISH LORD, WEDS.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Lord Fairfax of Cameron yesterday married Maud McKelvie, the daughter of James McKelvie, a wealthy coal mine owner. Lord Fairfax, who is 59, was formerly an American citizen, being born in Fairfax county, Virginia. He was a bank clerk in New York at one time and later became a stock broker. He came to England in 1905, claiming his title, which had been dormant since the sixth Lord Fairfax emigrated to America in 1747.

GASPARRI RECEIVES PONTIFICAL WILL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Jan. 20.—During the day Pope Benedict intrusted his pontifical will to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, and his private will to his nephew, the Marquis Della Chiesa.

Extreme unction was administered to the Pontiff this morning before he received holy communion.

ATTACKS GUY'S PATERNITY.

Stillman's Fight to Have Boy Adjudged Illegitimate Again Before Appelate Court.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—James A. Stillman's fight to have Bttle Guy Stillman adjudged illegitimate was intensified today in the Appellate division of the Supreme Court. The banker's counsel repeated charges that Mrs. Anne U. Stillman had misconducted herself with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, who Mr. Stillman contends is the father of Guy. Love messages purported to have passed between Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais were read.

Counsel for Stillman declared his wife had never denied the charge that the child is illegitimate, and answered her recent predictions that Guy's good name would be upheld in court by saying her defense had not shown reasonable probability of success.

DECISION RESUMED.

The action today was on appeal of an order which would have Mr. Stillman provide $7500 to meet the expenses of a hearing in the divorce suit at Montreal. The court reserved decision.

"The plaintiff in his complaint alleges that Mrs. Stillman lived continuously with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, in violation of her marriage vows. She says 'These charges I deny,'" Mr. Jenks said. "There is nothing to show that she denies the possibility that she may have misconducted herself with Beauvais one or more times."

Mr. Jenks referred to letters alleged to have been written to Mrs. Stillman by Beauvais. One of these letters sealed by Supreme Court Justice Morschhauser was read to the court. The letter dated May 20, 1919, follows:

"My dearest honey: Thank you so much for your nice long letter and telegram. You don't know how much it cheered me. I don't know what happened to me, but I was sick up to yesterday, not very, but fever and heavy headaches."

REFERS TO INSOMNIA.

Here the letter referred to the writer's insomnia and more intimate matters.

"Yes, dear," it continued, "I am very lonely for you and miss you very much; it's just like as if there were no more lights in the world for me.

"In your letter you say I was cruel to you sometimes, dear. Yes, I know I am bad and mean to you, but it always makes me want to love you more afterwards. Oh, but it seems ages and ages ago since I've seen you, but it will seem just as long to me before I will be able to take and hold you in my arms and give you a nice hug.

"If anyone tries to make love to you down there and I find it out I will kill them sure, when you were all mine and Guy's, or rather I am all yours and Guy's to the end.

SENATE GIVEN WARNING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Shantung controversy, which played such an important part in the defeat of the Versailles Treaty, stalked into the Senate today to menace ratification of the various pacts growing out of the Armament Conference.

Senator Walsh of Montana, Democrat, introduced a resolution designed to bring the Shantung dispute, now waging between the Japanese and Chinese delegates, to the open. The resolution called upon President Harding to furnish the Senate with the facts concerning the situation. Senator Walsh declared that failure to adjust the differences between Japan and China would endanger ratification of the four-power pact and other agreements resulting from the conference.

LEADERS AROUSED.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, and Senator Underwood, Democratic leader, delegates to the conference, both happened to be in the Senate when Senator Walsh introduced the resolution.

They moved promptly and in perfect unison, to squelch it. Each made a speech opposing action on the measure at this time.

General debate ensued, in which Lodge and Underwood undertook to lay before the Senate a clear view of the situation now before the conference. The debate brought out these salient facts:

That the conference is unable to conclude its work because of the Shantung issue.

That the American delegation keenly appreciates the importance of a settlement of the Shantung question and that it realizes failure to settle would affect adversely prospects of ratification of the various pacts.

That Japan is unwilling to permit other nations to intervene in the controversy and, under the terms of the Versailles Treaty, other nations are powerless to compel Japan to submit the Shantung question to a plenary session.

That the delegates still have high hopes that a settlement of the Shantung question will be reached.

BLAMES VERSAILLES PACT.

Senator Lodge told the Senate the American delegation had made every effort to use its good offices in behalf of China but that impenetrable barriers had been set up by the Versailles pact.

Senator Lodge also stated that he doubted whether all the details of the Shantung negotiations had been laid before the President.

Senator Borah, Senator Johnson and Senator Brandegee, "irreconcilables," asked Senator Lodge numerous questions, all tending to show that the commitments of the Versailles treaty were menacing the success of the present conference.

As this discussion began to take on a lively aspect, Senator Underwood said: "Any delegation or governmental instrumentality which tried right now to throw into a plenary session and force somebody's hand would be throwing a monkey wrench into a piece of machinery that may affect the world seriously, whereas I think if it is let alone for a short time it will work itself out fairly satisfactorily, at least, I have every reason to hope it will, and that a fairly reasonable settlement can be arrived at."

The resolution was laid on the table until tomorrow when it probably will be referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

DISSOLUTION WAS COSTLY.

Sugar Consumers Lost Millions of Dollars by Former Administration's War Board Dismissal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Early dissolution of sugar control by the previous administration cost the American consumers hundreds of millions of dollars, the Department of Commerce said tonight in a review. "The world sugar market," it said, "has followed a very uncertain course during the last two years. During 1918 and 1919 sugar prices and distribution of the world were under joint control and Western Hemisphere sugars were administered through the Sugar Equalization Board.

"The previous administration decided not to continue this board beyond distribution of the 1919 crop and immediately large speculative operations began with most disastrous results, whereas during the great stress of the war sugar was maintained at prices that dealt fairly with both producer and consumer. The control was obviously dissolved too early in view of the enormous disturbance to both production and consumption. The loss to the American consumer was inevitably followed by a crash which has done infinite injury to the sugar producers."

The most depressing market condition toward the end of 1921, the department continued, was the large stock of unsold sugar in Cuba, the carry over being estimated at 1,200,000 tons of old sugar as against a normal carry over of less than 100,000 tons. A careful survey of the world sugar situation, however, indicated, it was added, that if Cuba does not produce above 3,000,000 tons this year there is fair prospect that the present surplus may be absorbed by the end of 1922, with a world carry over that will not be far from normal.

Reduction of the carry over to normal should result in stabilizing and improvement in prices, the department asserted. High prices in 1920, it was explained, had a tendency to reduce consumption while conversely the relatively lower price of sugar should result in increased consumption which will be felt before the end of 1922.

PLANS BAY CITY SHAKE-UP.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Complete and thorough reorganization of the immigration office at San Francisco is contemplated by Secretary of Labor Davis. So much gossip and scandal over the admission of Chinese at this point has caused him to decide on this course.

According to present plans, J. E. Keating of the Secretary's own staff in Washington is to take the place for a year or so until the place can be overhauled from top to bottom and a thoroughly reorganized office turned over to the permanent appointee.

Senator Hiram Johnson is known to disapprove of this plan, as he is committed to the appointment of a San Francisco man for this important position. Senator Shortridge also has been asked to approve the plans of the Secretary and has the matter now under consideration.

According to the information in the hands of the department, conditions at Angel Island, where the San Francisco station is located, are badly demoralized. The Chinese are said to have warned their fellows against attempting to enter at that port, though they have certificates entitling them to admission to this country.

According to charges made, these and other aliens are held up on technicalities which, after time and expense, are waived, and the aliens objected to eventually are admitted. From this point of view the Secretary desires his own man to go there and clean house and then turn the office over to the man recommended by the California Senators for this office.

Just what the outcome of this experiment is to be if made none here can forecast, but if it works well in Angel Island it probably will be applied to other immigration stations.

RUSH WORK ON ORANGE EXHIBITION.

San Bernardino Plans to Have Largest Display of Citrus Fruit Ever Made.

Millions of oranges will be used in the displays at the Twelfth National Orange Show to be held in San Bernardino for ten days, commencing February 17. The exposition this year will be on a far larger scale than former shows, according to announcement made yesterday.

Experts have been busy for the last three weeks building the fanture exhibits entered by various civic and municipal organizations throughout the State.

A decorative effect this year is planned of California note to set off the oranges in a delightful golden glow. Native poppies ranging in size from tiny buds to large representations more than a foot in diameter will be used in profusion.

Carrying out the loca leffect in the decorations, large replicas of the California grizzly bear will predominate in various places throughout the tents. Mission arches, emblematic of the Spanish period, will also be in evidence.

The three large tents have been erected and the placing of exhibits has been in progress for several days. Some startling new ideas are promised in the fanture department this year.

The industrial and automobile sections will also be on a larger scale this time. Manufacturers from all over the country have reserved space for displays of their products. One of the novel displays in this section will be a 76-foot relief representation of the Rim of the World district in the San Bernardino Mountains. This will be constructed by the United States Department of Forestry, the resort owners and a mountain auto line. Every detail of the mountain region will be shown.

MEXICO WILL HELP SUGAR PLANTERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—The Mexican government has announced a policy of encouraging the sugar industry, both in the growing of cane and in manufacturing. The import duties on sugar will be raised 50 per cent in the hope of rehabilitating the sugar plantations destroyed during the revolutions. The government will help the sugar planters to restore machinery.

HARDING BACKS DRY BRIGADE.

Special Bootlegging Rings to be Broken Up.

Rum-Running Profiteers to Get Jail Sentences.

Foreign Liquor Salesman is Thought Small Fry.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The federal government intends to go right after the higher-ups who violate the prohibition amendment, President Harding has suggested to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that this be done.

It is the organized violation of the prohibition legislation that is giving the Federal authorities concern. Violation by individuals are being overlooked by the authorities, but the officials who are dealing with the problem of law enforcement have reached the decision that if the government can put a stop to organized violations, the individuals will be practically solved. Therefore, in uncovering organized, illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors the secret service worked out. The information which leads it to believe that large sums of money are in possession of persons in this organized traffic and that some of outward respectability are connected with the organizations that are carrying on the traffic. Under the new method of procedure the government will attempt to strike at what it believes to be the root of the evil.

BOOTLEGGERS SMALL FRY.

The experience of the last two years convinces the men in the office of the Federal Prohibition Commissioner that the average "bootlegger," it, after all, a rather insignificant person in the illicit liquor traffic. The Federal officers frequently catch up with him and he is convicted. He may be sentenced to jail for from three months or he may receive a heavier sentence. In the meantime it is said the men higher up who are the brains of the traffic continue their activity.

It is stated the third year of national prohibition, the government plans not only to lay hands on the higher-ups but also proposes to make different inquiry with the view to ascertaining where the unlimited supply of liquor is. One of activity that have been called for the strengthening of the personnel of the force that is working under the direction of the Federal Prohibition Commissioner. An effort to weed out incapable men in the service is to be made.

WHITE HOUSE CONFAB.

Interest now seeks the subject of the liquor comes from. The widespread violations has been under consideration at the White House. The President and his advisers are agreed that only one course remains under the circumstances and that is to make use of the available power behind the government in an effort to stop the illegal liquor traffic.

The administration does not believe, it was said in authoritative circles, that the time has come when traffic can be absolutely stopped but it does believe that the volume of the traffic now going on can be stopped.

The decision of the administration to tighten up on enforcement is a disappointment to those "wets" who had hoped that the time was approaching when the two old political parties would declare in favor of modification of the enforcement legislation. It is now as certain as anything can be that the Republicans, under the leadership of the President, will in their platform declarations this year come out boldly for law enforcement; and every reason to believe exists that the Democrats will pursue the same course.

NOTAS LOCALES.

La Helada Arruina las Cosechas.

La helada de anoche y la bajísima temperatura que se ha registrado en el Estado de California durante los últimos dos días, arruinó las hortalizas por completo. Oficiales de la asociación de Frutas de California, no pudieron estimar las pérdidas, pero dicen que llegarán a un 25 por ciento. En la ciudad de Los Angeles, la temperatura más baja que se registró el jueves, fué de 31 grados, la que es sólo tres grados más elevada, que la que se tuvo la noche anterior que fué la que arruinó las cosechas. Desde 1913, no se había sentido en California un frío tan intenso. En el departamento meteorológico se dice que la temperatura seguirá baja por unos días más.

Una Niña Muere Quemada.

La niña Dorotea Ryan, de diez años de edad, se encontraba acostada ayer junto a un calentador de gas con su hermanito, donde las infelices criaturas hacían lo posible por calentarse. Las llamas del calentador prendieron fuego a las ropitas de la niña, quien en pocos momentos estaba envuelta en las llamas. A los gritos que daba la infortunada criatura, los vecinos acudieron a darle auxilio, pero desgraciadamente ya era tarde pues las ropas se habían consumido y el terrible elemento había causado graves quemaduras a la niña. Una ambulancia fué llamada y el cuerpecito llevado al hospital de la ciudad. En su agonía, la criatura pedía a los doctores que le conservaran la vida hasta que llegara su mamacita, pero todo esfuerzo fué inútil, pues pocos momentos despúes esta almita, pura y blanca como la de todos los niños, volaba al cielo.

another drop, 38 deg. being registered.

AT SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Cold weather with light northerly winds continued to prevail here today, but the absence of the heavy north wind of Wednesday and Thursday was a welcome relief. A minimum temperature of 26 deg. above zero was recorded by the local Weather Bureau.

STOCKTON, Jan. 20.—Lowest temperature recorded here today was 26, from 6 to 9 a.m., when the mercury began to move upward, reaching 64, at 3 p.m. A temperature of 35 was recorded at 8 p.m.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 20.—The thermometer dropped to a new low record for the season here today registering 24 deg. The maximum temperature today was 51 deg.

ZERO IN RENO.

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 20.—Zero weather continued to hold Reno and Western Nevada in its grip today, but Weather Bureau officials have predicted warmer weather for tomorrow. The lowest temperature today was 1 deg. below zero.

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 20.—Indications tonight were that the mercury would not fall to last night's level, when 20 deg. was registered here. Little or no damage was done citrus crops in this vicinity because of their advanced stage.

SEVERE VALENCIA LOSS.

VISALIA, Jan. 20.—The Valencia district has suffered severe loss as a result of the freezing temperatures of the last two mornings, orchardists report. The temperatures were rising here tonight, but smudging was continuing unabated throughout the county.

Practically no damage was reported to the early buds of other citrus trees, although continued cold weather, it was said, may cause loss at any time.

COLD IN PORTERVILLE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 20.—With exception of a drop to 18 deg. on Jan. 7, 1913, last night's temperature of 22 deg. was the coldest ever recorded by the local weather observer. The 24 deg. of the night before was equaled on Dec. 26, 1911.

It is impossible to estimate damage to Valencias, but some of the higher groves which have never known frost before report severe injury. If this continues loss will be heavy.

RATE PLEA FINISHED BY COAL PRODUCERS.

STEEL REPRESENTATIVES TO APPEAR BEFORE INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Coal producers completed their arguments in favor of lower freight rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission today, and gave way to representatives of the steel industry.

Robert Hula, for iron and steel manufacturers in the Chicago district, presented the general conclusion that present freight rates are a burden which has undoubtedly contributed to the existing depression in industry.

Throughout the discussion of coal rates the commission and experts sought facts as to impending wage reductions and possibilities of a strike about April 1. H. W. Prickett, testifying for Wyoming and Utah mine operators, urged a rate reduction of 20 per cent in that territory, and said that the producers had already cut costs and intended to make lower wage scales April 1.

J. D. A. Morrow, vice-president of the national association, was recalled for cross-examination, and questioned as to the possibility of a national coal strike. He replied that he made it his business to know nothing about the labor side of the industry, but added that the operators expected wages to be cut then.

Growers, Shippers, Others to Meet Here Today.

One of the first steps taken by Mr. Dezell was to call upon the horticultural commissioners of Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties to meet with their growers and packers at once and take steps to prevent the shipment of frosted fruit to eastern markets.

"The Sunkist organization has spent much money for advertising to build up its good name and it cannot afford to risk its reputation by permitting damaged fruit to go into the market," said Mr. Dezell. "I am asking co-operation of all associations in holding up picking and packing for at least ten days in order that we may determine what fruit is fit to handle."

RYAN ACTS.

Last night Los Angeles County Horticultural Commissioner Ryan announced that he had called a meeting of all citrus growers, packers and shippers in this county to be held in room D, Normal Hill Center, this city, at 2 p.m. today, to canvass the frost situation and devise ways and means to keep damaged fruit out of the market.

Exchange officials are authority for the statement that a great deal of fruit was saved Thursday night by orchard heating. It was estimated that some of the larger orange and lemon ranches burned from $500 to $1500 worth of fuel oil during the night, and that the Lemoniera ranch at Santa Paula, comprising about 2000 acres of lemons, probably used $15,000 worth of oil.

Yesterday the Santa Fe dispatched two long trains of oil tank cars to the San Gabriel Valley with hundreds of thousands of gallons of fuel oil to supply orchard heaters during the remainder of the cold snap.

REPORT ON LOSS.

Following are bulletins from various districts as reported to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange:

Ontario.

H. E. Hamilton, in charge of frost protective work, stated yesterday that the ranchers who were equipped to heat their groves saved most of the oranges and lemons while those who did but little heating probably lost most of the fruit. The Upland Lemon Growers' Association has called in all of its pickers, to keep damaged fruit from going to market. Lowest temperature, 24 deg.

Whittier.

Heavy damage to lemons was reported yesterday. The oranges, it is said, were not hit hard by frost. The Leffingwell ranch, largest in this section, fired heavily and is thought to have saved virtually all its fruit. Growers who had discarded their orchard heaters or did not have them filled and ready for service suffered heavy loss. In the Rio Hondo district, between Whittier and Montebello, damage to citrus fruit was heavy. Low mark 28 deg.

Riverside.

Packers and growers in Riverside expressed the belief yesterday that the naval orange crop has not been injured noticeably. There are not many lemons there. Young growth showed the effect of the cold. Wind was blowing there last night and the growers were prepared to fire again. Low mark, 28 deg.

San Bernardino.

John P. Coy, horticultural commissioner of San Bernardino county, called a meeting of packers yesterday for 2 p.m. today to discuss a policy regarding the handling of oranges in this district. He estimated the frost damage at 25 per cent for the entire acreage of the county. Low mark was reported to have been 24 deg., but did not remain there long.

Monrovia.

Reports from Monrovia estimated the damage to navel oranges as being 25 per cent and the injury to Valencias 10 per cent as a result of the cold. The low mark was 19 deg.

San Diego.

The mercury touched 26 deg. at 5 a.m. yesterday, which is the lowest there since the winter of 1913. Cold weather was expected last night.

Santa Barbara.

Lemon growers in the Santa Barbara district reported they suffered no frost damage. There was no necessity to fire the orchard heaters, they said, because the temperature did not drop below 29 deg.

Sierra Madre.

At Sierra Madre the cold caused the coils in solar heaters to burst, and thousands of young palm trees in nursery rows were killed, it is believed. The citrus crop was somewhat damaged, although the extent could not be determined yesterday.

Redlands.

Orange growers estimated last night that the low temperature of the previous night destroyed from 40 to 60 per cent of the navel oranges in that district. The growers fired heavily and repeated it last night. The low mark of Thursday night was 20 deg.

San Fernando.

In the immediate vicinity of San Fernando thermometer readings showed 28 deg., but in more exposed parts of the valley the temperature dropped to 22 deg. and fruit exchange officials said last night that undoubtedly the oranges and lemons had been badly damaged.

Santa Ana.

L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit Exchange, stated yesterday that frost damage there was very slight. The Weather Bureau reported the temperature there was 31, but growers said it fell to 27 in isolated spots for a few minutes. The Santa Ana River had thin layers of ice in it yesterday morning.

Pasadena.

Reports from Pasadena were rather uncertain yesterday. From several points it was reported that a low mark of 22 deg. had been recorded, and it was admitted that oranges have been hit quite hard.

Ventura County.

Telephonic reports to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange yesterday were to the effect that lemons in some parts of Ventura county were nipped by frost yesterday morning, but it was said that Lemoniera Ranch, the largest lemon ranch in the world, saved all of its fruit by heavy firing during the night. Several other big lemon ranches in that section also pulled through unscathed, it is reported.

Safe From Frost.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange yesterday was informed that many Southern California citrus districts had entirely escaped frost damage because of the light winds during the night, or because low temperatures did not prevail.

Among the districts in question are Riverside, Alta Loma, Corona, Bloomington, Colton, Arlington, Rialto, Orange, Santa Ana, Anaheim, and all points between Southern Orange county and San Diego. Villa Park and Tustin are said to have been unhurt.

This report is regarded as unusual by local shippers, because the frost of 1913 hit San Diego about as hard as any other section of Southern California, and the Riverside district suffered serious damage at that time.

Covina.

Exchange officials heard from Covina yesterday afternoon that frost damage there would likely amount to 30 per cent of the navel crop, but that the Valencias were not so hard hit. The low mark was 21 deg., which is said to have been about 10 deg. higher than in 1913.

Pomona.

The mercury dropped to 23 deg. at Pomona Thursday night. Ranchers reported to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange that it went as low as 20 at times, and the cold continued for several hours. Exchange officials said R. L. Knox of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange stated that the growers were able to hold the temperature in their groves at about the same point it stood on the coldest night in 1913. It was admitted that growers who held off on firing, expecting the temperature to go up, played in hard luck.

Glendora.

Temperature of 18 deg. was reported. Navel crop is thought to have been seriously hit.

SOME LOW SPOTS.

While temperatures varied in different localities, the following list of low marks from the Weather Bureau report is a safe indication of the thermometer readings at various points:

Los Angeles, 31; Corona, 28; Escondido, 26; La Habra, 25; Mt. Wilson, 15; Pasadena, 22; Redlanda, 20; Rivers.de, 31; Santa Barbara, 29; San Bernardino, 26, Santa Ana, 31; San Fernando, 23; Whittier, 24; Fullerton, 23; Placentia, 24; Pomona, 23.

MANY COMPLAIN.

Gas and water consumers yesterday made a large number of complaints of the service they were receiving, due to the cold weather.

Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Water Works and supply said the water complaints were entirely the result of frozen faucets. The city's water department regulates the water supply only up to the curb lines, and from the Owens River, itself, at the head of the aqueduct, to the point where the water enters to the individual service pipes. Frozen faucets, Mr. Mulholland said, have been a frequent occurence in Los Angeles, particularly during the winters of 1903, 1909, 1913 and 1919. Many water consumers reported that yesterday and Thursday mornings were the first times their faucets had been frozen since 1913.

The gas service situation is handled by the Board of Public Utilities at the City Hall under the direction of Chief Engineer Osborne, who said that the chief complaints of insufficient gas pressure were from consumers in the outlying parts of the city, at the end of supply mains and lines. This lack of pressure, Mr. Osborne said, was due to the enormous burden placed on the companies to supply the increased requirements for heating dwellings.

An Open Letter to the 750,000 Citizens Who Believe in Their Home—Los Angeles
304 Wright-Callender Bldg.
Jan. 21st, 1922
You know Los Angeles is destined to be one of the world's greatest cities! It is inevitable! You have watched real estate values mount—you have seen millions made. Possibly you have shared.
But greater opportunities are NOW.
Tomorrow, Sunday, January 22, we will formally open Main-Moneta-Florence Ave. Square, unquestionably the greatest subdivision in the great southwest. It comprises a 25-acre tract bounded on the south by Florence Avenue, on the east by Main Street and on the west by Moneta Avenue.
For 30 years it has remained vacant while the city's population pressed on all sides. It was held pending the final settlement of an estate.
It is our good fortune to have acquired this coveted land. It is now to be subdivided and sold. It can't last long—it's too good. Undoubtedly it will be gone in 10 days.
See our announcement in this paper tomorrow (Real Estate Section, Page 6) for what we sincerely believe to be the greatest investor's and home builder's opportunity in Los Angeles' history.

WALLACE AFTER BANK SHARKS.

Declares Several Shylocking Hard-up Farmers.

Take Advantage of Crisis of High Rates.

Government is Accused of Ditching Growers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Farm financing came to the front today with the announcement by Secretary Wallace that he would lay before the National Agriculture Conference next week charges that certain companies loaning money on farm mortgages were taking advantage of the present crisis to charge "extortionate interest rates."

TAKE ADVANTAGE.

The Agricultural Department also made public information it had gathered showing that the banks of the United States had outstanding approximately $3,860,891,415 personal and collateral loans to farmers and $1,447,482,926 in farm mortgage loans at the end of 1920.

"In all lines of business," the Secretary declared, "we find predatory individuals who seek opportunities to take advantage of the misfortunes of others. We expect that from men of a certain type, but it is a real shock to note that the same sort of thing is now being done by some insurance companies and farm mortgage loan companies, of whom we have a right to expect a higher code of ethics."

These charges, he added, did not apply to all companies making loans to farmers, for some, he said, were doing the right thing and helping the farmers all they could. Others, however, he asserted, "are taking advantage of the farmer's distress to heartlessly extort a rate of interest and terms of loan which cannot be justified."

FARMERS "DITCHED."

Charles S. Barrett, president of the National Board of Farm Organizations and president of the National Farmers' Union, also issued a statement in which he declared that the government had "ditched" the farmers "because through the Federal Reserve Board and other agencies, it allowed ruinous artificial deflation to bring agriculture to its present deplorable straits."

The successes for the conference, he asserted, would be possible only if a plan is evolved "through which speedy aid will be given the farmers so that they can continue as producers of food and clothing materials for this country and for a large part of the world."

ROOFERS NOW ON OPEN-SHOP BASIS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Organization of Chicago roofers on an open-shop basis has been completed, the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award announced today.

Similar organizations is well under way in the sheet metal industry, it was said. According to the committee's announcement elimination of makework rules and union restrictions upon output has already resulted in a 40 per cent increase in shop efficiency among the roofers.

Members of the Associated Building Contractors' Association of Illinois have indorsed the Landis award, and plan to establish a wholesale market for building material. They declared they believe such a market would do much to reduce the cost of building.

Regulations condemning the existing mechanics lien law and the licensing of journeymen plumbers were also adopted at a meeting of the association at which John C. Woellner was elected president.

GOVERNMENT ASKS APPEAL OF NEW YORK MAN BE DISMISSED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The government filed in the Supreme Court today its reply in one of two cases challenging the constitutionality of the woman suffrage amendment.

The appeal brought by Charles S. Fairchild of New York, from the District of Columbia courts in his effort to compel the Secretary of State to withdraw the proclamation announcing ratification, should be dismissed, the government contends. Withdrawal of the proclamation would have no effect upon the validity of the amendment, which is dependent upon its ratification by the requisite number of States and not upon any action the Secretary of State may take, the government further holds.

MRS. RYAN DIED OF POISON, IS VERDICT.

SERIOUS LESIONS FOUND IN VITAL ORGANS OF FORMER LOS ANGELES GIRL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The death of Mrs. Thomas Stewart Ryan, known as Miss Audrey Creighton, yesterday, was due to poisoning, according to the verdict of the police surgeon, who performed an autopsy today.

Serious lesions were found in the stomach and kidneys and the surgeon removed the vital organs for analysis.

The attorney for Mr. Ryan, who was held by the police a few days ago, after Mrs. Ryan had swallowed poison, today filed a demand for his client's release on bail.

The demand pointed out that Mrs. Ryan never stated that she had been terrorized into swallowing the poison and that no cries of protest were heard.

WILL NAME DEARING ENVOY TO PORTUGAL.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE TO BE NOMINATED IN FEW DAYS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Fred Morris Dearing, assistant Secretary of State, will be nominated by President Harding as American Minister to Portugal within a few days, it was announced today at the White House. No successor to Mr. Dearing as assistant secretary has yet been considered, it was said.

Mr. Dearing entered the service of the Department of State in June, 1904. Among other posts he has served as Secretary of Legations in Havana, Peking, London and Mexico City.

Harley V. Speelman of Marietta, O., was nominated by President Harding today to be Register of the Treasury. Mr. Speelman at present is assistant register.

ALIEN LAND LAW CASE APPEALED.

State Attorney-General to Carry Question of Crops to Supreme Court.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—An appeal against the decision of the United States District Court permitting Japanese to enter into crop contracts with white farmers under the State antialien land law has been filed with the United States Supreme Court, State Attorney Webb announced today.

Webb said that he filed the appeal on the ground that the decision was in direct contravention with the alien land law which, in his opinion, forbids crop as well as crop land contracts between aliens ineligible to citizenship and white farmers in the State.

The original case was that of J. J. O'Brien, a Santa Clara Valley farmer, and J. Inouye, a Japanese farmer, against Webb and Dist.-Atty. Coolidge of Santa Clara county to restrain them from taking action against a proposed contract whereby Inouye would take over O'Brien's crops. District Judges Dooling and Bledsoe and U. S. Circuit Judge Hunt, sitting en banc, heard the argument, and Judge Dooling wrote an opinion upholding the contract.

The case was in the nature of a test action on the contract feature of the alien land law.

GALBRAITH MEMORIAL IS ORDERED BY LEGION.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Construction of a memorial in Cincinnati to the late F. W. Galbraith, Jr., former national commander, was authorized today by the American Legion's executive committee. An appropriation of $25,000 was authorized. The committee also designated October 16 to 20 as the dates for the fourth annual convention at New Orleans.

The first day of the conference was devoted to the discussion of theplight of disabled war veterans and plans for their relief. The United States Veterans' Bureau was criticised by several speakers.

J. F. Lynch of Norfolk, Va., declared the trouble was not so much with the bureau but that the bureau wts left ETAOIN N the bureau was left too much in the hands of Brig.-Gen. Sawyer. President Harding's physician. Gen. Sawyer was characterized by the speakers as a man who had not donned the Army uniform until two years after the armistice was signed.

A resolution was adopted calling on the Federal government to exert all its facilities in behalf of disabled veterans and demanding an immediate settlement of long-pending claims.

Other resolutions adopted authorized Commander Hanford MacNider to appoint an athletic commission to arrange a national system of competition between Legion athletic teams, requested the Navy Department to investigate charges of discrimination against ex-service men in employment at Navy yards and asking the War Department to retain the American cemetery at Bony, France.

BRUTAL MURDERER ESCAPES GALLOWS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—"Big Tom" Catherwood, who strangled to death Mrs. Betty Sharples, who was soon to become a mother, dodged the gallows by pleading guilty to murder today. Judge Fitch gave him a sentence of life imprisonment, over the protests of the State prosecutors, who insisted upon the death penalty.

Catherwood and his wife had been offered a home in the Sharples house until they could find suitable quarters. Catherwood had money, but had been dismissed from his employment because of his idleness and insolence.

Mrs. Sharples had saved up $50 to provide garments for the baby, which was due to arrive Christmas. Catherwood knew of this money and demanded it. She offered to give him part of it, but he demanded all, and when she demurred he strangled her. Some of her hair clung to his coat and by means of this mute testimony, the detectives were enabled to discover the murderer and secure a confession.

COMPANY BUYS POWER FROM BUSINESS RIVAL

THIRTY-YEAR CONTRACT IS SIGNED BY TWO OREGON CONCERNS.

MEDFORD (Or.) Jan. 20.—The California Oregon Power Company headquarters offices here today announced that the company had entered into an interconnection contract to supply power to the Mountain States Power Company for a period of thirty years. The power is to be used throughout the Willamette Valley.

The California-Oregon Power Company will construct a 115-mile high tension transmission line of 110,000-volt construction, which will extend from the Prospect plant of the company, near Medford, through the Rogue River and Umpqua Valleys into the upper Willamette Valley where it will connect with the transmission system of the Mountain States Power Company at Eugene.

TENS of thousands of men and women throughout the United States and Canada, of all ages and in all walks of life, afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse, have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by the use of Tanlac.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomach, coated tongue, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by Tanlac.

That is THE REASON WHY the demand for Tanlac, the powerful Reconstructive Tonic and body builder, has broken all world's records.

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles by The Owl Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

Joint Inquiry Commission Makes Report.

Must Fill Gap Between Long and Short Credits.

Should Adapt Bank Agencies to Farmers' Needs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Criticism of the Federal Reserve Board's policy during the months following the armistice is coupled with recommendations that existing banking agencies be adapted to meet credit requirements of farmers in a report submitted to Congress today by the joint commission of agricultural inquiry.

The report, the second of a series from the commission, deals with banking and financial resources of the country, especially as affecting agricultural interest. It stresses the importance of filling the gap between short and long time credit and concludes that the "present" gap can be "effectively and safely bridged" without establishing any new or untried machinery and without sacrificing any of the fundamental principles on which both the farm loan system and the Federal reserve system must rest.

Reviewing conditions that have confronted farmers since the war, the report declares:

"It is the opinion of the commission that a policy of restriction of loans and discounts by advances in the discount rates of the Federal reserve banks could and should have been adopted early in 1919, notwithstanding the difficulty which the Treasury Department anticipated in floating the Victory loan if such a policy were adopted.

AVOID SPECULATION.

"It is also the opinion of the commission that had this policy been adopted, much of the expansions, speculation and extravagances, which characterized the post-war period could have been avoided.

"The commission also believes that had such a policy been adopted the difficulties, hardships and losses which occurred in 1920-21 as a result of deflation and liquidation would have been diminished.

The report summarizes the commission's recommendations as to better credit facilities for agricultural interests thus:

"The commission believes that the credit problem of the farmer can best be met by adapting existing banking agencies to his credit requirements. In meeting these requirements there is no reason why all banking agencies cannot be used by adapting them to the farmers' requirements. These requirements are for credit of sufficient maturity to make payment possible out of the proceeds of the farm. This means a credit running from six months to three years.

TO REDISCOUNT PAPER.

"The commission proposes to meet these requirements by authorizing ay Federal land bank through a separate department created in it under restrictions, limitations, conditions and regulations adopted by the Farm Loan Board to rediscount paper on which money has been advanced to, or used by the farmer for agricultural purposes, having a maturity of not less than six months or more than three years at rates of discount to be fixed by the Farm Loan Board for any national bank, State bank, trust company, savings institution or live-stock loan company. In addition, the commission deems it desirable to permit the Federal land banks to make loans direct to co-operative associations of farmers organized under State laws for the purpose of marketing staple agricultural products when such loans are secured by warehouse receipts on such products.

"The notes or obligations representing loans or discounts by the Federal land banks are to be converted into short-time debentures and sold to the public as farm loan bonds are sold.

MINORITY OPINION.

"It is proposed that notes be taken or rediscounted by a Federal land bank when such loans have reached a maturity of less than six months. In addition, any Federal reserve bank is authorized to buy and sell the debentures issued by the Farm Loan Board as they now buy and sell farm loan bonds."

A minority opinion by Representative Mills, Republican, New York, was affixed to the report, stating that he concurred with the report with one exception.

"I cannot agree," he said, "with the statement that late in 1920 a change in the policy of the Federal reserve banks in reference to discount rates would have accomplished a reversal in part of the psychological and economical factors which at that time were moving in the direction of lower prices. Such a suggestion is out of harmony with the balance of the report and inconsistent with the facts brought out by our investigation."

NEWSPAPERS WANT WIRE TOLLS CUT.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20. — The California Press Association will ask the Railroad Commission to decrease telegraph rates instead of increasing them. It was announced today by State Treasurer Friend W. Richardson, who is president of the organization. Richardson has already filed a protest with the commission against the application of the Western Union Telegraph Company for an increase and said he would appear tomorrow before the commission with George D. Squires, attorney for the press association, to make another protest.

REDS BUY EIGHT SHIPS IN ENGLAND.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Soviet Russia has purchased eight steamers in Great Britain during the last six months, it was announced tonight by the commerce department. One of the larger steamers, formerly the Ashwin, has been renamed Trotsky.

HOOVER GETS UNDERSHIRT.

Sample Considered for Russ Children Hangs on His Wall.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—An undershirt today decorated the office of the Secretary of Commerce. There it hung neat and new, but quite small.

Inquiry developed that the shirt was a sample under consideration in connection with the American Relief administration's plan for the purchase of 1,000,000 undershirts for Russian children. The sample, it was said, was offered by private manufacturers at 22 cents, while the War Department wants 30 cents a shirt for Army surplus stock.

BRITISH PAPERS ATTACK MORMONS.

EXPULSION OF MISSIONARIES FROM ENGLAND IS DEMANDED.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Expulsion from England of American Mormon missionaries was demanded today by several newspapers which are taking part in a strong anti-Mormon campaign.

The press attack was an outgrowth of the feeling stirred up here by the arrival of missionaries from Utah, the establishment of a mission here, and as a climax, an offer by the Mormons of 200 pounds sterling reward for proof "that one girl at any time was taken from England to Utah for immoral purposes."

The papers actively opposing the Mormons declare themselves against polygamy, and demand the expulsion of Mormons, whose gospel they charge is based upon sex appeal to the youthful. Missionaries here, according to the papers, are persuading English girls to go to Utah.

MYSTERY OF PEARLS IS NOW CLEARED UP.

JEWELS BOUGHT BY RICH DETROIT MAN CAME TO COUNTRY LEGALLY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Three hundred and eighty-nine pearls, the $826,000 necklace sold by Cartier, Inc., Fifth-avenue jewelers to the late Horace E. Dodge, multi-millionaire manufacturer of Detroit, were regularly declared at the United States customs at New York, it was learned here today. Duty was paid, amounting to about $300,000.

This clears entirely the mystery which has surrounded the valuable trinket whose purchase in this country was revealed when Benguiat Brothers, Paris antique dealers, recently brought suit in the Supreme Court here alleging that the necklace had been sold for $1,500,000.

DETROIT, Jan. 20. — Mrs. Horace E. Dodge has been given a clear title to the pearl necklace for which her late husband paid $826,000.

Federal agents have halted their inquiry. It was at the Dodge-Cromwell nuptials that Mrs. Dodge first wore the gems.

SIDESTEPS DECISION ON VALUATION PLAN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Outside of receiving a protest against American valuation from the nation-wide organization of women formed to combat the proposition, Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee continued today to sidestep a final decision of the details of the proposed modified American valuation scheme.

Pending the preparation of written statements by the rival groups of experts who are in disagreement over the question, the committee continued consideration of rates of duty in the chemical schedule.

A brief opposing American valuation was filed by the consumers' committee of women opposed to the American valuation plan. Objections to the American valuation plan are summarized by stating that the avowed purpose is to protect American industry but its actual effect will be to intensify and prolong the existing depression and cripple foreign trade.

RECOMMEND CUT ON RATES FOR LUMBER.

INTERSTATE BODY APPROVES TEN PER CENT REDUCTION IN SOUTH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A cut of approximately 10 per cent on freight rates on hardwood lumber and forest products from producing points in the South to destinations in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio rivers, was recommended today by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a decision in a case instituted last fall by the Southern Hardwood Traffic Association against the Illinois Central and other railroads.

Charles C. McChord, chairman, although concurring in the majority opinion, declared it fell short of substantial justice to shippers.

ORDINARY FEDERAL EXPENSES TUMBLE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Ordinary expenses of the government fell off by nearly $700,000,000 during the first half of the current fiscal year.

During the six months, July 1 to Dec. 31, 1921, ordinary expenses of the government aggregated $1,528,000,000, compared with $2,508,000,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year, while public debt disbursements totaled $3,078,000,000, as against $4,945,000,000 for the first half of the fiscal year of 1920, the Treasury announced today.

Of the ordinary expenses for the first half of the current fiscal year interest on the public debt of $548,000,000 was the largest item, with $271,000,000 for the Navy Department and $144,000,000 for the War Department next in size. Navy Department expenditures were $57,000,000 less than for the corresponding period of the previous year, while the War Department total showed a decrease of $298,000,000.

Redemption of certificates of indebtedness in the amount of $2,570,000,000 was the largest item of public debt disbursement for the first six months of the current fiscal year, compared with $4,758,000,000 a year ago, as against $50,000,000 for the same months in 1920. Liberty bonds retired aggregated $38,000,000, compared with $49,000,000 the corresponding months of the previous year.

FORDNEY VALUATION PLAN IS ATTACKED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The American valuation plan of assessing import duties in the Fordney tariff bill is condemned in a brief filed today with the Senate Finance Committee by a "consumers' committee of women." The committee said it spoke in behalf of the 24,000,000 women citizens whose task it is "to make the pay envelope fill the market basket."

The brief warned Congress that the advantages of the American valuation plan "are manifestly so light and its dangers manifestly so grave that should American valuation be written into law, the party responsible for it must be prepared to make rigid accounting to the mass of the people whose interests they will have willfully betrayed."

RAILROAD SALE CONFIRMED.

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) Jan. 20.—Federal Judge Sanford confirmed today the sale of the Tennessee Central Railroad to C. M. Hovey, manager of the Nashville Industrial Bureau, representing B. F. Morse, Charles N. Boettcher and W. R. Freeman of Denver, for $1,500,000.

BRITAIN EXPORTS COAL TO BOSTON.

BUT FUEL SHIPPED AS BALLAST INSTEAD OF SAND, IS CLAIM.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Reports of coal exports from Great Britain to New York and Boston have aroused considerable interest in coal circles, according to a cable to the Commerce Department today from Trade Commissioner Dye at London.

According to the report he said these shipments were made by using coal instead of sand as ballast for ships going out to the United States to load return cargo. Such shipments, he added, took place occasionally in prewar days whenever coal was approximately the same price on both sides of the Atlantic as it was more convenient to load coal and sell it in New York even at a small loss than to load sand as ballast.

NEW LIQUOR BILL FILED WITH HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A bill under which the internal revenue commissioner would have authority to concentrate liquor stocks into any bonded warehouses he might designate, was introduced today by Representative Green, Iowa.

KNABE AMPICO

The Appeal of Music

The lecture recitals held during "AMPICO WEEK" have brought to thousands a realization that classical music is more than just technique—that it is melodious and appealing.

Mr. Souvaine's message is understood by children as well as by grown-ups, for it is a message translated into that universal language—music.

Trinity Auditorium, at the brilliant recital of Mr. Souvaine and Miss Davies last evening, presented a living picture of the appeal of good music. And when good music finds its way into every home, then and only then will we, as a race, become better and happier.

RUSSIA LOSING HOLD IN EAST.

Success of Turkish Arms Over Greece Cause.

Mussulmans Gain Strength in Caucasus District.

Tiflis is Said to Have Enough of Communist Rule.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BAKU (Azerbaijan, Soviet Republic) Dec. 21.—The success of Turkish Arms against the Greeks is stirring the Mussulman world, and may in time have a far-reaching effect on Russian influence throughout the Caucasus, Turkestan and Persia.

There is a tendency on the part of Moscow, tired of settling interminable disputes, to let these various outlying republics, sovietized by force of circumstances and Red Army greed, to go their own way, temporarily, and certainly the republics have not been slow to reassert their old local power.

HAD BLANKET RULE.

Imperial Russia formerly had a sort of blanket rule, called a viceroyalty, functioning in the Caucasus, consisting of seven provinces and five territories, for a region populated by 12,000,000 persons, three times the size of New England, and three-fourths as large as Texas.

Moscow has lately proposed to revive this old central form of government, in order to eradicate the boundary, commercial and customs disputes among the republics of Azerbaijan, Georgia, Daghestan and Armenia, including lively sideline disputes with Turkey and Persia.

But if there is any union, it may be rather against than for Moscow. Outside of Georgia, if even not there, the Turk and, generally speaking, the Islam influence is stronger than that of Russia.

ISLAM IN SADDLE.

Islam is certainly once more in the saddle at Baku. Even the anarchists refuse to speak the Russian language. Enver Pasha, former Turkish War Minister, who was sentenced to death by a Turkish court-martial for plunging that country into the World War, has been here lately, apparently trying to show that due respect to Moscow should be continued. His plan of campaign is now to hold on for a while longer with Russia. He claims that the British influence can be cleared out of all of Turkey, Persia and the Islamic peoples of Turkestan and India, by working with the Russians. He argues that when Britain has been defeated and Turkey is once more politically independent, Russia can be dealt with, the soviet rule overthrown here and in Turkestan, and the old order re-established.

WORM IS TURNING.

Communism, backed up by the Eleventh Red Army, is still inclined to joy ride in Tiflis, but in Baku the worm is turning. It has had enough of the Cheka and the slaughter of its business men. Andriev, its Minister of Foreign Affairs, is a Communist in name only and Moscow is obeyed in so far as Moscow's mandates suit Baku. Dr. Nariman Narimanov, installed as President of the Azerbaijan Republic by Moscow because of his Communism, is after all a Mussulman and cannot side with strangers against his own people. There are not only bread lines, but oil lines in Baku, the richest oil region of the East.

For these and other reasons, if success crowns, definitely, the long fight of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, in Turkey, the cards will be shuffled anew here and the Caucasus mountains will again become political headliners.

REPORT CHILDREN HAPPY, CONTENTED.

JUDGE FINDS NO REASON FOR OPERATION ON MOTHER IN DENVER.

DENVER, Jan. 20.—Children of Clyde and Gertrude Cassidente are "comfortably clad, happy and contented," an investigating committee reported to Judge Royal R. Graham, in Juvenile Court here today. The committee was appointed in November, last, following a suggestion from a medical student to the court that Mrs. Cassidente, mother of five, should submit to an operation to prevent her from bearing more children. It was contended, the children were not being given the proper care.

In explaining a statement made at the November hearing today, Judge Graham said:

"If I were going to recommend sterilization, I most certainly would not recommend it alone on the wife, but also upon husband and upon each of the offsprings proven to be feeble minded or dangerously defective."

The court ordered the Cassidentes placed on probation.

FARM LOAN BOARD RESOLUTION PASSES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A resolution by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, requiring the Farm Loan Board to report whether farm land banks charge commissions for marketing loans, was adopted today by the Senate.

Senator Smoot said he had a score of complaints and that any practice of charging commissions should be stopped.

CHARGES AGAINST OFFICIAL DROPPED.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Jan. 20.—All indictments against Lieut.-Gov. Sterling in connection with the alleged Small-Sterling-Curtis conspiracy except the same charges of conspiracy which Gov. Small and Vernon Curtis face in Lake county, were nulled, by State's Atty. Mortimer tonight.

The Sterling indictments were pending in the Sangamon County Circuit Court, the lieutenant-governor not having sought change of venue as did Gov. Small and Curtis.

LOS ANGELES LIVING COST SHOWS SLIGHT DECREASE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Figures on the cost of living in twenty-one cities issued today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed declines from June, 1920, to December, 1921, ranging from 12.5 per cent at Los Angeles to 21.6 per cent at Cincinnati, while declines from September, 1921, to December ranged from unchanged at Scranton to 2.9 per cent at St. Louis.

The percentage of decrease by cities from June, 1920, and September, 1921, respectively, to December, 1921, included the following:

Boston, 19.3 and 1.5; Cincinnati, 21.6 and 2.5; Denver, 17.3 and 1.3; Kansas City, Mo., 16.9 and 1.1; Los Angeles, 12.5 and 2-10; Portland, Or., 21 and 1.4; San Francisco and Oakland, 16.5 and 6-10; Seattle, 13.5 and 2.3.

Increases in prices in eleven cities on six groups of items, including food, clothing, housing, fuel and light, furniture and furnishings and miscellaneous, between December, 1914, and December, 1921, were listed as follows:

Boston, 70.2 per cent; Los Angeles, 76.4; Portland, Or., 58.3; San Francisco and Oakland, 63.6, and Seattle, 71.5.

MAIL LOADED INTO BANDIT-PROOF CARS.

RAILROAD'S DECISION IS TO SAVE BOTH LETTERS AND TRANSIT TIME.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Chicago mail tonight was loaded for the first time into new, bandit-proof container cars introduced by the New York Central Lines for economic, swift and safe transportation of freight, express and mail matter in less than carload lots. The cars were developed by the road.

The containers, each with a capacity of 436 cubic feet, were locked at the postoffice. Then they were taken to the station on motor trucks; lifted by cranes and then lowered into grooves of the container cars.

Loaded, the cars looked like a solid block of steel safes, with protecting steel ends and sides equipped with a device which makes it impossible to open the container doors while in transit.

Officials said time saved in the container method would enable postoffice authorities to deliver mail for the northwest several hours earlier than heretofore.

TELLS OF HANGING NEGROES IN FRANCE.

PICKED OUT BY GIRL FROM CAMP HOUSING 20,000 MEN, SAYS WITNESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Testimony was given before a Senate investigation committee today by L. C. Mason, of Davenport, Ia., who served overseas with the Twenty-eighth Engineers, that two negro soldiers hanged near St. Nazaire, France, in August, 1918, for assaulting a French girl, had been picked out by the girl as her assailants from a camp housing 20,000 men.

Mason gave it is as opinion that the men had not received a fair trial, explaining that the girl apparently had not known whether her assailants were white or black, as she first was taken through a camp containing white men.

Asked as to the general reputation of the girl, Mason testified that she was generally known as a "loose woman."

LETS DOWN BARS FOR DRUGLESS HEALERS.

NEED ONLY SHOW EVIDENCE OF EDUCATIONAL AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—In an announcement issued today, the State Board of Medical Examiners expressed its readiness to admit to examination for drugless certificates any applicant who can show evidence of certain educational and statutory requirements.

According to Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, secretary an dexecutive officer of the board, the new policy, which was inaugurated on the strength of recommendations made by an investigation committee, not only admits of liberal treatment of chiropractors and students of other drugless schools, but facilitates the procedure under which they may take the examination and be duly licensed to practice their profession.

MINIMUM CAR WEIGHTS HEARING IS STARTED.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE BODY EXAMINER LISTENS TO LUMBER MEN.

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 20.—Hearing of testimony began here today before P. F. Gault, examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the case of the Portland Traffic and Transportation Association on behalf of lumber producers against the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, and connecting lines.

The complaint attacked the relationship of minimum car weights of redwood tanks and silos transported from California to eastern markets, compared with the minimum applicable to similar products shipped from Oregon and Washington. Regardless of size of cars, the California minimum is 30,000 pounds, whereas, in these two fir lumber States the minimum ranges from 40,000 to 50,000, according to size of cars.

LEGION ACTING FOR DISABLED VETERANS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Resolutions calling on the government for the prompt, honest and efficient functioning of all agencies affecting the welfare of disabled comrades, were adopted at the opening of the American Legion conference.

Establishment of a Legion organization to co-operate with the Veterans' Bureau was suggested by Albert A. Sprague, chairman of the Legion rehabilitation commission.

REALTORS DISCUSS BUSINESS PROBLEMS.

"BREAKFAST CONFERENCES" ARE ATTENDED BY OFFICIALS OF STATE BODY.

OAKLAND, Jan. 20.—The delegates attending the seventeenth annual convention of the California Real Estate Association, now in progress here, concentrated their activities today on discussion of business problems. The convention is to close tomorrow. More than 1000 delegates are attending.

The day's activities began at 8 o'clock in the morning with "breakfast conferences" held in the hotel quarters of the convention. One was attended by real estate board presidents from every section of the State; the other was attended by State real estate board secretaries. The conference of board presidents was led by C. C. Tatum, Los Angeles, first vice-president of the State organization. The topic discussed was "Making Real Estate Boards Valuable."

The conference of secretaries was headed by John C. Wallace, Santa Ana. The principal speakers were Tom S. Ingersoll, secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and R. Porter Giles, Oakland, who spoke on "Real Estate Publicity: How to Get It."

Among today's speakers were: Col. Bert Coldwell, San Francisco, president of the San Francisco Real Estate Board; Charles A. Whitmore, of the California State Highway Commission; Guy W. Wolf, manager of the research department of the State association; Harry Culver, member of the Realty Board of Los Angeles; Chris R. Jones, president of the Sacramento realtors' board; John G. Mulholland of the Long Beach Realty Board; Dr. Stuart Daggett, University of California; Friend W. Richardson, State Treasurer, and State Senator M. B. Harris.

SETTLES HOUSE FIGHT ON WATERWAY REPORT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Speaker Gillett decided today to refer the Joint International Commission's report favoring the Great Lakes-to-the-Atlantic deep waterway to the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Four committees sought jurisdiction over the report. The others were the Foreign Affairs Committee, the Rivers and Harbors Committee and the Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Gillett decided that the consideration of the report came most logically within the jurisdiction of the committee selected.

The Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee is generally regarded as friendly to the project, Chairman Dempsey of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, an avowed foe of the St. Lawrence project, is threatening to carry the fight to the floor in an effort to upset Mr. Gillett's decision.

FORD PLANT OFFER IN CONTRACT FORM.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The offer made by Henry Ford for lease and purchase of the Muscle Shoals (Ala.) power and nitrate plants, has been practically embodied in contract form, and the complete contract is expected to be sent to the Detroit manufacturer for signature within twenty-four hours, it was announced today by Secretary Weeks.

Should Mr. Ford sign the contract, as he is expected to do, it will be sent to Congress as the Ford offer without comment by Mr. Weeks, who has declared he is without authority to either accept or reject the offer.

BUTLER'S STATEMENT ON EDUCATION DENIED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The Public Education Association issued a statement today denying the recent statement of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, that a Federal department would tend to "bureaucratize" education.

The Towner-Sterling bill, said the statement, would not remove education from State control.

Lowers Trans-Pacific Record.

SEATTLE, Jan. 20.—In spite of stormy weather encountered for four days off the Japanese coast, the Admiral Line steamship Silver State arrived here last night after cutting one hour and eight minutes from her own record for time across the Pacific. The last trip was made in nine days, eighteen hour and thirty-four minutes from Yokohama to Victoria.

PROMOTER BEFORE COURT.

OAKLAND, Jan. 20.—George Graham Rice, mining promoter, was arraigned today before Police Judge Smith on a charge of violating the State Securities Act. The preliminary examination was set for January 30.

FEDERAL BERTH GIVEN STUART.

Phoenix Man to be Arizona's Revenue Collector.

Senate to Get Nomination Probably Today.

Appointee State's Original Harding Man.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Frank R. Stuart of Phoenix, is to be the new collector of internal revenue for Arizona. His appointment will formally be sent to the Senate tomorrow or Saturday. It is expected that he will speedily be confirmed and enter upon the duties of his office immediately afterwards.

He was presented to President Harding today by Senator Cameron who urged his appointment at once. This is the first of the Arizona Federal appointments and perhaps will mean that all Federal posts will soon be filled. The deadlock on patronage in that State now appears to be broken and the full slate is likely to be named in a few days.

Stuart was the original Harding man in Arizona and led the fight for the Ohioan not only in the pre-convention campaign, but was the leader in the fight preliminary to the election. He led the ticket for elector and brought the electoral vote of his State to Washington last year.

Stuart is now in Washington to see Secretary Fall in behalf of the water users of Arizona to secure an extension of reclamation installment payments because of flood damage and unsalable cotton still in the hands of the growers.

Secretary Fall recently granted an extension of two years for these payments but Chief Engineer Davis of the Reclamation Service has made such strenuous protests that the matter has again been brought before the Secretary for review.

Stuart has been advised of his appointment and expects to return to Arizona as soon as the water matter is disposed of. Stuart has been active in Republican politics in Arizona for many years and is well-known in political circles in California and the Southwest.

YOUTH CAUGHT HERE MURDERS DETECTIVE.

CHICAGO OFFICER ALSO KILLS HIS SLAYER IN BRISK GUN FIGHT.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A detective sergeant and a bandit today shot each other to death in a pistol fight which police believe was an outgrowth of the more than half a dozen murders that took place last summer in the Nineteenth Ward as a result of a political feud.

Detective Sergeant Charles Paldina was shot to death by one of the five men in a saloon he was entering. He returned the fire. His assailant's body was found outside the building with three bullet holes in the back. The bandit was identified as a man named Newman, who had been trailed by detectives seeking evidence in the Nineteenth Ward murders.

Newman was only 18 years old and was wanted by the police on a bond-forfeiture charge as well as in connection with the bank robbery. He was arrested in Los Angeles February 12 at the request of local police in connection with the robbery of a jewelry store here. After being brought back and released on bond, he disappeared.

ORPHANED INDIAN CHILDREN STARVING.

MANY LIVING PRINCIPALLY ON HERBS, STATE BOARD OF CONTROL IS TOLD.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Numerous orphaned Indian children of Amador county are in a grave plight and many of them are subsisting principally on herbs, Rev. W. A. Stevens of Ione told the State Board of Control today in presenting a request that the State go to the aid of the children. Rev. Mr. Stevens declared the children had had no home since the burning of the government school at Greenville recently.

Conditions are particularly bad in the Jackson Valley country, Rev. Stevens declared. He said homeless children affected range in age from about 6 to 12 years.

Members of the board of control promised to investigate the matter and render what assistance the state legally could. Chairman Gilbert B. Daniels of the board a few days ago telegraphed Representative Raker at Washington regarding the children's plight.

OBREGON TO HAVE AN OPERATION HERE.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Jan. 20. President Obregon of Mexico will come to the United States shortly to undergo an operation at a hospital at Rochester, Minn., according to a report received here today from Mexico City.

The report here is that the operation is to be performed on President Obregon's right arm, in which he was wounded at the battle of Trinidad, necessitating amputation above the elbow. Due to the rough surgery in the field, the arm never has healed properly, and the operation contemplated has now become imperative, according to reports here.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH REPORT IS GLOWING.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—An increase of $10,481,000 in contributions to Episcopal churches in the United States during 1921 was reported today at the New York office of the National Council.

Total contributions were $34,673,000. The number of communicants was increased to 1,104,030, a gain of 7134.

JAPAN HALTS PACT ON CHINA.

versations were near a conclusion and that if they failed, there seemed to be no hope to bring the question before the conference proper.

On the naval side the situation continued unchanged, with Japan still withholding assent to the article dealing with Pacific fortifications. It developed, however, that the hitch was over inclusion of the Japanese islands of the Bonin group under the fortification "status quo" and that a difference of view on the question had arisen between the Japanese delegate and their home government.

Discussion of the treaty publication resolution in the Far Eastern committee centered about the proposal to include in the published list of committments the various commercial agreements entered into between Chinese authorities and private individuals abroad. Since the foreign governments are not themselves parties to these understandings, the Japanese suggested it would be difficult to make a complete compilation of them. It said, however, that no open opposition to the resolution came to the surface and American spokesmen predicted tonight it would be adopted.

HUGHES RESOLUTION.

As presented by Secretary Hughes the resolution provided that all the powers file with the conference Secretary-General all commitments regarding China to which they are parties or of which they have knowledge and that thereafter when a new treaty or agreement was made it must be filed and published within sixty days after its consummation. In its application to commercial agreements the stipulation would cover all concessions involving an obligation of more than $1,000,000 silver of which constitutes a lien on the Chinese treasury.

Several questions relating to the language of the proposal were raised by the Japanese, whose spokesman, Baron Shidehara, stressed the difficulties that might arise in practical application of the plan. He expressed a doubt whether his government had authority to force its nationals to make available to the Japanese Foreign Office the text of all their engagements abroad. It must be understood, he declared, that inasmuch as it was difficult to translate exactly Japanese phrases into English, his government did not propose to be bound by translations of treaties which might be made for the use of the Secretary-General.

REFERRED TO TOKIO.

It was indicated by the Japanese group that they did not desire to take final action until they had heard in more definite terms from Tokio and the committee adjourned with the understading that the discussion would probably be resumed tomorrow.

The Chinese troops resolution framed originally by the tariff subcommittee, was presented to the committee as a part of the program of rebuilding Chinese finances. Sir Robert Borden of the British delegation, spoke at length in favor of its adoption.

A large percentage of the troops now under arms in China are maintained by various provincial authorities, it was said by the Chinese delegation, but every possible step was promised toward execution of the purposes of the resolution.

FUTURE CONFERENCE.

The decision of the draft subcommittee for a future conference to discuss rules of warfare was reached after a canvass of sentiment among delegates. The proposal is said to have come from American sources.

The resolution contemplates selection of two representatives of each of the five great powers represented in this conference. These ten delegates would be empowered to extend invitations to other powers to participate.

As adopted by the Far Eastern committee, the Chinese troop resolution follows:

TROOPS RESOLUTION.

"Whereas the powers attending this conference have been deeply impressed with the severe drain on the public revenue of China through the maintenance of various parts of the country of military forces, excessive in number and controlled by the military chiefs of the provinces without co-ordination;

"And, whereas, the continued maintenance of these forces appears to be mainly responsible for China's present unsettled political conditions;

"And, whereas, it is felt that large and prompt reductions of these forces would not only advance the cause of China's political unity and economic development, but will hasten her financial rehabilitation;

"Therefore, without any intention to interfere in the internal problems of China, but animated by the sincere desire to see China develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable government alike in her own interest and in the general interest in all trade:

"And being inspired by the spirit of this conference whose aim is to reduce through the limitation of armament the enormous disbursements which manifestly constitute the greater part of the encumbrance upon enterprise and national prosperity;

"It is resolved: That this conference express to China the earnest hope that immediate and effective steps may be taken by the Chinese government to reduce the aforesaid military forces and expenditures."

TO GATHER TREATIES ALL IN ONE VOLUME.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The drafting committee of the Washington conference is considering the proposition emanating from Italian sources to gather in one volume, and under one general enabling act, all treaties which will represent the work of the conference.

FALLING TREE KILLS YOUTH.

EUGENE (Or.) Jan. 20.—Lawrence Young, 20 years old, son of Mrs. Mary Anderson of Eugene, was killed almost instantly when a portion of a tree fell on him in a logging camp of the Coast Range Lumber Company near Mabel, Or., today.

WILL UPBUILD PACIFIC PORTS.

Shipping Pool Indorsed at Bay City Meeting.

Government Aid Needed, but No Subsidy.

Honolulu and Pacific ports, but will give service between the Philippines and America.

It will expect that the competition of government-owned ships so far as trans-Pacific service is concerned, between any ports of the United States and the Orient, including the Philippines, shall cease when this new company begins operations whether the government-owned ships are combination freight and passenger ships or freight ships only.

The new company will serve between Pacific ports and Honolulu on trans-Pacific voyages, but this service will be incidental to the trans-Pacific service.

It will not attempt to purchase or consolidate with any company giving a Pacific coastwise service or a domestic service through the Panama Canal. It will discuss with all American companies having trans-Pacific service the desirability of acquiring their trans-Pacific interests, and if conditions are found favorable, enter into negotiations to that end. It will endeavor to work in harmony with American companies that may continue to give a trans-Pacific service.

RECOGNIZE NEED OF PORTS.

It will be the policy of the company to give the service where the business exists, and it will co-operate with every port that can in any manner demonstrate that such business exists or can be created in reasonable time. The venture cannot be successful, except as it operates under common-sense business rules, but it will recognize the needs of all Pacific ports and endeavor to fill these needs.

It is not the intention to invade such fields as are now adequately served by other American private enterprise. The company is to have certain co-operation from the United States government, based upon the natural need for maintaining a strong mercantile marine company in trans-Pacific service and this co-operation is not to be used to drive private enterprise standing on its own feet out of business.

OFFER STOCK TO PUBLIC.

The company will be incorporated with common stock of 300,000 shares of $100 par value each, or greater number with par value of $25 each, of which $5,000,000 is to be subscribed and paid in as the government may require or as the management may call for it. The $5,000,000 will be underwritten by Pacific Coast interests. When the company is in actual operation and success reasonably assured, one-third at least of all stock issued will be offered to the public for subscription in lots of ten shares and upward, in all Pacific Coast States on the basis of cost to the original subscribers, plus interest on amounts actually paid in, it being the intent that the orignal subscribers and the later shareholders shall all be on the same basis with respect to cost of stock.

ARRANGE FOR PAYMENT.

The government will be expected to sell the necessary ships, from ten to twenty in number, of the 535 and 502 classes, and possibly some of the larger freighters, at prices that will be reasonable in the circumstances. Terms of payment shall be 10 per cent down, balance payable annually in periods of not less than ten years and fifteen if possible, deferred interest to be either 2 per cent or 2½ per cent per annum, the government to maintain insurance on a basis of cost not exceeding 1 per cent per annum, providing for total and partial losses. In the sale of boats there is to be included everything now on board needful in operations. Wherever possible possession is to be taken of these ships at Pacific Coast ports by purchaser.

The government is expected to make a long-time contract, for not less than ten years, fifteen if possible, for carrying all mail between Pacific Coast ports and the Orient on a basis which will yield a minimum of $200,000 annually for each vessel engaged regularly in this service, the company, of course, to have the privilege of substituting one vessel for another without impairing its contract.

GET TRANSPORT BUSINESS.

The government is expected to make a contract with the company for transporting all passengers and supplies heretofore carried by the transport service, under such rates of pay as will be adequate and will be comparable with costs to the government in maintaining the transport service heretofore.

All government business of whatever nature moving between trans-Pacific ports shall be given to this company except as some emergency exists or the company is unable to render the service. All terminal facilities, including drydocks, wharves, etc., of government ownership that may be useful to the company shall be under terms fixed by contract, available to the company as its needs may develop.

The government will in every way, through its commercial branches, co-operate with the company in developing and expanding commerce and its consular service will be specifically advised with respect to the necessity for and the extent of such co-operation.

The Philippines shall be placed under the coastwise laws in accord with the power given the President, thus giving to American shipping the exclusive transportation between the Philippines and United States ports.

DELEGATES WELCOMED.

The afternoon session of the conference got under way shortly after 2 o'clock and the delegates were formally welcomed by Wallace M. Alexander, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, who presided.

"I have called you together," said Mr. Alexander, "as patriotic citizens desiring to solve the difficulties of your government and at the same time to restore the former status of our country's shipping.

"The time is not inauspicious. Foreign trade is at low ebb and upon the settlement of the Washington conference I am hoping for a renewal of foreign commerce. I might say I anticipate that the seaport cities of the Pacific Coast will send a joint commission to the Orient to stimulate trade.

"Our government desires to go out of the shipping business, and sell its steamers to a private corporation sufficiently strong to operate a trans-Pacific line.

"It is needless to say that the matter must be treated from a business standpoint as well as from a patriotic standpoint; in other words, the price and conditions under which the vessels are to be purchased must be arranged satisfactorily from the standpoint of a profitable investment as well as from a patriotic consideration."

OUTLINES PLAN.

Herbert Fleishhacker of the Anglo-London and Paris National Bank, who was called to Washington in December to confer with Chairman Lasker and other Shipping Board officials over the matter of operation of Shipping Board vessels under private ownership in the Pacific, outlined to the delegates the general plan of taking over government ships and operating them from Pacific Coast ports.

At the Washington conference, he said, the thought was brought out that a popularly owned company be formed by the citizens of the Pacific States to take over such boats as may be essential to render the ports of Washington, Oregon and California such service as may be necessary to handle successfully all traffic in competition with ships operating under foreign flags and to provide adequate service for the development of commerce under American control.

"It is suggested as a means of arriving at the result that the government entirely discontinue the operation of ships on the Pacific; that its ships be sold at such price and upon such terms as will insure success to the proposed corporation; that no further allocations or sales be made of any now owned government combination passenger and freight ships in competition with the new corporation to be formed to handle trans-Pacific business, and that no further sales beyond the boats that may be purchased at this time be made without giving this corporation preference in obtaining them," Mr. Fleishhacker said in addressing the delegates.

MESSAGE FROM LASKER.

A telegram from Chairman A. D. Lasker of the United States Shipping Board, outlining the board's position and expressing hope that the Pacific Coast ports would co-operate in the development of shipping, was received today by Mr. Fleishhacker. It said:

"Please convey to all those who are joining with you in conference my deep appreciation of the interest they are taking in the matter under discussion and my very earnest hops that out of the conference may come such a result as will bring about the concerted effort of the entire West Pacific Coast co-operatively to develop each port with the strength of united effort.

"The general plan for such a company organized along the lines of my former telegram to the various chambers of commerce interested has the warm approval of the board. President Harding is fully informed of and approves the tentative plan. The Shipping Board has no idea of favoring one port as against another and hopes that each port will, on considering the matter from the standpoint of its own interest and its own advancement, see its way clear to use the united assets of all to develop each in the interest of the whole.

"The board feels obliged to offer its ships for sale, inasmuch as it desires at the earliest practicable moment consistent with its duties as mandated by the Merchant Marine Act to get out of operation. It seems to the board that a company in which all Pacific ports are interested can alone offer the strong front America needs to protect its interests in the Pacific."

DELEGATES PRESENT.

Seattle—H. F. Alexander, George B. Lamping, Gordon C. Corbaley, William Piggott, James Haight, J. H. Fox, M. Thompson, George H. Lent.

RELIGIOUS LEADER DIES AT SANTA ANA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SANTA ANA, Jan. 20.—A petition to probate the will of Walter L. Thales, founder of a religious section in Placentia thirty years ago was heard in the Superior Court of Orange county today.
William Wiederhold, Sr., 76 years old, was the petitioner for probate of the will and for the termination of the life estate. The estate is estimated at approximately $20,000, consisting mostly of Anaheim Union Water Company stock. The deceased left no heirs, according to the petition.
Mr. Thales came to Placentia thirty years ago and founded a "community." Those connected with the society were spiritualists and vegetarians. It is said, and they did not believe in shaking hands or speaking with anyone outside their cult. They cultivated their own crops, and gained the reputation of growing the best vegetables in the State.
Seven members of the cult remain, and it is understood that they persist in keeping to themselves and will not allow people to come onto their private grounds. Mr. Thales, long recognized as the leader and founder of the cult, died December 24.

STECHHAN DIES AT PASADENA.

Was Originator of Manual Training System.

Worked for Years to Place It in Schools.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
PASADENA, Jan. 20.—Otto Stechhan, said to be the father of manual training in the public schools of the United States, and for many years prominent furniture manufacturer and publicist in Indianapolis, died early today at the home of his son, H. O. Stechhan, manager of the Pasadena Community Playhouse Association, 264 East Orange Grove avenue. He was 71 years old. He came here about a year ago from Indianapolis to make his home with his son. His wife also was here with him. Mr. Stechhan devoted many years of his life to the furtherance of popular education. For years he advocated introduction of what came to be known as "manual training" in the public schools.
He was finally elected to the Indiana Legislature on this platform and succeeded in securing passage of legislation which permitted this training in the schools. His own city of Indianapolis was said to be the first to adopt it.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED.
Having under arrest three burglary and hold-up suspects who have confessed, the police also arrested E. T. Moore, a former member of their own department, and business partner of Fred A. Grace, on a charge of receiving stolen goods.
James C. Norton, Joseph N. Cooling and Carl F. Dillman, arrested as burglars and hold-ups, have made signed confessions to the police, it was announced by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley. The men were caught by Detective Sergeants Charles Betts and Robert O'Rourke of the local department.
The three young men are said to have confessed to a series of hold-ups, a number of them being highway robberies of women pedestrians, and the burglary of stores and houses.
In their confessions they implicated Moore, who forthwith was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property. One of the prisoners said that their hold-ups were staged with the ex-policeman's revolver for the artillery. Moore denies the charges.
Moore and Fred A. Grace were business associates in a trucking concern until Grace's arrest in the Citizens' Bank robbery case. Moore was not connected with that case.

TO ERECT BUILDING.
A special three-story building for educational and social welfare work in the community will be erected by the Pasadena Presbyterian Church in the rear of the church property at Colorado street and Madison avenue, it was announced today. The building will cost $150,000 and work on it is to start in the near future. Plans are now being drawn. The building will be Gothic.
Rev. Milton L. Haney, for seventy-six years a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and one of the veteran clergy of the denomination, died here today, aged 97 years, at his home, 117 Glorietta street. One son, Conrad Haney of this city, survives him. He came here fifteen years ago. Most of his ministry was in Illinois. He was a veteran of the Civil War and a member of the G.A.R. The funeral services will be held at the First Methodist Church Monday at 2:30 p.m.

HOTEL OPEN AGAIN AFTER RENOVATION.

The Baltimore Hotel at Fifth and Los Angeles streets has been thoroughly renovated and today reopens under the management of Ed J. Seymour and Henry C. Kline.
Mr. Seymour has operated hotels in St. Paul and Minneapolis for fourteen years, at one time having fifteen hotels in his charge.
One hundred thousand dollars has been spent in refinishing the Baltimore. It boasts of a power plant which furnishes heat and light to four hotels and fifteen store buildings in addition to the 250 rooms in that hotel.
The twenty-five-year lease transfer calls for a yearly rental of $40,000. The management contemplates the erection in the near future of a 1000-room hotel with the idea of charging a flat rate of $1 per day.

BOY KILLED BY FALL.

Youngster Plunges Through Rafters in New House.

Falling through the rafters on the second floor of a newly constructed house at Washington street and Arlington avenue early last night, Lynn Sherman, aged 12 years, son of Edward F. Sherman of 1671 Arlington avenue, was instantly killed.
The body of the boy was found by the father and a friend, who had gone in search of the boy after he had been missing from home for several hours. According to police officers of the Wilshire division the boy had evidently been playing when he met with the accident. The Coroner was notified who ordered the body removed to the Garrett & Co. undertaking establishment. Later the family of the boy wished the body sent to the undertaking establishment of Edwards, Gamash & Heath.

Fitzsimmons was re-elected senior warden; Frank Jackson, junior warden, E. M. Cope, clerk and T. H. Doag, treasurer. Other vestrymen are Ben Hodge, Jackson Rigby, H. R. Garvin, J. J. Pendergast and L. L. Moore.

HOUSE PLANS CUTTING BEE.

Will Finish What Arms Meet Should Leave.

Both Army and Navy in for Close Shaving.

Denby Not in Harmony With Present Plans.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—What the Conference for Disarmament has failed to do as respects carrying out the Hughes warship scrapping program. Congress, by virtue of its power over appropriations, is now preparing to do. The scrapping will not stop with the Navy. The Army is due for another big reduction in the fiscal year beginning next July.
The naval appropriation bill will not come up for consideration until after the Armament Conference has made its final report.

ARMY, NAVY, CUTS.
Members of the subcommittee on naval appropriations of the House are, however, preparing for the cutting. Chairman Kelley has declared his belief that $200,000,000, less than half the $410,000,000 allowed for this year, will represent the total of naval appropriations for 1922-1923.
Chairman Anthony and his committee on Army appropriations are already at work. They have sounded out the sentiment of the House and they are going on the theory that a reduction of the present Army is inevitable. The Army last year was reduced to 150,000. Mr. Anthony declared that 125,000 is the maximum which the House can be induced to approve this year and he would not be surprised if it were voted to fix the total at 100,000.

OBSOLETE MUST GO.
Chairman Kelley is not yet ready to estimate as to the personal requirements of the Navy. The most he will say is that there must be a big cut from the present authorized enlisted personnel of 143,000.
The job to which the chairman has set himself is to put out of commission everything except the first-class fighting ships which would be used in time of war. He declares that there are a vast number of old and obsolete vessels, entirely useless in event of war, eating up appropriations.
This year's naval appropriation bill carried in round figures $410,000,000, of which $90,000,000 was for new construction and $320,000,000 for maintenance. In addition to the $110,000,000 which Mr. Kelley declares can be saved from the latter figure he is counting on elimination of the entire construction allowance for this year.

There is approximately $50,000,000 unexpended of the current construction fund, now tied up awaiting the end of the armament conference. This $50,000,000 Mr. Kelley says will be sufficient to complete the battleships Colorado and Washington, which are included in the armament allowance, to provide for the first year's work in conversion of two of the battle cruisers now building, into airplane carriers, and to complete construction of the more necessary smaller vessels.
This radical program of naval reduction is far from according with the plans of Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, who has asked for an appropriation practically equal to that of the current year.

WELL-KNOWN BANKER IS STRUCK BY BUS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National Bank, was run down and seriously hurt shortly after noon today by a Fifth-avenue bus at Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street. His nose and one of his legs were badly bruised.
Persons who saw the accident said that Mr. Hepburn walked into the side of the bus and was struck by the rear wheel. An ambulance was summoned from the New York Hospital, but M. W. Poor, vice-president of the Garfield Trust Company, took Mr. Hepburn to his home at 630 Park avenue.
Mr. Hepburn had just made a visit to one of the branches of his bank, on Twenty-third street. He is one of the best known bankers in the United States, and the accident alarmed friends, because of his advanced age.

FLAMES TAKE LIFE OF CHILD.

Clothing of Dorothy Ryan Ignited by Heater.

Dies in Hospital While Mother Seeks Work.

Three Other Persons Are Hurt in Fires.

A widowed mother searched for work yesterday that she might support her four fatherless children while the youngest was dying from burns, at the Receiving Hospital.
The mother, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Ryan, 1563 West Avenue 47, left her three younger children in the care of the eldest daughter, Miriam Ryan, 15 years old. The younger children, Dorothy, age 6; Richard, 7, and Florence, 9, huddled around a gas heater to keep warm.
The flames from the heater ignited the clothing of Dorothy. The child screamed, neighbors rushed in, but her clothing had been completely burned from her body. At the Receiving Hospital, though physicians stated the child could not live, she was conscious and pleaded for the doctors to keep her alive until the arrival of her mother.
Mrs. Ryan found no work. She reached the hospital a short time before the child died.
The lure of a gas heater during the cold morning hours also claimed three other victims. Vicsella Ingraham, 12 years old, like Dorothy Ryan, ventured too near a gas heater. Her clothing caught fire and while attempting to extinguish the blaze the girl's mother, Mrs. Rose Ingraham, and Edward Richards were also severely burned. The girl probably will die from first, second and third degree burns on her body. The mother was burned on her face and hands. The child was later taken to the French Hospital. Mrs. Ingraham and her daughter reside at 2533 Fairmont street.

FERRIS AGAIN HEADS YELLOW CAB COMPANY.

When the directors of the Yellow Taxicab Company held their annual election of officers last night Dick Ferris was chosen for the third consecutive year as president. P. M. "Indeed, you may admire my new rag rug, for it was made for me by the Hoffman Rug Co. and delivered just in time to be an additional Christmas gift." If you want some really beautiful fluff rugs as well phone these same people—West 2690. Their work is most satisfactory.

In the role of "practical dishwasher" Mrs. Housewife donned an apron one day this week past and thoroughly tested the 3-Minute Dishwasher which you may have seen indorsed in Good Housekeeping. The result was more than gratifying for she found it wasn't necessary to put the hands in the water at all. You see the scraped china is placed in a wicker basket in the sink. The dish washer is attached to the hot water faucet and instantly soapy water removes all grease or bits of food which might adhere, whereupon the soap cup is slipped out and scalding clear water finishes the rinsing. Don't fail to visit the Household Appliance Co., 731 W. 8th, and have one of these inexpensive dishwashers sent to your home for a week's trial.

Bright colored cotton nets for use right over the window are good and can be fashioned into very effective curtains. There are many different meshes, ranging from one that is almost lacelike to one big one of the fishnet variety.

In those riotously happy days of your first housekeeping you made yourself a million times more trouble by spending endless hours in the kitchen making such things as cottage cheese, we'll say. If only you had realized then that the L. A. Creamery had anticipated the little time housewives have and for their convenience were making and putting up the cunningest little waxed container filled with the most superpalatable cheese to be found any place. On Sunday last friends called at a prominent clubwoman's home, declaring they were starving and, oh, how thankful she was for that luscious L. A. cottage cheese which was whisked from the ice box in a jiffy spread on hot toast with apricot jam and served to very appreciative guests who said L. A. cheese had certainly answered a call for help nobly. Almost every grocer you will find carries this L. A. dairy cheese.

To keep starch from sticking add a drop or two or kerosene or a little lard to a small basin of starch, let come to a boil.

Your exuberant little supper party or luxurious lazy breakfast, even castle building around the fireside calls for a delectable hot chocolate which means that you are thinking of McDonald's Roof Garden Chocolate. It comes sweetened, and in powder form as well as in cakes. There are no end of the uses to which you may put it. Dip your nuts in, for a confection, or if you have some plain crackers pour McDonald's Chocolate (melted) over them and you have a sweet absolutely out of the ordinary.

Ill household plants are better for an occasional spraying.

There's no discounting the value of good looks. Those appetizing mounds of crisp salads topped by Jevne's golden mayonnaise both tempt the eye and add charm to any meal. And the nice part is they need no fuss or long preparation, for with a jar of Jevne's Mayonnaise on hand the making of a tempting salad requires but a few moments. With Jevne's Mayonnaise as a foundation one can just as quickly make sauce-tartare for fish or thousand island dressing for other salads.

When you know there is something which will make your work in the house easier aren't you eager to try it? Boberick's Genuine Cloudy Ammonia will turn the trick for it does more kinds of work better than any fluid of the sort procurable today. There are cheaper ammonias—true, but they are not of the excellent quality of Bobrick's. Housecleaning time is near, and for that this cloudy ammonia is splendid. Your grocer will be able to send it to you.

The recommendation of a friend concerning White King Washing Machine Soap was so enthusiastically given and so sincerely as well, that she wants to pass it on to you all. "Gertrude," she said, "why, I would not be without a number of boxes at least of White King Washing Machine Soap for anything in the world. We use it always in our washing machine, of course, but not only in that way but dozens of others. To launder my best blouses and the children's fine clothes, it is simply unexcelled." Those who know White King Soap already know this, but the others will do well to follow this lead and begin today to order this splendid product of the L. A. Soap Co.

"Lives there a man with Soul so with a cup of Jevne's coffee carefully made and strong enough. Maurie, the "ownliest" husband of a very dear friend, has the sweetest disposition always, but when his coffee is served him he fairly "beams" on those around him and exudes a benevolence for which Jevne's coffee deserves a great share of the praise. Now if this excellent coffee can accomplish such wonders in one home, don't you think it deserving of a trial at least? This morning's order of a can will begin to bring a reward the same day. Try it and see!

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Close-Up View of Business Conditions; Banker Reports Arizona Gaining Ground.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

No better method of finding out things has ever been devised than by asking questions, and the economic research department of the Citizens' National Bank has been circulating a questionnaire throughout fourteen Western States for the purpose of securing a composite viewpoint on general business conditions.

The trades covered were clothiers, hardware, dry goods, drugs, grocers and the corresponding wholesale establishments, the list being made up of sound and reliable business men who would be expected to have first-hand knowledge of conditions in their respective lines and communities.

As a result of the interrogation some interesting facts were revealed and some accurate deductions made possible. For instance:

Sixty-eight per cent of the firms replying are maintaining wages and salaries at the same figure as that of a year ago; 26 per cent have put reductions into effect averaging 13 per cent, while 6 per cent have increased salaries and wages on an average of 11 per cent.

Employers classify the attitude of employees as that of active co-operation in 50 per cent of the cases; normally efficient in 45 per cent, and restless and inefficient in but 5 per cent. While wages and salaries remain the same as a year ago in 68 per cent, a large number of merchants report material reductions in their forces, and increased efficiency on the part of the remaining workers.

On the whole it is found that employers are quite willing to maintain the wage and salary scale at a point justified by real efficiency and in keeping with living costs. Trade conditions for the past six months were reported good in 9 per cent of the replies; fair in 61 per cent, and poor in 25 per cent. California naturally leads the group of States with 15.4 per cent reporting good; 69.2 per cent fair, and only 15.4 per cent poor.

MERCHANTS CONSERVATIVE.

As to conditions for the coming year 56 per cent of the replies reported an optimistic feeling representative of the respective communities, while 35 per cent were pessimistic. Ninety-five per cent of the merchants express themselves as inclined to follow a conservative policy for 1922.

The average of all replies gives 87 per cent as representative of the physical volume of sales as compared to a year ago and the same for last month as compared to the year before. A similar average of the question covering collections shows that 64 per cent of bills receivable are paid when due, as against 72 per cent a year ago, and 77 per cent which is considered normal.

It is interesting to find that there is a spread of from 31 to 60 per cent between the druggists and the grocers as the extremes of charges to total sales. The public in general is not inclined to play favorites in the matter of paying bills, and with the exception of the hardware dealer, whom they seem to put off a little more frequently, they pay the grocer just as freely as they do the druggist.

The figures on the physical volume show a considerable variation for the several lines reported. A difference of 20 per cent between the hardware dealer and the dry-goods merchant is difficult to explain on any other assumption than that borne out by facts from other sources which seem to prove that in general dry-goods prices have been further and more thoroughly liquidated than those in other lines, and that some items in the hardware line have failed to show any great liquidation. It is probable, however, that poor sales on farm machinery and implements account largely for the low hardware figure.

IN LOS ANGELES.

Turning from the general survey resulting from the bank's questionnaire we take up the report on the condition of retail trade in Los Angeles made yesterday by John Perrin, chairman of the board and Federal reserve agent for this district. Here we fall beneath the influence of the localized white spot, and the outlook becomes at once more cheerful.

The summary of reports from half a dozen representative department stores in Los Angeles covering their business for the month of December, shows that in spite of several days of heavy rains in the heart of the Christmas shopping season there was a slight percentage of increase in every item except in stocks on hand at the close of the month. These figures are most significant in that they substantiate and reinforce other statistics which place this city at the head of all other municipalities of the first class in the United States in relative trade supremacy.

The report of the Federal Reserve Bank shows an increase in net sales of 2.6 per cent for the month as compared with net sales during the same period in 1920.

There was an increase of 54 per cent in net sales as compared with November, 1921, while the percentage of increase of net sales from January, 1921, to Dec. 31, 1921, inclusive, compared with the same period in 1920 was .9 per cent.

Percentage of increase of stocks at the close of December was 14.4 per cent as compared with stocks at the close of the same month the previous year. Stocks at the close of the month had decreased 17.2 per cent from those on hand at the close of November, a circumstance attributable, of course, to the Christmas buying.

The percentage of average stocks at the close of each month for the season as compared to the average net sales during the same period was 416.8 per cent, and the percentage of outstanding orders at the close of December, 1921, to the total purchases during the year was 9.9 per cent.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The cold snap provided the makin's for more conversation yesterday in the business and financial districts than the condition of the market, and the individual who was able to report the lowest temperature was a greater object of passing interest than the fluctuations of oils, mines or steel. It is too early yet to determine just what effect the freeze will have upon general trends, but there was a tendency to put the best face possible upon the matter and view the outlook with such optimism as could be mustered.

The Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank of San Francisco in its summary issued yesterday says that the cost of business is gradually working down, and that price readjustment is still under way. The Department of Labor survey for 1921 announces a reduction of 14 per cent in the retail cost of food in sixteen cities of the United States, which is still 47 per cent in excess of 1913 costs. While in some industries deflation has been pretty well completed, the price situation remains out of balance; and, as wages are the principal factor affecting prices, it seems inevitable that extensive wage readjustments must ultimately solve this problem.

Crop returns for the season just closed, with few exceptions, have proven quite satisfactory. Total yields were good as compared with previous years; and most farm and orchard products have moved rapidly into consumption, thereby relieving the credit strain.

Canners report that nearly all grades and varieties of canned fruits and vegetables are well sold out and that we will go into the new season with lighter stocks than for many years—1919 excepted.

Lumber trade on the Coast, which had been dragging most of the year, showed increased activity at the close, with sales for December in excess of December, 1920. The outlook for this industry is generally regarded as very promising.

The following figures, given out by the Department of the Interior, show the metal output of California in 1921 and are indicative of the trend of mining in California for the year.

Gold (ounces)	767,000	806,397
Silver (ounces)	3,814,778	1,707,387
Copper (pounds)	11,051,000	11,000,000
Lead (pounds)	179,000	7,813,840
Zinc (pounds)	642,000	1,000,000

California's petroleum output for the year is estimated at 114,000,000 barrels as compared with 105,000,000 barrels a year ago.

ARIZONA CONDITIONS.

Arizona is at last on the road to recovery, according to O. M. Souden, president of the United States National Bank, who has returned to Los Angeles after an extensive tour of observation in the interests of his bank. He reports that the three "Cs" of Arizona's industry, cotton, copper and cattle, are all on the upgrade and that the banks are in a much better position than they have been at any time in the past twelve months.

A conversation with the Governor of the State and the State banking officials convinced Mr. Souden of Arizona's improved financial position and these official opinions were later supplemented and verified by personal observation. Frozen loans are gradually thawing in all districts and the banks that closed their doors during the worst period of depression are reopening them. Some of the banks that have resumed are reported to be in a much better condition now than they were before they were forced to close. Phoenix banks are in a particularly strong position, although banks in the outlying districts are still finding collections very slow.

Mr. Souden believes that the real fact is that people in Arizona have more money than they are given credit for. However, as they are just recovering from the stress of a severe readjustment period, this money is still very closely held with consequent stagnation in many instances.

The black spot of Arizona, he says, is the town of Glendale, near Phoenix. The State Bank of Glendale closed its doors some time ago and is now operating under the receivership. The people in that district were hard hit by crop failures and suffered considerable damage from the recent flood. It is essentially a dairy country around Glendale, said Mr. Souden, but in recent years the cattle have been sold and the land turned over to cotton growing. Last year's crop failure in that district spelled ruin to many.

This year for the first time, Arizona cotton growers are experimenting with co-operative marketing. Out of a total crop of 30,000 bales, 10,000 bales have been assigned to the Arizona Pima Growers' Association. Mr. Souden found this association to be well managed and it is succeeding in getting a good price for its cotton. One thousand bales have been sold at an average of 32½ cents a pound and this price is regarded by cotton men as exceptionally good in the present market. The association is trying to expand the outlets for Arizona cotton and has one direct shipment already on the way to the European mills. It also has representatives and warehouses in New England so that spot consignments can be directly contracted for in the East by the mill interests there.

Copper men are full of optimism for the first time after the long depression period, said Mr. Souden. They agree in predicting a recovery for the industry in 1922. Unseasonable weather during December stripped the beef cattle of much of their weight and the fattening-up process will have to be continued for some months longer. Shipments of cattle to the eastern markets will not begin to go forward until May 1. Shipments made late last year had the effect of thawing some of the frozen cattle loans. The banks all regard their cattle loans as well secured, although live-stock prices are still at their lowest level. Cattlemen expect a heavy calving next month.

MARKET IS MANIPULATED,

Wholly Artificial Activities of "Pools" Plainly in Evidence in East.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. — The stock market was visibly subject today to open and unabashed manipulation, the kind of performance which mortifies Wall Street men of sense and gives more of a handle than might be wished to allegations that prices on the stock exchange are moved up or down by professional slight-of-hand to entrap the unwary public.

That the wholly artificial activities of "pools" were the guiding influence has been plain enough for some time past but today little regard was paid even to appearance and in two or three stocks the week's occurrences have approached the disreputable. This was certainly so with Gulf States Steel, which was marked up 25 points between Wednesday's closing and the early hours today, on a series of utterly baseless so-called "rumors" and was then driven down 20 points in almost as many minutes.

SLIGHT INCIDENTS.

Not all of the violently agitated stocks of today's market brought into sight incidents of just such a character as surrounded the movement of this one. But there were other occurrences which might have served as reminders of what took place in 1919; the largest transactions were in stocks whose speculative reputation is the worst, and the day's achievements on the whole were the reverse of creditable to Wall street.

It is not always easy to account for the sudden appearance of such a condition of things in a financial market. Manipulation of a similar character in the autumn of 1919, the winter of 1906, and the spring of 1903, was afterward explained as the concerted work of not overscrupulous professional speculators who were carrying large blocks of stocks on borrowed money which had become troublesome because of tightening credit and which they therefore endeavored by any expedient, proper or improper, to "unload" on the credulous outsider. The present situation is obviously not a close parallel to those other occasions but it is equally one in which both the general public and the stock exchange committees should watch the program.

BIG TRANSACTIONS

Total transactions on the stock exchange went beyond a million shares for the first time since last June and there were numerous net advances of 1 to 4 points, all in the industrials, of which a dozen stocks made up about one half of the day's business. The bond market was open, more steady but little changed, with the recent large volume of transactions maintained. Exchange on European countries weakened, with French and German rates reaching the lowest prices since the first few days of the year, the mark touching a price about half way between its lowest figure of last November and the highest to which it has subsequently recovered.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Market Survey; Bond Men Interested in Coming Sale; Federal Reserve Statement; New Issues.

A critical survey of the securities market and a detailed description of the development activity in the Oatman district are the leading articles in the current issue of the Market Bulletin published by A. W. Coote. The Nevada mining fields, the grain market, the foreign exchange situation and other investment news is treated in the columns of the house paper.

In the survey of the securities market, the Market Bulletin says in part: "During the early part of 1922 the securities markets promise to be irregular, the speculatives being most vulnerable to bear raids. When spring business begins to have its effect, investment issues in particular should begin to move upward, followed more or less slowly by the speculatives. On weak or at places the accumulation of investment issues appears advisable. Just now we have the customary seasonal period of dull business, somewhat accentuated by final writing off of inventory losses and payments on what were frozen credits six months ago. Judging from conditions now visible, the record of the year should be a fluctuating market, gradually working to higher price levels.

"It is the liquidation of frozen credits, and the inability of the average business man to borrow as much as formerly, which is going to have a great influence on the securities market.

"As interest rates decline, the demand for investment securities will continue to grow, and as their prices advance the buying will extend progressively to more speculative issues, especially where non-dividend paying issues represent companies which seem reasonably sure in time of resuming dividend payments.

"Temporarily, while breaks in speculative issue prices may cause slight sympathetic declines by investment issues, such slight declines should start new buying, and as stocks grow more scarce, each succeeding crest of the price wave should be a little higher. This strength of the investment list should give the speculative list much suport.

"Money must have work at a remunerative wage. That wage is what we have named "interest." And it is not going begging for industrial work at 3 to 5 per cent when it can find work at 5 to 7 per cent in the high-grade securities, and up to 10 per cent in securities which are not too dangerously speculative."

COMING BOND SALE.

Local investment bankers who intend to bid for the $13,500,000 electric power bonds which will be offered at a public sale next Thursday morning by the City Council are undismayed by the news that Attorney John C. Thompson has given an adverse opinion as to the legality of the issue. Bids for municipal bond sales are always entered subject to legality and prompt delivery and, in all likelihood, the same number of bids will be received in spite of the clouding of the power bonds validity by the pending litigation. Bond men do not think that more than four or five bids will be offered on account of the size of the issue. It is understood that approximately this number of Eastern and local syndicates are contemplating bidding on the issue. Guesses as to the probable size of the premium to be paid range from $600,000 to $750,000.

OIL SUPPLY.

Figures made public by the Oil Derrick indicate that the supply of oil is now ahead of the demand in the Eastern fields. Runs by Eastern pipe lines during December were 1,881,991 barrels, an increase of 133,319 barrels over November. Shipments were 2,224,764 barrels, a decrease of 421,330 barrels. Stocks of crude held by these pipe lines at the end of December were 18,854,741 barrels, an increase of 823,670 barrels during the month and double the stock of a year ago.

CITIES SERVICE COMPANY.

Earnings of the Cities Service Company during December continued to show improvement. The gross was $1,193,449 an increase of $16,556 over November and $473,180 over September. An increase in December net earnings over those of November, amounting to $22,153, was recorded. During 1921, the company showed earnings of $13.04 on its common stock.

YESTERDAY ON THE HOME EXCHANGE.

The volume of trading on the local stock exchange fell off to a marked degree yesterday. This inactivity spread to all groups and not even the mining stocks were exempt from the general quietude. The only sensation of the day was provided by Los Angeles Investment, which crossed par for the first time in many months and closed strong at $1.02, a net advance of 4 cents. Southern California Edison common closed unchanged at 97 7-8. Oil stocks showed a mild strength and Union of California advanced 1 to 165. Moderate buying brought about a ⅛ point gain in Union of Delaware, which closed at 20. Midway Northern sold unchanged at 99. Adams furnished the only advance in the mining issues when it climbed 1 cent to 6. United American and Tom Reed each lost half a cent, closing at 25½ and 47 cents, respectively. Telluride was firm at 20½.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The stock market today experienced one of its most sensational sessions since the 1916-18 period when war brides soared to record quotations.

Intimations from responsible sources that progress was being made in the proposed mergers or consolidations of various steel and iron companies was a propelling factor.

The movement, which consisted of bewildering advances and declines in the more speculative shares, began with Gulf States steel. That stock made a further advance in the first hour, of 5½ points to 90½, reacted 30 points and closed at 71½, a net loss of 10½ points.

Replogle Steel divided honors with Gulf States for a time, making an early gain of 10 5-8 points to 41, falling back to 34, and closing at 35, a net gain of 4 6-8 points.

Other steel and iron shares, especially Bethlehem, Crucible, Midvale, Sloss Sheffield, Republican, Vanadium, Colorado Fuel and Iron products were higher by 2 to 6 points, but these also followed the confusing course of their leaders. United States Steel became strong in the final hour, closing at 87 a 2-point gain, and its highest price in more than a year.

Sugars, motors, oils, equipments, leathers, textiles and shippings were successively brought forward apparently under professional auspices, and to the discomfiture of the shorts, but rails remained in the background, recording few noteworthy changes. Among miscellaneous issues, Electric Storage Battery at a gain of 6 3-4 points, and Woolworth, which rose 7½ points, were the striking features. Sales, 1,150,000 shares.

The money market was easy, call loans holding at 5 per cent and renewing into next week at that figure, while offerings of time money at 4 1-2 to 4 3-4 per cent were on enlarged scales.

Trading in foreign exchanges was in moderate volume, but international remittances were influenced by cables indicating further tension in the Anglo-French situation. Sterling reacted 1¼ lower by 3 to almost 25 points.

Liberty bonds eased, but other domestic issues, especially rails, were inclined to strengthen. The several Cuban issues reflected the strength of that group of stocks. Total sales, par value, aggregated $15,275,000.

Corporate issues, including foreign bonds, were irregular. Total sales, par value, aggregated $15,275,000.

Liberty bonds (converted 4th 4¼s) closed as follows: 4th 4¼s, 97.70; 1st 4s, 97.50; 2d 4s, 97.50; 1st 4¼s, 97.50; 2d 4¼s, 97.50; 1st 4¼s, 97.50; 2d 4¼s, 97.50; 3d 4½s, 97.50; 4th 4¼s, 97.70; Victory 4¾s, 100.

BRADSTREET'S WEEKLY REPORT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Slow, but on the whole, fairly steady expansion features wholesale trade and industry as January advances. Stock-taking, both from jobbers and wholesalers, is of the usual short-time type. Road trade has expanded somewhat as the travelers make progress.

"Industry certainly shows a gain from its very general shutdowns of the inventory period, and the two branches seem to be in perceptibly better shape than a year ago at this time with a fair measure of optimism reported present. Here a year ago pessimism ruled.

"On balance the reappearance of cheerfulness is more than a month ago; the final trades and ...actual purchase experiences.

"Retail trade, stimulated by cuts, especially marked in apparel lines, clothing, etc., is enjoying a fair measure of activity in the Northland and West, but southern trade is a little uneven in its gains, and reports from Texas, ...there unusually warm weather and drought ...dull shop and trade conditions, note that the ...ing is over.

"Weekly bank clearings, $6,923,087,000."

CLASSIFIED RATES.

(Effective December 1, 1921.)

Minimum space, 2 lines; estimate six average words to each full line. 10 cents a line, each daily insertion. 15c daily and 25c Sunday on 3 to 6 consecutive insertions. 12c daily and 20c Sunday on 7 to 29 consecutive insertions. 10c daily and 21c Sunday on 30 consecutive insertions.

For all classifications except those listed below.

Strictly "Situations Wanted" advertisements, 1c a line daily and Sunday, minimum charge 25c. Not a line 5 to 6 consecutive times; 7c a line 7 to 29 consecutive times. (Advertisements for the subclasses "Canvassing, Printing, Paperhanging," "Personal Instruction," "Schools and Colleges" are not classed as strictly "Situations Wanted" advertising and will be charged for at the general rates of 10c a line daily, 15c a line daily and 25c Sunday, with reductions for consecutive insertions as quoted above.)

Not a line daily and Sunday; 5 words to a line. For advertisements under the heading of "Society Meetings," "Proposals," "Bonds," "Notices," "Lost," "Found," "Special Improvement Bonds," "Mortgage Loans" (except on Real Estate), "Professional Services," "Personal," "Marriage and Divorce." Minimum charge 40c daily and 75c Sunday. Not a line daily and 25c Sunday, 20 consecutive insertions.

Employment Agencies advertising under Employment Agencies: 10c a line daily, 15c daily and Sunday, or more if contract space is taken.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by the Times for payment of Want Ads as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

Advertisements not read for insertion on the day of receipt may be changed or changed after 9:30 a.m. of the day preceding date of insertion.

Advertisements ordered to appear for the first Sunday in the Times Want Section cannot be countermanded after 12 m. (noon) Saturday.

Rates for display advertising will be furnished on request.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

The insertion of notices of insolvency, notices of sheriff's sale will be twelfth publication or the charge made for the service rendered.

Storage Dam on Salt River is Planned.

Tunnel is to be Drilled Through Ridge.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MIAMI (Ariz.) Jan. 20.—Another great hydroelectric power enterprise is planned on Salt River, about fifty miles from Miami, a short distance below where the Black and White rivers unite and not far from the mouth of Carrizo Creek. A great bend in the stream carries it back to within a few hundred feet of where it passes several miles above. A tunnel is to be drilled through a rock ridge, diversion of the water is to be made by a dam that may have considerable storage capacity and turbo-generators are to be placed at the tunnel outlet. The project is designed to produce power for the Globe-Miami district mining operations.

RIGHTS ARE SECURED.

Engineers now working on the tunnel and dam plan are reported in the employ of the Niagara Falls Power Company. Rights are said to have been secured from local miners who located what has been known as Horseshoe Bend fifteen years ago and who still are interested in copper deposits in the vicinity.

This project is independent of the Baum project, which is to the eastward, on Black River. A hearing lately was held at Phoenix on Baum's application, which was contested mainly because it contemplated large storage of water in three dams. It is known that the Reclamation Service n Arizona has not been consulted regarding this latest enterprise, but it is believed that mere use of the water for power will not be protested by other interests on the river. However, permission of the Federal Power Commission must be secured in all such cases.

COTTONSEED CAUSES ARREST.

W. A. Mousse, a railroad employee, is to be tried in Yuma January 23 charged with having had in his possession cottonseed introduced into the State in violation of law. He is charged with having brought to Yuma from Texas cottonseed found infested with insect pests of character highly dangerous to the cotton growers of the Yuma and Imperial Valleys.

MEXICAN SLAYERS OF JAILER HANGED.

SILVER (N. M.) Jan. 20.—Eisauterio Corral and Romaldo Lozano were hanged here today as the penalty for the slaying of Ventura Benicoma, jailer of Silver City.

The two men, according to officers, admitted killing the jailer with an ax on April 2, 1921, when they escaped from the Grant County Jail.

Luis Montes de Oca, Mexican Consul-General at El Paso, had petitioned the Governor to commute the sentence of Lozano at the request of Lozano's mother, who claimed her son was only 15 years old. Lozano was a citizen of Mexico.

A commission appointed by the Governor held that both men were more than 19 years old.

INFLUENZA KILLING HUNDREDS IN EUROPE.

[BY EARLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The latest mortality figures show no abatement in the outbreak of influenza in the United Kingdom.

Last week there were 1262 deaths from the disease, an increase of 443 over the previous week besides 707 deaths from bronchial pneumonia.

MAY LEAVE BONUS MEASURE TO HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Initial action on the proposed soldiers' bonus legislation may be left to the House. Administration and Congressional leaders are understood to be in agreement that the measure shall carry the means of financing the adjusted compensation for the former service men, and under the Constitution revenue-raising bills must originate in the House.

GUNS FOR DRY AGENTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Shotguns will be given soon to all prohibition agents in California under orders issued here yesterday by Tom Brown, assistant prohibition director, acting for E. Forrest Mitchell, prohibition director now in Los Angeles. The action was taken, Mr. Brown explained, on information that armed bandits had attempted to rob prohibition agents of $15,000 worth of liquor in Dublin Canyon, Alameda county, Tuesday.

EXTRADITION HEARING.

SEATTLE, Jan. 20.—Hearing on an extradition warrant against Gustave Severin, alias Hans Eckhardt, former colonel in the German army and now facing a charge of grand larceny in San Francisco and Philadelphia, was set for next Thursday by Judge Dalton in District Court here yesterday. Severin is alleged to have obtained money from Germans under false pretenses in a plan for film importations. Because of refusal to put up $2000 bail for his release he is in jail here.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—Senor Denecri, president of the executive council of the Mexican National Railways, said today that the Wells Fargo Express will not be returned to the owners for the present at least.

WOUNDED VETERANS ASK FOR STATE AID.

FOUR THOUSAND APPLY UNDER FARM AND HOME PURCHASE ACT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Announcement was made today by the California Veterans' Welfare Board that of the first 4000 applicants for State aid under the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act passed by the last Legislature, 1273 have claimed preference by reason of wounds or disabilities.

The large percentage of wounded and disabled men applying for assistance is explained by the fact that the statute provides first consideration shall be given to such veterans.

It is estimated that approximately 500 veterans can be granted the benefits of the act with the present appropriation of $2,000,000. The Veterans' Welfare Bond Act of 1921, which will appear on the November ballot, provides additional funds for the administration of the act.

WOMAN IS FATALLY BURNED IN HER HOME

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Lottie Stevens, wife of a soldier, said to be undergoing treatment for tuberculosis, died here last night as the result of burns received at her home when she attempted to sweep some floor dirt and dirt into the stove. Her apron became ignited and the blaze soon enveloped her body. She died in a hospital several hours later.

Mrs. Stevens was the mother of a 9-months-old baby. Her husband is believed to be in a San Francisco hospital.

CHILE ACCEPTS INVITATION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SANTIAGO (Chile) Jan. 20.—Foreign Minister Barros Jarpa forwarded a note to Washington last night through Ambassador Collier, accepting on behalf of Chile the United States government's invitation to send representatives to Washington to negotiate with Peruvian envoys on the unfulfilled clauses of the treaty of Ancon.

PRESIDENT IS GUEST OF ALUMNI

President Von KleinSmid was the guest of honor at a banquet given last night at 741 South Broadway, by the Greater Alumni Association of the University of Southern California. Dr. Geo. Finley Bovard, president emiritus, was prevented from attending the banquet because of illness.

Dr. R. D. Von KleinSmid

"An alumni organization well-organized and actively functioning is the backbone of the activities of a great university," said President Von KleinSmid. "To it the board of trustees, the faculty and the undergraduates can turn for suggestions, for help, and for real guidance in times of stress. There are many times in the history of a university when sage counsel is necessary to keep the equilibrium of the entire institution. No body of men and women is so qualified to furnish this assistance as the alumni of the university, who know not only the past, but also the present and who from their experience have the best and clearest insight into the future."

W. M. Bowen, of the board of trustees of the university, was master of ceremonies. W. Cloyd Snyder of the class of 1912 of the college of law, was toastmaster.

Mayor Cryer, an alumnus of the University of Michigan, extended a welcome on behalf of the city to the new president of the U.S.C. He spoke of the remarkable expansion of the institution which has grown from an enrollment of 400 to its present registration of 7000 students.

State Superintendent of Schools, Wood, Mrs. Susan Dorsey, City Superintendent of Schools, former Lieut.-Gov. A. J. Wallace George T. Cochran, treasurer of the board of trustees, and Harry A. Williams of The Times, also were honor guests.

DEATH TAKES FORMER FOLLIES CHORUS GIRL

Miss Phyllis Grey, 25 years old, said to have been a Follies chorus girl several years ago, died at the County Hospital yesterday after lingering between life and death for several days from poisoning. She swallowed the poison in her apartment, 1320 West Fifth street, last Tuesday after leaving directions for the disposal of her body. Despondency was said to have been the cause for her act.

NEW CUTTER TO CURB LIQUOR SMUGGLERS.

HAIDA, NOW IN PORT, ONE OF THREE BOATS FOR COAST PATROL SERVICE.

Southern California is due for a long dry spell, according to Capt. J. F. Hottel, commanding the United States coast guard cutter Haida, now in port at Los Angeles Harbor.

The Haida is one of three craft of her type just completed which will patrol the Pacific Coast from Alaska to San Diego to run down all rum runners, Chinese smugglers and others suspected of shady work on the high seas. The other two vessels, the Modoc and Mojave, will patrol the coast from Puget Sound to Alaska, while the Haida, based on Los Angeles Harbor, will cover the district extending from Eureka to San Diego.

The three new coast guard cutters, built in an Oakland shipyard, are well designed, unusually seaworthy vessels 240 feet in length, clearing a 39-foot beam and a depth of 25½ feet. They displace 1600 tons when loaded and are the first coast guard cutters to be electrically driven. They have a speed of more than sixteen knots.

Will of Rich Lawyer Filed for Probate.

The will of the late William Stanton, wealthy Pasadena attorney, was filed for probate yesterday, disposing of $300,000 worth of property. The instrument, which contains seventeen pages of finely written script, is said to be one of the most complete and exhaustive wills ever filed. Provision is made, it is said, for every contingency which might possibly arise.

Mrs. Sophronia Stanton, the widow, was left $20,000 and an annuity of $12,000 from the estate. The balance was left to a daughter, Mrs. Emmily Picher of Hubbard Woods, Ill., and numerous relatives.

FIGHTS SEWAGE PLAN.

Culver City Objects to Use of Ballona Creek by City.

Culver City, through the people of the State, is seeking by a suit against the city of Los Angeles, filed yesterday, to restrain the city from diverting sewage into Ballona Creek and from constructing a pipe line.

There are numerous wells in and about Culver City and it is contended that the waters of the wells used for domestic purposes will become contaminated by the proposed sewage system; further, that Ballona Creek is inadequate to carry away the sewage dumped into it.

QUITS FEDERAL JOB TO ENTER BUSINESS.

David Gershon, for the past seven years a special agent of the Department of Justice, and for a large part of that time stationed at San Diego, yesterday severed his connection with the government and will engage in private business. During the war, Mr. Gershon was in charge of about 3000 alien enemies, at Fort Douglas, Utah. He has been engaged in some of the most important Federal cases on the Pacific Coast.

THE WEATHER
[Official Report]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—[Reported by H. R. Hosey, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.22; at 5 p.m., 30.24. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 52 deg. and 50 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 51 per cent; 5 p.m., 40 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., north, velocity 1 mile; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 6 miles. Temperatures, highest, 51 deg.; lowest, 31 deg. Rainfall for season, 10.79 inches; last season to date, 5.01 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The cold wave which was central yesterday over the Pacific slope moved southward and covered Southern California with freezing temperatures, except at immediate coast stations, were it was a little above freezing. At most points in the citrus belt the minimum temperatures ranged between 20 deg. and 30 deg. The temperature rose a little over the Middle and North Pacific Slope. The field of high pressure which caused freezing weather yesterday morning was central over Southern Oregon. It has moved eastward a little and decreased considerably in strength. This is a favorable indication, but it will be very cold again early this morning, though probably not with as low temperatures as were reported yesterday morning.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.—Los Angeles, January 21: Sun rises 6:57 a.m.; sets 5:13 p.m. Moon rises, 1:22 a.m.; sets 12:57 p.m. Los Angeles Harbor, January 21: High tides, 4:21 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.; low tides, 11:30 a.m. and 10:50 p.m.

Three Stills Captured by Dry Raiders.

A raid made by Prohibition Enforcement Agent Miller on a garage in the rear of the residence of Richard I. Adams, 1225 Liberty street, yesterday, resulted in the reported capture of three complete stills, fifty gallons of corn whisky and a large quantity of mash.

The city sewer had been tapped and a direct connection established for the disposal of the mash, Mr. Miller says, but some time ago the wind changed and one of the neighbors caught the odor and the raid followed. Adams was held in a bond of $1000 by United States Commissioner Long.

LEAVING FOR EAST.

Andrew Mullen of Mullen & Bluett is leaving tomorrow for an extended trip to the East. He will be accompanied by three of his department managers, W. W. Holmes, R. C. Halstead and Frank Stillson. Most of their time will be spent in New York City, the Mecca of those who sell fine things for men. Mr. Mullen and his associates will complete their purchases of spring stocks, place orders for their summer needs and look over new things for fall men's wear.

Rugs

The purchasing of rugs is one of the most important things to consider when furnishing a home—whether it be a new one or refurnishing an old one.

Rugs in order to show individual taste must have distinctive style and harmony of color.

These things as well as the best quality are assured if you make your selections at this store.

Plan to spend your Saturday afternoon in our Rug Department, as special service is given to Saturday afternoon shoppers.

TEACHERS URGE FRESH SCHEME.

"Council" Plan is Altered to Gain Same Ends.

A new scheme for "teacher-participation" in the administration of the Los Angeles public schools has been tentatively suggested to members of the Board of Education as a substitute for the unpopular "teacher-council" plan, whereby certain teachers proposed to sit in judgment upon the official acts of superintendents and school board members.

The latest proposal of those seeking to disrupt the present organization of the city's school system provides that each separate group of teachers shall elect a representative to sit as a member of a general committee and that this committee shall elect "an adviser or advisers" to attend all conferences of the superintendents.

DEMAND RECOGNITION.

It is specifically demanded that the so-called adviser or advisers be officially recognized by the Board of Education and by that body given an official status in the school organization.

Details of the powers of the "advisers" have not been made public, but it is said that unless teachers responsible for the "teacher-participation" agitation materially recede from certain of their demands the entire proposal will be rejected by the board.

School officials opposing the efforts of teachers to take over administrative functions assert that adoption of any of the various propositions would inevitably lead to petty politics, jealousies and destructive activities throughout the school system.

It is contended that under the present organization the Superintendent of Schools or her assistants may call upon any teacher or group of teachers for expert advice and that such requests for advice are frequent and result in efficient educational methods. Whereas, it is asserted that a change in this policy would invite meddling by teachers whose motives might be political rather than educational.

Some opposition to the teachers' movement has developed in the ranks of the general teaching body, it is said, and persons in touch with the situation asserted yesterday that the teachers actively pushing the proposed changes will not find any considerable support among their own associates when the matter comes before the School Board for final decision.

MOTHER OF SLAYER IS NEAR DEATH

Woman Sinking Rapidly as Bannon Fights for New Trial on Death Charge.

While Edward Bannon, recently convicted of a second-degree murder for the slaying of James H. Brigham at Sawtelle on last September 16, is waging his last fight for freedom, his mother, Mrs. Marry Bannon Sweeney, lies at death's door, according to O. N. Hilton and Dan my Critchley, defense attorneys, stated yesterday.

The statement was made in Judge Shenk's court when the attorneys filed a motion for a new trial. Argument on the motion, with consent of Dep Dist.-Atty. McCartney, was continued until Tuesday.

It was stated that Mrs. Sweeney was very ill at the time of her son's trial and when the verdict came in acquitting Mrs. Elizabeth Bannon and finding her husband guilty of second-degree murder, the mother collapsed. Since the vedict was returned Mrs. Sweeney has been sinking rapidly, it was stated. She is now at the Bannon home in Sawtelle.

Time for sentence was also continued until Tuesday. The penalty for second-degree murder is from ten years to life in prison.

Mayor Orders Social Service Ouster Airing.

At the request of Mrs. N. A. Courtright, Mayor Cryer yesterday directed his private secretary, H. H. Kinney, to make a thorough investigation into the facts in connection with the discharge of Mrs. Courtright from her position as executive secretary of the social service commission and of the action of the Board of Civil Service Commissioners in approving of the social service board's action.

Mrs. Courtright contends that she was unjustly relieved of her position and is asking that all of the facts be aired. She was charged by the social service board with using her office for carrying on her private legal practice and also with not co-operating with the social service and charitable agencies of the city, over which the Social Service Commission has supervision.

Another continuance was taken yesterday in Judge Shenk's court in the cases of Percy Hight, an attorney, and T. B. Conner, both accused of criminal conspiracy in connection with real estate deals. The two, through their attorneys, requested and were granted a continuance for entry of plea until February 1.

BANDIT HOLDS UP CAFETERIA.

Crowds Pass Third-Street Door During Robbery.

Pursuers Eluded in Auto Park on Hill Street.

While many persons looked on and scores of pedestrians walked by the doors, a bandit armed with a revolver, held up and robbed the La Palma Cafeteria at 311 West Third street, shortly before 3 o'clock last night. After he had fought his way through a side door, the bandit escaped with about $150 taken from the cash register. Though several of the cafeteria attendants exchanged blows with the man in an attempt to stop him as he ran into Third street, not one of the many people on the street endeavored to block him as he ran west.

The robbery, committed just after the front door of the cafeteria had been closed and locked for the day, was one of the most daring thefts in many months. Mrs. Nora B. Miller, the cashier, was checking up the day's proceeds. Several hundred dollars in currency and change lay on a little table by the cash register. At a table near-by, Mrs. Marjorie Foster and Mrs. M. McLaughlin of 263 Girard avenue were finishing their dinner. Four other women were in the reception-room between the front and side door of the cafeteria. T. R. Rice of 2810 West Twenty-third street and Robert Smith, negro porter, was working at the empty tables.

Suddenly the bandit, slipping in through a side door as a late customer went out, crawled under a chain leading to the food counters and stepped up beside Mrs. Miller, who turned to find a large-caliber revolver thrust against her side.

"Don't say a word," the bandit whispered. "Give me the key to the cash drawer and put your hands down."

The bandit, evidently perceiving that the revolver had been seen by the porter and the customers near by grabbed a handful of money and ran for the side door. Mr. Smith and Mr. Price immediately gave chase. They caught up with the robber as he passed out the door and Mr. Smith knocked him against the wall. About $15 in bills scattered from the bandit's hands as he stumbled.

Recovering his balance he ran west on Third street with Mr. Smith and Mr. Price in pursuit. Reaching an automobile park on Hill street, between Third and Second, the bandit ran among the automobiles and eluded his pursuers.

A few minutes later detectives from Central Police Station searched the park and found the man's tracks leading over the hill toward Olive street. A squad of officers was patrolling the district late last night.

PLEA OPENS JAIL DOOR FOR SISTER.

Asserted Bandit Queen Declares Other is Good Girl Who Did No Wrong.

Pleas of Mrs. Eunice Branaham, attractive 23-year-old university girl, held in the County Jail on a charge of being the "queen" of a bandit gang in Texas, that her younger sister, Mrs. Lillie Caldwell, be released, were granted yesterday by Sheriff Traeger and Deputies Bright and Dewar.

"She never did anything wrong and is a good girl," said the elder sister. "Please protect her and say only nice things about her. She did not know of anything wrong."

Mrs. Branaham, her sister, E. H. Conatser and Raymond Evans were taken into custody Thursday evening by the deputies at a house on West Forty-first Place.

Mrs. Branaham stated to the officers that she had attended part of the first year in a university, but declined to name the institution, as she asserted she did not want her friends to learn of her arrest. The young woman is being held on telegraphic information from Texas that she is wanted there for asserted thefts of jewelry and robberies of department stores in Dallas and Houston.

The deputies yesterday traced the ownership of one of the automobiles seized when the suspects were taken into custody and assert it was stolen on Wednesday night from Eighth street between Main and Los Angeles streets. They assert it belongs to George Odabash'an, 320 West Colorado street, Pasadena. E. H. Conatser, alias E. H. Wilson alias E. H. Comanche, was accused in a complaint issued yesterday of grand larceny of the car. Bail was fixed at $5000.

Shell Shocked, Wealthy Indian Gets Guardian.

Wounded and shell-shocked in the World War, Joseph Mills, an Osage Indian, and rich oil land owner in Oklahoma, consented yesterday to have a guardian appointed to look after his large estate. Judge Rives named Milton Bryan, an attorney, fixing his bond at $50,000.

Mr. Mills owns 160 acres in Oklahoma, has $25,000 in personal property, and royalties from oil lands aggregating $20,000 a year.

Mrs. Florence L. Gray (left,) Mrs. E. M. Grosewisch and Attorney Willis S. Mitchell.

SEVEN years after her husband, Charles P. Gray of Quincy, Ill., sent his wife, Mrs. Florence L. Gray, to California for her health, Mrs. Gray filed suit for divorce and was granted a decree yesterday by Judge M. Lucas on the ground of desertion.

During these years Mrs. Gray hoped against hope that Mr. Gray would join her here or at least send for her. She said he did not send for her and did not provide for her. She loved him, she testified, but was embarrassed when, because she had no money, she was compelled to seek employment.

A friend told her employment would be more easily obtained if she posed as a single woman. She used the name of Flo Gray and under this name her husband wrote to her. He said in part June 9, 1918:

"I know I could never live with you and be happy, but I could never dislike you and never begrudge you any pleasure you may find. I hope I will return from the Army and find you as every woman should be, married, and happy with a bunch of children and home."

In Quincy where the Grays were married, Mrs. Gray said she lived with her husband's mother. Mrs. Gray was represented by Attorney Willis S. Mitchell.

LOVE SANS CASH FAILS TO SATISFY.

Marriage That Followed Asserted Free Love Test is Dissolved by Court.

The marriage of Miss Lylian Stowell McCarthy and Arnold Edward Roth, hailed by them as a wedding of perfect understanding where both held the same ideals, but which came to a smash when the husband failed to supply her with money for her pressing needs, was dissolved in Judge McLucas's court yesterday. Love which prompted the marriage could not survive on atmosphere alone, it seems, and she was granted a decree.

Mr. Roth is a musician, and virtually, from the beginning of their married life, he did not contribute to her support, the wife told the judge. Mrs. Roth's relatives and friends came to her relief. She had no money when her child was born, and Mr. Roth would not assist her, she testified. Her mother testified that when she arrived in Los Angeles from the south, she found her daughter in rags. She said she had to clothe the young mother from head to foot.

Miss McCarthy and Mr. Roth were students at Berkeley. They were married March 15, 1920. The announcement they made at that time was that they were supremely married. The wedding followed a purported free love experiment that created a furor at the University of California some years ago.

Mrs. Roth was represented by Attorneys Dockweiler, Dockweiler & Finch.

Wife Charges He's Out Too Many Nights.

Chester A. Bolton felt it incumbent upon him to remain away from home three nights or more each week, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Gladys Bolton. And when he did come home, the complaint recites he created a great disturbance and awakened the neighbors.

Mr. Bolton, who is a truck salesman, is charged with associating with other women. These outside interests caused him to have an altercation with his wife and he beat her, the complaint relates. J. M. Fursee is attorney for Mrs. Bolton.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

Judgment by Default Entered in Auto Injury Case.

A default judgment of $25,000 damages was awarded to John H. Marble against T. Glyn and C. H. Saucer, by Presiding Judge Willis yesterday. In Mr. Marble's suit for $23,696, for injuries he received in a stage accident.

The defendants operated a stage line between Los Angeles and San Francisco, and Mr. Manble was a passenger on one of the stages. It ran off the road, near Merced, Oct. 3, 1921, and turned over.

Angeleno as Corporation Commissioner

E. M. Daugherty of Los Angeles, it was announced late yesterday from the office of Gov. Stephens at Sacramento, will succeed Gen. E. C. Bellows, as State Corporation Commissioner. Mr. Bellows resigned the post a month ago to engage in private business. The new commissioner, it is said, will take over the office before the first of February.

Mr. Daugherty has been a resident of this city for eighteen years, coming to California from Illinois. He is the holder of a degree in electrical engineering and also passed the bar examination in California. He is best-known here as a newspaper man, having been at various times connected with Los Angeles dailies. In addition, he has had experience as a contractor. Mr. Daugherty was temporary secretary to Chief of Police Home, during a part of that official's regime, and later was publicity director for Mayor Cryer during the latter's campaign. His home is at 1914 Buckingham Road.

Shot by Her Mother: Sued for Divorce.

Harry C. Miller, who was shot and seriously wounded last March by his mother-in-law when, it is charged, he attempted to murder his family, was sued for divorce yesterday by Stella A. Miller on the grounds of cruelty. He has recovered since the shooting, and it is charged in the complaint that he has made threats upon the life of his wife and children.

According to the complaint, which was filed by Attys. Verge and Willson, the couple married in El Paso in May, 1917, and separated after the shooting last March. Mr. Miller is said to have made a rush at his wife and children when he was stopped by a bullet from a gun fired by his wife's mother.

DEAL INVOLVES LARGE AMOUNT.

Modern Office Building to Rise on Corner.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 20.—The largest single leasing and building project in the history of Long Beach was consummated tonight when the firm of Deeble and Chapman, real estate dealers of 19 Locust avenue, signed a ninety-nine-year lease for the southwest corner of Broadway and Elm avenue. William F. Deeble of the firm of Deeble and Meyers of 133 West First street represented both sides in the transaction. Negotiations have been under way for the lease for the past ninety days.

The corner is owned by Mrs. Ada B. Lill, formerly of Long Beach but at present a resident of Los Angeles. The total rental for the property will reach $1,500,000, a new high price level for property in that section.

The corner is 75 by 180 feet in size and is occupied with a number of small store buildings. These will be torn down in the near future by Deeble and Chapman, who will immediately prepare plans for the erection of a high-class eight or ten-story office building to cost at least $250,000.

Mrs. Lill is the widow of James Lill, local broker who committed suicide about six months ago by leaping into the ocean from the end of the Pine-avenue pier.

An unusual feature of the transaction is the fact that William F. Deeble, who negotiated the deal, is the man who pulled Mr. Lill's body from the surf just fourteen days after the broker's clothes were found on the end of the pier.

EXONERATE LAWYER ON THEFT CHARGE.

Ray Barnett, a local attorney, was exonerated of a charge of grand larceny of an automobile and receiving stolen property, when he appeared before Judge Shenk yesterday. On motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. McCartney the case was dismissed and the defendant discharged.

FIRE TRUCK DRIVER HURT.

While racing to a small fire at 2437 East Seventh street yesterday, M. L. Dahlman, driver of a motor fire apparatus from Engine-house No. 25, suffered a fractured leg, when he was hurled from his seat. At the Receiving Hospital Mr. Dahlman said he was turning the corner at East Seventh street and Boyle avenue when the fire apparatus struck a hole in the paving, hurling him out of his seat. The apparatus was not damaged.

WELL PROTESTS FAIL.

Council Votes to Permit Drilling for Oil Near Prospect Park.

Protests of Boyle Heights property owners against the opening of oil wells near Prospect Park were denied yesterday, the City Council by a vote of seven to two enacting an ordinance which will permit the drilling and operation of wells within 2000 feet of the park. Councilmen Mallard and Sanborn voted against the passage of the permitting measure.

URGES WIDER USE OF WATER.

Advocates Organization to Promote Beauty.

Club Speaker Asks Burial Plot for Veterans.

BY MYRA NYE.

"Think of the amount of rain that has gone to the sea, wasted since I came here from New York a few weeks ago," said Robert Vonnoh, the artist speaking before the Friday Morning Club at the luncheon hour yesterday, on the subject, "Art and Civilization."

"You have enough salt water to beautify the landscape, a whole ocean full, but what you need is fresh water in your landscapes. Get it from your roofs. Every house ought to be a system to collect water," continued the artist, "and every lawn in Los Angeles ought to have a fountain. There should be pools of fresh water everywhere with pond lillies growing on them for beauty. There should be swimming pools that are beautifully designed as well as cool and refreshingly full of soft water. There should be more lagoons and waterfalls in Southern California.

"Civilization would make a marked advance right here in your city if all your art organizations would band together in one big civic art forum," and the speaker mentioned the Ebell art section, as well as that of the club before which he was speaking, the California Art Club, Otis Art Institute and others which might join not at the expense of their individuality but in this project of creating an art forum." He said the possibilities of progress in art in Los Angeles are much greater than in New York City.

"You are freer from prejudice here," he said, "freer from the shackles of the old orthodoxy regarding art. If you fall down in your effort it will not be so difficult to pick yourselves up because you are young and full of life with a wonderful future in art just opening before you. Art is the final requisite for civilization."

STATUES ARE URGED.

Mrs. Vonnoh, formerly Bessie Potter, who was known as a sculptor of note before her marriage, was another speaker who gave the greater part of her time to her husband who made the plea for her that every fountain for which he spoke should have a lovely piece of statuary beside it.

Capt. L. C. Dodelan, chaplain of Victory Post No. 54, made a deep impression upon the guests of the club as well as the members when he showed the need of a burial place for ex-service men and appealed to the women to see that the plan to purchase a plot in some cemetery is consumated. An option, he said has been taken for 3700 graves in Forest Lawn and a fund has been started to be called the American Legion Memorial Fund to provide a burial place for any man or boy who has worn the United States uniform.

John Collier, who took for his subject, "Crowd-Mindedness; Its Cause and Cure and its Effect on Our Life, Local and World-Wide," answered the questions asked by members at the noon hour. Mrs. Andrew S. Loblngier, president of the club, said in introducing him, "The man at my left says that sociology is all of life and the man at my right (Mr. Vonnoh) says that art is all of life. Of course I am midway between the two. I will let Mr. Collier present his case first."

PLEA FOR YOUNGSTERS.

"What can the Friday Morning Club do to attain to the highest crowd-mindedness?" was one of the questions.

"Do not keep all the good things you hear and see to yourselves. Give some of them to the young people," was the reply. "Bring them in to share your wonderful social inheritance of art, science and lectures from great authorities. I know of no group in the United States with such wonderful possibilities of influencing the crowd-mind as this club. But unless the young people are reached the influence is of small avail."

This answer was suggested by Mrs. Arthur S. Wier, vice-president of the club, who has the ambition to organize a junior auxiliary of this, the largest club in the general federation.

Mr. Collier reviewed as exemples of crowd-mindedness: The Crusades, the French Revolution, the episode of the sinking of the Maine and the resultant slogan "Remember the Maine," the Ku Klux Klan, the lynching of Franck in Georgia, Bolshevism in Russia, the fear of Bolshevism in America during the steel strike and the reaction against the Virginia coal miners.

The remedy for mob-mindedness, he said, lies in going back to the fundamental small groups: the home, the church, the lodge, the small community. All great men, he said, have come from the small or primary groups and if these groups are destroyed, as there is now evident danger, there will cease to be great leaders, and mob-mindedness will prevail.

FOR CHILDREN'S HEALTH.

Mrs. Collier spoke in behalf of the Child's Health Educational Association and announced the coming of Cho-Cho, the health clown, and Sallie Lucas Jean, the famous nurse who has conducted campaigns of health in the eastern cities. She will appear in the Los Angeles public schools the third week in February.

Miss Emily Sartain, president of the Philadelphia School of Designs for Women, who is a well known mezzotint engraver and artist was another honor guest at the luncheon.

FALL ON ICE BREAKS ARM.

Was it auto-suggestion or the fact that the pavement was slippery with ice that caused Mrs. Christie Deal, 733 Tehunga avenue, to fall yesterday and break her arm, marking what is perhaps the first accident of the kind in the history of Los Angeles?

The accident occured in front of the Robertson-Cole Studio on Melrose avenue. The pavement had evidently been sprinkled the night before and a thin coating of ice glazed the sidewalk yesterday morning.

"Someone is likely to fall and get all broken up here," remarked Mrs. Deal as she carefully picked her way along the sidewalk and less than a minute afterward she slipped and fell, sustaining a fracture of the right wrist.

Several actors and actresses, who saw the accident, assisted Mrs. Deal to the office of Dr. W. L. Guy, who set and dressed the injured limb.

EVANGELINE BOOTH RECEPTION PLANNED.

SALVATION ARMY COMMANDER WILL ADDRESS THREE LOS ANGELES MEETINGS.

Plans for the reception next month of Evangeline C. Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, when she arrives in Los Angeles upon her return from Honolulu, are being arranged under the direction of Brig. C. R. Boyd, divisional commander of the organization for Southern California.

Brig. Boyd announced yesterday that Harry Chandler will preside at the meeting scheduled for Miss Booth at the Trinity Auditorium at 2:30 p.m., February 19, when she will talk on "The World's Greatest Romance." At a night meeting on the same date Miss Booth will speak at the Philharmonic Auditorium. On the following day she will address present and former members of the Salvation Army at Blanchard Hall.

Before her arrival in this city Miss Booth will give a lecture February 16, at Recreation Center Auditorium, Santa Barbara. Judge Robert Canfield will be chairman of the meeting. The new Salvation Army Citadel at Long Beach will be opened by the commander February 21, 2 p.m. At 8 p.m. the same day she will speak at the Long Beach auditorium. Charles Henderson, president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, will be chairman of the meeting.

Meetings also have been arranged for San Diego, where Miss Booth will speak at the First Baptist Church, and Pasadena at the Presbyterian Church on East Colorado street. She will visit Pasadena February 22 and San Diego February 26.

"FIELD DAY" TO AID STARVING ORPHANS.

SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED TOMORROW IN COVINA AND BALDWIN PARK.

In an effort to obtain funds with which to help stem the tide of starvation which is sweeping over Southern Russia and the Near East, a "Field Day" for the benefit of orphans will be conducted in Covina and Baldwin Park Churches tomorrow:

Meetings tomorrow to be addressed by relief speakers are:

Methodist Sunday-school; Baptist morning services — Miss Elise Truran.

Presbyterian Sunday - school; Christian Church morning services; Baldwin Park M. E. evening services—Dr. Dana W. Bartlett.

"Alice in Hungerland," the Near East Relief educational film, will be shown in connection with the Baldwin Park Methodist evening services.

NOT PREPAREDNESS.

If the government permits railway porters to wander around alone of nights with million-dollar mail sacks in their possession it ought to lose one once in a while.

WHO IS LOONY NOW?

The Sanity League has been organized all over the country for the purpose of fighting the Volstead Act and demanding full freedom for wine and beer. The prohibitionists want to know where they get that "sanity" idea.

THE FEAR OF MEN.

If Lenin goes to the Genoa conference he wishes to take a large bodyguard with him. The Czar could not have asked any more. Whether it is autocracy or democracy, monarchy or soviet, the bodyguard goes on the same.

NO ALLIANCES.

The United States will not be represented at the economic conference in Genoa if the thing can be prevented by that hardy quartette of Senatorial musketeers, Johnson, Borah, La Follette and Reed. They would rather have battle than conference anyhow.

AMBITION REALIZED.

Man came in from the range the other day and said that he had heard something about the new woman and wanted to get him one. It is reasonably certain that he will accomplish this purpose without much elapsed time. The new woman will see to that.

DOMESTIC NOTE.

A St. Louis colonel was arrested while unloading twenty cases of Scotch whisky at his home. He said he was just laying it in for his wedding. A man with that much ardent spirits could almost forget that he was married. The government said that he could have liquor for medicinal, but not matrimonial purposes.

HOW TO GET IT.

Senators favor a bonus bill, but do not know where the money is coming from. Does that make any difference? Usually legislators are ready to appropriate money without any particular regard for how it is to be found. They might pass a bonus bill to be met by "any unappropriated funds." That clause used to cover a multitude of frailties.

EXCITEMENT IS OVER.

The second Arbuckle trial is not creating much excitement in San Francisco. Even the lady vigilantes are not fighting for admission to the courtroom. The moral issue is as great as ever, but the fresh tang of notoriety is missing. It is suspected that some of the club women were not seeking justice and morality so much as they were spice and the limelight.

WHEELS GO ROUND.

There were 638,923 touring cars licensed in California last year to say nothing of tractors, trucks and other gasoline go-bodies. The license fees collected by the State automobile department reached $6,500,000, most of which is supposed to go toward the maintenance of the public highways. In another year California will lead the world in the proportion of autos to population. Los Angeles is believed to hold the record for large cities already.

BROTHERS DIVIDED.

Dr. Wilbur Crafts, our busy and bustling reformer, is afraid that we are to have film government by Will H. Hays. We hardly think so, but at that would vastly prefer it to government by Dr. Wilbur Crafts. That would be one continual round of spying and peeping. Dr. Crafts says that Hays is a Presbyterian elder and he himself is a Presbyterian preacher, yet he objects to giving Hays authority over the films. Can't the Presbyterians trust one another?

TURKISH MORALS.

Dr. Wilbur Crafts, the world's pet reformer, says that America is being inundated by a wave of Turkish immorality. It is hoped that this is not to be blamed upon prohibition. We are a bit curious, anyhow. Does he mean that we are running to harems and pantalettes or does he mean that the dancing girls are in our midst? It is not so long ago that the reformers were warning us of the dangers of Paris. Now we must look out for Constantinople. These entangling alliances that really entangle are something fierce. If we are to be bitten by houris we want to know it.

"TURKISH IMMORALITY."

Dr. Wilbur Crafts says this country is tending dangerously towards "Turkish immorality."

He did not seem to be optimistic, yet we must remember that the Turks are famous for their temperance—in fact, their religion makes Turkey "dry" without any Eighteenth Amendment. Of course the Turks probably have other vices—which seems inconceivable since the demon alcohol has been saddled with the responsibility for all of them. But whatever they are, Dr. Crafts is convinced we have caught them since prohibition.

But after all, abstemiousness is the virtue the wowsers most highly prize, so if our present immorality is mainly Turkish, prohibition must be working better than they could have hoped.

GOOD INTENTIONS MISAPPLIED.

Good intentions emanating from a false premise are apt to do a vast amount of harm. Stupid but sincere advocates of reform have probably occasioned as much misgovernment in the large cities of the United States as unscrupulous, but intelligent politicians; for it is upon those who are honest but credulous or unversed in the direction of public affairs that the domagogues and grafters prey.

There has never yet been a crooked political ring that did not draw a considerable part of its support from honest men and women who failed to discriminate between what was plausible and what was truthful. Los Angeles has had even more than its share of this kind of misgovernment during the last ten years. It has suffered from a plague of uplifters who elevated what should in reality have been cast down.

Civic associations, whatever the intent of the members, are beneficial or harmful to the community, according to the quality of experiance, intelligence and disinterestedness of their leaders. A striking example of good intentions misapplied on the part of one of these local associations, the Municipal League, has recently been called to the attention of The Times. The first of the present month the league issued a pamphlet containing a brief summary of its year's activities; and, lo, among the greatest of its boasted achievements is heralded its support of the secret sale of the Edison power bonds. To quote from the pamphlet:

> The league defended, after careful investigation, the manner of sale of the $13,500,000 power bonds for the purchase of the Edison distributing system, which had been authorized by vote of the people, and when such sale was under attack by a member of the City Council and a local paper.

Since that pamphlet was issued the Supreme Court of the State has handed down a decision which nullifies the sale of those bonds, because it was contrary to the avowed will of the people. It indorsed the attitude of "a local paper," which happened to be The Times, and a "member of the City Council," referring to Mr. Mushet. At the secret sale, to which the league lent its active support, the bonds were sold at a discount of more than $1,500,000. Now the bonds are to be advertised and resold at public auction, in which there will be no favored bidders and questions of campaign expenses of defeated candidates will not interfere.

If the campaign of the Municipal League had been successful the taxpayers of the city would be at least $3,000,000 out of pocket, and a group of bankers and politicians would have made a large profit.

At no time since the Edison bonds were voted has The Times opposed their sale. We questioned editorially the advisability of purchasing the Edison distributing plant before we had developed sufficient hydro-electric power on the aqueduct to operate it. But a majority of the people voted for the purchase, and The Times bowed without making wry faces to the will of the majority. The bonds have been voted for a specific purpose and they should be sold and the money applied to the fulfillment of that purpose.

But The Times did protest with all the vigor at its command at their secret sale at a heavy discount to one preferred purchaser. The Times now favors their immediate sale at public auction, with the widest possible publicity, in order that as great a premium may be secured. It has no sympathy with those who are bringing trivial suits to block the purchase of the Edison distributing system. Let the bonds be sold and the contract made by the city fulfilled; but let there be no star chamber proceedings and no political participation.

If the Municipal League were as well advised as it is well intentioned, it would have led the fight against the consummation of the secret sale to the Hellman syndicate. Instead, it was enrolled among those who gave comfort and support to the interests seeking to perpetrate what was obviously a political deal. Perhaps a majority of its members will learn from their blunder in defending the secret bond sale to investigate more carefully, in the future, measures to which a little self-seeking group in the league lend such ready support.

MOTORISTS' STREET INTERSECTION TROUBLES.

Two motorcycle officers hid behind some trees at the corner of Vermont and Melrose avenues Wednesday morning and fattened their list of arrests for the week. It was 6 o'clock a.m. and cold, but the scattered and shivering string of motorists who happened to pass this point were held up, arrested, tagged and sent on their way considerably warmed up.

Vermont is a wide, clear street. Melrose avenue is torn up on the east side of Vermont so that motor traffic is impossible. On the other side wide stretches of vacant lots give a perfect view of the corner. If a man were asked to pick one of the safest street intersections in Los Angeles he would probably mention Vermont and Melrose. The chances for motor accidents at any time of the day are small. Yet on this cold, early morning unfortunate motorists who crossed this corner were arrested for not showing proper caution.

There are hundreds of street intersections in the city that need watching more than this one. But these two motorcycle officers hid behind some trees on this particular safe corner and passed out tags.

This sort of thing, gentlemen of the Los Angeles police department, does not tend to cut down motor accidents nor does it gain any warm co-operation from citizens. Public safety depends on public sentiment. To pass up dozens of dangerous crossings for a really safe one where the average driver would see no reason on earth for reducing his speed, is scarcely wise.

It seems that motorcycle officers should be able to mix a little judgment in with their authority. And if they can't, someone higher up should mix in the judgment for them.

These two officers at Vermont and Melrose may have been exercising their keenest judgment, but to the average motorist it looked like a palpable effort to enlarge the list of names on some one's arrest sheet.

When a man speeds across a dangerous crossing he should be arrested and he knows it. When a shivering motorist is jogging down a deserted street on his way to work and is held up from ambush, it doesn't generate any heated enthusiasm for the law.

THE LUXURY OF GRAND OPERA

It had long been realized that grand opera was a luxury, but until the report of the Chicago Opera Association showed a deficit of half a million for a ten-weeks' season, we had not quite appreciated how much a luxury it was to the promoters as well as to the public.

Yet there are enough benevolent people with a passionate faith in the necessity of grand opera to not only undertake to meet this immense deficit, but also to risk a further one on a New York season for the same company. Mr. and Mrs. McCormick have undertaken to underwrite this half a million deficit, and to stand by the loss in New York, which is casually mentioned as being a possible quarter of a million more.

In a country understood to worship the almighty dollar and to be steeped in materialism, the luxury of grand opera, when it so seriously affects the pockets of its promoters' seems to be an anomaly—staggering musical altruism. These promoters evidently feel that America must have grand opera or die and they stand ready to provide the salvation. Yet obviously to an ungrateful public, or perchance an economical public, which does not feel it can afford the price of its own musical salvation.

The deficit is explained as largely due to the high salaries of the participants, who receive from $200 to $1500 a week, apparently whether they sing or not, and to the meager support of the public, who either did not sufficiently crave that type of music or could not afford to indulge their craving, the seats being considerably more expensive than for a good picture show.

If, therefore, the promoters feel that grand opera is such a necessary luxury that they are willing to stand for these enormous deficits, one can't help wondering if it might not be more altruistic to throw the operahouses open at popular prices and see whether an ungrateful public will support them if it isn't too exacting on their pockets—discover, in short, whether the patient will take his elevating medicine and benefit by its influence if it is brought down to his price. If so, there will be ample justification for paying glamorful stars still more glamorful salaries, but otherwise the altruistic promoters would seem to be expending their altruism in vain. One naturally admires effective altruism more enthusiastically.

It isn't only America that suffers these losses in the production of grand opera. Oscar Hammerstein went broke trying to make the English appreciate grand opera, and so did Thomas Beecham. And always the public is blamed—that public which could not afford to pay the dizzy salaries of the stars, who the promoters think are worth it but the public apparently doesn't. But no one has yet tried putting on first-class grand opera at popular prices. There have been several companies which played to popular prices, but they were not "first class"—and second rate opera is not necessarily what altruistic promoters want to produce to carry out their elevating aspirations. We have always been taunted with the fact that the German public supports its grand operas with enthusiasm—but German opera, first-class opera, is cheap—which is one sure route to public popularity, other things being equal.

It might offend the dignity and prestige of the grand opera stars to accept lower salaries, but at least they wouldn't starve. And if, indeed, grand opera is so essential to the uplift and well-being of the people, they could prove it better by allowing the people an opportunity to judge. At present grand opera is produced for millionaires or at least the tolerably wealthy—and the millionaires have not shown themselves grateful, except on "first nights" when they could show their jewels and cull social eclat therefrom. When grand opera is produced for ordinary people at ordinary prices, promoters would be much more likely to find that gratitude their hearts so crave. In the meantime if grand opera is an essential luxury, it is fortunate that we have our altruists. Mary Garden has promised that the New York season shall not pile up a greater deficit than $250,000. One hopes the altruistic promoters will at least be grateful if she keeps her word. And to think it is all being lavished, this grand opera uplift, on the rich!

RECLAIMING TIDELANDS.

Much has been printed about the reclamation of lands that not long ago were marked on maps as forming a part of "the great American desert." A subject no less interesting is that of the driving back of the sea in harbors like Los Angeles and San Francisco, to mention only two. Old-timers can remember when lands at our port which are now of great value were submerged. The same is true of San Francisco. In the days of the Forty-niners the tide came up to Montgomery street, which is now a considerable distance from the Ferry Building. Much reclamation remains to be done at Los Angeles Harbor and even more will be accomplished in San Francisco Bay. They are talking up there of grasping from the bay no fewer than 40,000 acres of tidelands along the San Mateo county shore between San Francisco and what is known as the Dumbarton cut-off. It is proposed to create an industrial territory capable of providing for a city of 3,000,000 people. If the scheme is feasible, Los Angeles will wish it success.

In the columns of The Times a few days ago a banker set forth the view that there is plenty of room in California for two large cities, one in the north and the other in the south. As a matter of fact there is space for more than that number. Los Angeles has climbed to the position of the largest city on the Pacific Coast. On the way up it was sometimes pelted from above by the California city which formerly led it. But we have no ill feelings against San Francisco for its jeers at our harbor, our tourists and our industrial growth. The combination, aided by climatical and other advantages, has placed us at the top and we expect to remain there. Nevertheless we are glad to encourage projects for the development of the north, which will always find Los Angeles its sincere friend.

THE GOVERNOR'S SLICKNESS.

Mellifluous, apologetic, pleading for approbation, Gov. Stephens has not added anything worth while to the State's highway system, but he afforded amusement to the convention of real estate men in his defense of his own failure. By way of answering criticism hurled at him from all quarters for the condition of many of our highways, he denounced his critics for their "blatant blasting" of the roads. "Blatant blasting," like a noisy noise, or big bigness, may not mean much to the average citizen, but it evidently came from his very heart. Probably the blasting which his highway policy has received had a double-barreled sound in his ears, echo crowding on explosion, as it were.

But for all his web of words, he showed that he has made some profound discoveries, which he now stands ready to give to an eager world. He has found that "nothing built by human hands can be perfect." He has also learned that "No grouch can succeed as a realty man." In his next speech we can expect him to accept and applaud the universe.

He likewise showed how versatile he is in his admiration. Just as he declared some time ago, before lawyers, that lawyers are the greatest benefactors of the race, so, before realtors, he found realtors to be the most important factors in our life. He has a habit of making these discoveries about doctors, when addressing doctors, about nurses when speaking before nurses, about teachers when before educators, and about school children when appearing before the young, and so on without limit, so long as he has an audience.

Thus, packing a heavy vocabulary and having an endless number of things to explain away, he goes up and down the State—seeking whom he may lull to sleep!

RIPPLING RHYMES.

SYMPATHY.

The cold winds roar against the door, and sleet and snow are flying, and my Aunt Kate remarks, "Some skate is doubtless freezing, dying. Some homeless wight is out tonight in all this blowsy blizzard; the dawn will find him dead and blind, or I'm a tin-horn wizard." The room is warm and my fat form on cushions soft is resting, and I would spend the evening's end in singing and in jesting. For comfort's mine, I sleep and dine, conditions all are pleasing; why should I care how others fare outdoors, where things are freezing? But my Aunt Kate, as sad as fate, is murmuring and sighing; "It is a sin to sit within, when poor lost boobs are dying. Ah, hear that cry! Some luckless guy for succor now is yelling, so let us go across the snow and bring him to our dwelling." So winter nights to me are frights, they keep my wet tears falling; for my Aunt Kate is simply great at hearing phantoms calling. My good Aunt Kate, she sits up late, and leaves her tea untasted; she makes me sore, for it's a bore when sympathy is wasted. I'll gladly aid the gent decayed or any one who suffers; but it's a shame for man or dame to fake up luckless duffers.

WALT MASON.

JAPANESE PSYCHOLOGY.

BY ARTHUR L. MACKAYE.

When Japan received the invitation to send delegates to the Washington conference for the limitation of armaments the Elder Statesmen smiled politely and accepted the honor of appearing as one of the five great nations of the world. They did not for one moment believe that the military or naval prestige of the empire would be limited. Then, like a bolt from a thunder cloud of concrete fact came the proposed disarmament plan by Secretary of State Hughes. Japan tingled throughout every department with the shock. Following came the four-power entente for the peace of the Pacific and the Far East. And now Japan trembles with the fear of enforced peace.

What is the strange psychology which leads the island empire of the Mikado to denounce the United States for its activities for peace?

It is the mental condition induced by the most marvelous national development, within a short time, ever shown by any nation in the history of the world.

Hardly fifty years ago Japan was an almost unknown quantity, internationally; now she is one of the three great maritime nations and the dominant power in Asia and the eastern Pacific. How did it happen?

It is not through peace that Japan has arisen to her present rank among the nations; it is the concentration of 2000 years of intense martial conditions, whereby the only honored class among the Japanese for centuries has been the warrior class.

And now Japan is threatened with peace!

Only thirty years ago—one short generation—Japan was considered principally as a funny little island empire devoted to the cultivation of chrysanthemums and cherry blossoms, with a special penchant for artistic lacquer work and the manufacture of raw silk; the latter a particularly interesting fact.

The empire of Japan in 1891 was practically the same as since the time the Japanese had conquered the aboriginal Ainos in the north.

Then followed the war with China; and suddenly, Japan found that this little war, in which she had so easily beaten her monstrous antagonist, had netted her a standing among the nations, had brought her increased territory, the first in a thousand years; had opened the door to almost unimagined opportunity and prosperity. Only the combined pressure of Russia, Germany and Great Britain prevented Japan from seizing that opportunity in all its aspects.

The fact that she had won victory confirmed the Japanese people in their belief that might was right.

The fact that stronger nations were able to deprive her of some of the fruits of that victory convinced the Japanese people that only might was able to enforce right.

Then came the war with Russia and immense expansion and added power for Japan. The empire of the Mikado became the dominating power in the Far East.

Other nations rubbed their eyes and sat up and took particular notice. Great Britain hastened to make a treaty with this new international force, a treaty which has given Japan a free hand in China and the East for many years.

Then came the great war with Germany. Once more Japan emerged with added prestige and power, and with such a preponderance of influence and position in Shantung and Siberia as has suddenly caused all the other nations of the world to look with new eyes of fear, admiration and respect on this people of the cherry blossoms.

And now Japan believes that the United States has conspired to limit the activities of the empire, to curtail its expansion and prosperity, won by the sword. It believes the United States is envious of this growth of her Pacific neighbor and, through peace—an enforced peace—would stultify her recent victories and seizure of territory.

The psychology of the Japanese people has been molded, not only by the worship of martial honor for 2000 years, but has had this dominance of the sword confirmed by the recent events of the past thirty years, which brought Japan up from a negligible unit, internationally, to one of the three great maritime powers of the world, with a prospect in the future of becoming the greatest military force, not only in the Far East, but in the whole world.

And now she is threatened with peace!

To the Japanese this fact is more terrible than to be threatened with war.

It will take many victories of peace in the future to cause the psychology of the Japanese people to become aligned with the spirit of the United States, and to:

"Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Thrift Opportunity Exhausted.

Sandy was sitting in the bar parlor before the fire discussing with his friend the ways of mean men.

"One of the closest men I ever met," he said, "was a chap called Ferguson. He smoked a cigar (if it was given him) to the last half inch, chewed the stump and used the ash for snuff. But he grew dissatisfied and gave up smoking in the end."

"What for?" asked Sandy's friend.

"He couldn't think of any way to utilize the smoke, poor laddie!"—[Edinburgh Scotsman.

PEN POINTS

By the Editor

There is mighty little [illegible] getting back to normalcy when it snows in Santa Ana.

There is a "buy-o-lidays" movement on in Germany. It refers to the German mark.

It is possible that Senator Denton is not dead, but a man of the same name certainly is.

The worst is yet to come for President Griffith of the Irish Free State. He has a lot of promises to fill.

Atty.-Gen. Daugherty says that there has been a heavy reduction in rents throughout the country. A scoop, a palpable scoop.

There is to be a conference of western Governors to devise means to stop the dope evil. Well, they can make a start.

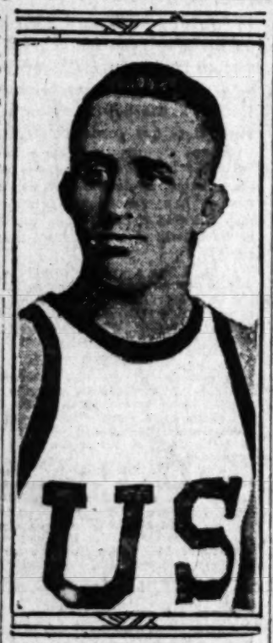
Inter-Allied Wrestling Champ Begging Hard for a Chance at Local Middleweight's Title.

Another chesty challenge has been hurled at Walter Miller, L.A.A.C. middleweight, who holds the grappling championship of the world in his weight. This time it is Paul Prehn, wrestling and boxing instructor of the University of Illinois, who craves a match with our local wonder, and it looks as though he will get what he wants. Prehn is planning an invasion of the Pacific Coast in the near future and is booking contests all over the territory, but he is hoping and praying for a chance at Miller's title.

Prehn's principal excuse for fame is the middleweight championship of the inter-Allied armies, which he won at Paris in 1919. He has an enviable record in the East, having pinned down such men as Jack Reynolds, Charlie Peterson, Ralph Parcout, Matty Matsuda, Jack Hagensick and Bull Smith. He recently scrapped to a draw with Johnny Meyers, which indicates the class of the challenger.

A match between these two experts would undoubtedly draw a record crowd, as both are top-notchers. Brother Walter is always anxious to take on any challenger whose record is sufficiently good to warrant a match, and in all likelihood he will accept Prehn's offer enthusiastically.



Walter Prehn.

ANNOUNCE TROJAN'S SCHEDULE.

U.S.C.'s Track Meet With California Will Conflict With A.A.U. Doings.

Unless U.S.C.'s track team can arrange some method of competing in two sections of the State on the same day the Trojans will have to either withdraw from the A.A.U. championships at Occidental, April 15, or cancel their date with the California varsity. The U.S.C. track schedule, which was announced yesterday, has this said conflict and Graduate Manager announced yesterday, that this sad Gwynn Wilson is trying to decide which would be the best to leave out.

There is some talk of moving the A.A.U. date up to April 29, but inasmuch as most of the high schools of the south have meets scheduled for that day, and as it would be necessary for the college athletes to keep in training for several weeks after the close of the intercollegiate season, such a step is not liable to be taken.

The Trojans tried to fix things by changing their date with the Northern institution to April 8, but the Southern California Conference had already scheduled a track meet for that day, so it looks as though U.S.C. is out of luck.

Following are the track and baseball schedules for the local university as announced yesterday:

Feb. 18—A.A.U. relay carnival at Redlands.
March 18—California at Bovard Field.
March 25—Stanford at Bovard Field.
April 1—U.S.C. at Pomona (tentative.)
April 8—Open.
April 15—Stanford at Palo Alto.
April 22—California at Berkeley and A.A.U. at Occidental.

Jan. 28—Occ at Occ.
Feb. 3—L.A.A.C. at L.A.A.C.
Feb. 7—Whittier at Whittier (tentative.)
Feb. 9—Arizona at Tucson.
Feb. 10—Arizona at Tucson.
Feb. 14—Open.
Feb. 18—California at Berkeley (tentative.)
Feb. 21—Occ at U.S.C.
Feb. 24—Arizona at U.S.C.
Feb. 25—Arizona at U.S.C.
Feb. 28—U.S.C. at U.S.C. (tentative.)

MAJOR LEAGUERS PLAY GIANTS TODAY.

There will be plenty of excitement at the White Sox park this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon, when Irish Meusel's major leaguers and White's colored Giants mix in the third and fourth games of an eight-game series. Each team won a game last week, with but one run to spare. The White Sox park is located on East Fourth street, just over the bridge. Play starts at 2:30 o'clock sharp.

The line-ups follow:

MURPHYS TO PLAY LONG BEACH NINE.

Ford Tully and Heinie Scholes, two high local semipros, have been signed by the Gene Murphy ball club to oppose the pitching staff of the Long Beach Elks tomorrow afternoon, at Long Beach.

The game will be a hotly contested affair, and will be in division AA of the Managers' Association. The Knock 'em Dead nine also has signed Al Miller to play first base. Last year Miller was a pitcher, and hurled the Pacific Ready-Cuts to a championship

YOUNG BROWN GETS DECISION.

Wins Clinching Championship from Monk Fowler.

Hollywood Legion Feature Tame Contest.

Silva Outboxes O'Vargas in the Semi-Wind-up.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Young Brown won the clinching championship of Hollywood last night from Monk Fowler before a surprisingly large crowd, considering the frigid night. Brown was the aggressor throughout and had it not been for this activity there probably would not have been a wind-up affair. The lads were locked three-quarters of the journey and in these lockings, Brownie usually came out on top.

In the last two rounds, Monk was inclined to hold his opponent's gloves under his arms but when Brown pulled free, he volleyed Fowler's body to a fare-ye-well. Brown had Fowler's mouth pretty well bruised up in the last round and drew the claret. The decision to Brown was just.

FALSE ALARM.

Terry O'Vargas, supposed to be a formidable importation from San Francisco, did fairly well against Teddy Silva in the opening round of the semi-wind-up, but from that time on, Silva took the lead, using a left to the face at long range and a right uppercut, to good advantage. The setto was rather tame and elicited some groaning from the fans. Silva was rightly awarded the decision.

Sailor Biss got in bad with his fellow-gobs of the good ship Idaho by running out of his match with Gene Cline. The sailor gave no reason for the action. The lads of the Idaho claimed it was the first time any of their crew every dodged a match and were much miffed over the affair. Carl Mackey substituted for Biss and got a good trimming.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Jimmy Dunning-Harry Fox, draw; Sailor Martinez whipped Johnny Conde; Jimmy Barry beat Young Hoppe and Michael Kilbane defeated Freddie Ellis.

PITCHERS TO REACH HERE FEBRUARY 16.

The pitchers and catchers of William Wrigley's Chicago Cubs will arrive in Los Angeles on February 16, according to Oscar Bischow, sporting editor of the Chicago News, who is here as advance agent for the team. March 1 is the date for the arrival of the main body of the team, who like the battery men, will immediately on their arrival, leave for Catalina, where a new and spacious training camp has just been completed.

BASKETERS WANT A JUNIOR LEAGUE.

The success of the inter-church basketball league in which twenty-four teams are competing weekly at the central Y.M.C.A. gymnasium has led to a demand for the organization of a Junior League for such teams as cannot qualify in the unlimited class. Officials from the various churches interested in the formation of a legue limited to boys from 14 to 17 years of age will meet tonight for dinner at 5:30 in the Y.M.C.A. Cafeteria.

LOWELL IS SUPPORTED BY VARSITY OFFICIALS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, and David O. Robertson, dean of arts and literature at the University of Chicago, made public today statements in which they supported, to a certain extent, the attitude assumed by President A. L. Lowell of Harvard on football as it relates to college education.

President Lowell, in his annual report made public Wednesday, asserted that public interest in football had tended to give excessive importance to college athletic contests. "The general statement made by President Lowell was a bold and courageous one," Dean Robertson said. "The only thing in the statement with which I do not agree is the patronizing attitude of Harvard toward some of the smaller institutions which it meets athletically.

HINDERS WORK.

"I do not believe in intersectional football, for the reason that trips take too much time from the school work. We have had a good instance of this in the trip made to Princeton last fall. Although we were pleased with the results of the game, we were not altogether pleased with the way in which it hindered the school work of the men who made the trip."

President Scott declared that the American colleges do not exist for the sake of Latin or of football.

"We believe in intercollegiate athletics and intercollegiate Latin," President Scott said. "We judge that if either of these is made an end in itself, it assumes a position of importance detrimental to the interests for which our colleges exist."

San Diego Five Will Take on L.A.A.C. Lads

Some new faces will grace the basketball court of the Los Angeles Athletic Club this evening. The husky athletes representing the San Diego Y.M.C.A. will attempt to set the club basketeers down with a crash.

Information regarding the merits of the border town team indicate that the local quintet will have a large evening on their hands. The visitors have rolled up a total of 311 points while their opponents have scored only ninety-four.

The San Diego team is composed of men who have been playing the casaba game for years, while their coach, F. A. Nordquist, a former Ohio star, has injected a lot of Eastern basketball tricks into their style of play.

BEAR WATCHING.

Three of the players, William Van Dusen, captain and forward, A. Ross, center and E. Brucker, will bear watching, as they have been the outstanding stars of the team throughout the season.

The local players have just hit their stride, according to Charley Keppen, and some high-class shooting is expected when they line up against the San Diegans. The L.A.A.C. players last week took the measure of St. Ignatius, 38 to 16, and the other night drubbed Redlands University, 41 to 19.

LONESTAR DIETZ GETS THE HOOK.

knowing where he would coach. Admits he carried on negotiations for contests with Purdue and two other institutions, his contract expired Nov. 30, 1921, and we were about to renew contract when your first telegram was received. Purdue does not countenance such actions, and will not employ Dietz, Hanley or anyone else with arbitrary ideas. Boys mentioned in your telegram will not be permitted to enter Purdue. Thank you cordially for information furnished.

"H. W. MARSHALL."

PRAISES PURDUE.

Prof. Ayer expressed keen appreciation of Purdue's attitude in the matter. He said he was positive that colleges all over the country are opposed to the methods adopted by Dietz, and expressed the opinion that individuals themselves offtimes carried on the negotiations with western stars.

"President Purdue University, LaFayette, Ind.: Just came to my attention that Richard Hanley, Pendleton, Or., offered position as assistant coach at Purdue next year and authorized to secure and bring with him six or eight best Northwest football players. Following this, three Everett (Wash.) High School boys offered jobs. George Wilson offered $100 per month nominal job. Coach Dietz forwarded $100. Deposited in Everett bank for traveling expenses, boy not yet through high school, and to attend high school there, preliminary to entering Purdue. This is flagrant case of proselyting and suggest immediate investigation and action. Preferring your action rather than report to Big Ten Conference, and National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"LESLIE J. AYER."

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 20.—Announcement of authorities at Purdue University that William (Lonestar) Dietz, head football coach, would not be retained, following charges that he had offered salaries to Oregon and Washington high school athletes to play football at Purdue, "only proves that Middle Western colleges are in earnest in their efforts to keep intercollegiate athletics healthy," Prof. Leslie Ayer, Pacific Coast representative of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said today.

The charges against Dietz were contained in a telegram sent Acting President Henry W. Marshall of Purdue, by Mr. Ayer, January 16. Mr. Ayer asserted that high school players in Seattle, Everett and Sedro Woolley, Wash., and Pendleton, Or., had been approached with salary offers by Dietz, and that in one case $100 had been placed to an Everett (Wash.) player's account for traveling exenses to Lafayette.

McGRAW SIGNS LONG CONTRACT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—President Stoneham of the New York National League Club announced today that John McGraw has signed a contract to manage the Giants for the next five years.

McGraw's new salary was not announced, but Mr. Stoneham said it was in excess of the $50,000 yearly specified in the old contract. McGraw also will remain vice-president of the club of which he is now the third largest stockholder.

The veteran manager will celebrate his twentieth anniversary as leader of the Giants next July.

GOLFERS TO HOLD TOURNEY.

Pasadena Club to Open Invitational Affair Today for Hotel Guests.

The first of the big winter golfing events planned for the entertainment of visiting golfers in Southern California is to be staged at the Pasadena Golf Club, today, with an invitation tournament for the guests of the Southern California hotels. Invitations have been extended to the guests of all the large hotels in the southern part of the State and responses already received attest the popularity of this act of hospitality on the part of the Pasadena Golf Club which will enable the visitors to take part in tournament play.

Jack Croke, manager of the Pasadena club, has announced that the tournament will be governed by handicap medal play for thirty-six holes and that entries will be received up to the time of teeing off during the play on Saturday, and that two handsome trophies will be awarded, one to the winner, and the other to the runner-up. Croke says that arrangements have been made that will avoid any crowding of the course and all who desire to enter will be taken care of even up to the last moment, and asks that all entries or inquiries be addressed to him at the Pasadena club.

This invitation tournament is the first of a series of events at the Pasadena club which will be open to visiting golfers, in keeping with the policy of the officers of the club to open the course to visiting golfers and to give them every opportunity to enjoy their favorite sport during the open play or the winter months in Southern California.

COMPTON LOOMS AS BAY LEAGUE CHAMP.

Compton's flashy basketball heavers trounced Venice High's hopefuls yesterday afternoon at the beach city 30 to 10, thereby retaining their undefeated record. At present Compton, Huntington Park and Wilmington are deadlocked for the leadership of the league. Compton is considered the strongest of the three, and is likely to cop the Bay League laurels.

Compton—		Venice—

GIBBONS MOST LOGICAL OPPONENT FOR DEMPSEY

Expert Believes Tommy's Record Entitles Him to a Shy at the Championship Crown.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, says Tommy Gibbons is too old to fight Dempsey. Is Kearns trying to alibi Gibbons? Is Dempsey the greatest fighter of all time?

Jack Dempsey is about 24 years old. Tommy Gibbons is just reaching 30. What about Jack Britton, the present holder of the welterweight title, who is nearing 40? Ted (Kid) Lewis, who is well past 30, is the holder of both the welterweight and middleweight titles of England. Jeffries was 35 when he fought Jack Johnson at Reno, and Johnson was 32. Dempsey was just reaching 35 when he won the title from Jim Corbett at Carson City. Gibbons is some years younger than any of those champions and nearly twenty-five pounds lighter than Dempsey.

In comparing the records of Dempsey and Gibbons, the latter has fully as good a record for a light heavyweight as Jack has for the heavy class.

STOPS WILLIE.

Dempsey boxed Billy Miske twice, drew the first contest in ten rounds and after Miske had recovered from a long spell of sickness, he boxed the champion again and got knocked out in three rounds.

Gibbons boxed Miske three times for ten rounds each and won each time, and in the last two contests with him, he held him up several times to save him from being knocked out, which he might have done at any time.

After Miske was beaten by Dempsey, he beat Brennan in ten rounds. Tommy Gibbons says he never could get Brennan to box him, yet Brennan was quite willing to take the chance with Jack on two occasions. Gibbons took a ten-round decision from Madden after breaking his left hand in the first round and Madden did a lot of stalling to stick it out in that contest. Then Madden beat Fred Fulton in ten rounds and Dempsey has refused to meet Fulton again. Kearns claims they would not draw any money.

SOME KAYOS.

In comparing the string of knockout records of the two men, Gibbons has twenty-one in succession to his credit while Jack has about a dozen or fifteen to his. Some claim that many of Gibbons's knockouts were setups for him. What about Dempseys? A prominent sporting man in Los Angeles claims to have met a man by the name of Ross, up in Butte, Mont., sometime ago, who boasted that Jack Dempsey had knocked him out twelve times and when he told the story was just on his way to meet Dempsey again for his thirteenth. What about this, Kearns? That setup game is an old one with both the boxers and wrestlers.

Dempsey's showing with Georges Carpentier was far from a piece of high-class work, still Monsieur Descamps, manager of Carpentier, is at the present time working up a second match with Dempsey. It probably never will take place in this country, but there are plenty in both England and France who would fall for a return match. We are not hearing much from Descamps about having his champion meet Tommy Gibbons.

Gibbons has always taken the best of care of himself in every way. His brother, Mike, has made a wonderful comeback by beating many middleweights during the past year and Mike is nearing 36 years of age. Now that Harry Wills is out of the running, it looks very much as if Tommy Gibbons is the most logical man to fight Dempsey. Why not give him the chance, Kearns? I belitve it would be an interesting match and one that the fans would patronize.

TEE, FAIRWAY AND GREEN

BY "CHICK" EVANS

AMERICA'S BEST AMATEUR.

In my first article on the best amateur golfers in America I chose Bobby Jones of Atlanta, as this country's best. I now rate the others in one, two, three order—a difficult task, indeed, and one that may subject me to some criticism. Many golfers naturally will be interested to know what my years of tournament experience have led me to think of the outstanding players, and I trust that my judgments may meet with approval.

It should be borne in mind that these selections are made on a shot-making ability. Many good golfers are better at shot-making than they are at match play. Rudy Knepper, the Iowa star, is a striking example. I doubt if there is a better shot-maker in America than Knepper, who is so good that he drew the greatest praise from George Duncan, the British star. But Knepper lacks just a touch of something in the amateur tournaments, which are by match rounds—I would say he is a little too modest. And because of this factor I put Knepper in a position in my list—eighth—that may cause some wonderment to well-informed golfers. I will go into more details regarding this sterling player in a later article.

THE TEN BEST.

Robert T. Jones, Atlanta, Ga.
Jesse Guilford, Boston, Mass.
Francis Ouimet, Boston, Mass.
Robert Gardner, Chicago.
Dr. Paul Hunter, Los Angeles, Cal.
Jesse Sweetser, New York City.
Harrison Johnston, St. Paul, Minn.
Rudolph Knepper, Sioux City, Iowa.
Max Marston, Philadelphia, Pa.
George Rotan, Houston, Tex.

Jesse Guilford, the present amateur titleholder, ranks as the second best amateur golfer in America, in my judgment. One thing enables me to shade Bobby Jones as better than Guilford, and that is that in some tournaments Guilford failed even to qualify. He failed to get into the match rounds in a recent amateur championship, while he failed to score high enough to qualify in last year's national open championship in Washington.

Guilford seems to be unable to execute the stirring shots that Bobby is capable of, and yet on the whole it seems to me big Jesse is a more reliable golfer. This may be because Guilford has been at the game so long, while Jones is a comparative newcomer. Guilford has the unusual combination of great strength and utmost delicacy. He belongs to the Travers-Travis school of silent golfers.

The "Big Boston Siege Gun," who rightfully is termed the longest and hardest-hitting player in the game, is a fine example of courage and sticktoitiveness. Guilford has a lot coming to him by way of commendation for this quality. I know other golfers who had a fine foundation for championship honors who quit because of repeated defeats. Guilford met defeat after defeat, and he has known the bitterness of failing to qualify in national amateur championships without having his spirit and his will defeated. He came through it all to his present hold of the championship.

VETERAN AT GAME.

Records show that while Guilford is young in years he is a veteran golfer. I dare say the records of the Massachusetts tournaments for the last fifteen years would show Guilford's name among the contestants. In all his years of clamoring at the door of championship opportunity he was, I am sure, "knocked down and dragged out" more often than any other good player. He tasted every disappointment that could befall a good player, but each time he came back for more. Every one of us of tournament experience can name golfer after golfer who bobbed up on the horizon for a year or two, then quit and disappeared, but no one could say it of Guilford.

Guilford's game sometimes is tremendous. I don't believe any golfer on earth could have beaten him the day he won his championship last year at St. Louis. It was as if fortune had wearied of trying his patience with bad luck and disappointment and had given up in despair of ever wilting his courage. Freed from this bondage of fate, Big Jesse played like a fiend and won the championship that so long was withheld from him.

I suspect he got much of his putting ability from Ouimet, with whom he has played a great deal. I know of no one who could beat Guilford when he was expected to beat him except Jones. For the reasons I have cited I choose Guilford for second place in the big ten. I choose Ouimet for third place, and will tell why in another article.

receiving end. That was the year the Poets played their sensational but ill-fated game with California. The Poets also specialized in the "dead man's play," the "cussing play," and the series play, of which the first two are merely variations.

* * * * *

That game, it is claimed, revolutionized football at California. On this point we have the testimony of one of Berkeley's own former citizens, Prof. J. J. Jessup, and himself a former football player. Listen:

"The open play of the Poets, and especially their aerial attack, was a revelation to California. Also, they used the series play with effect. It bothered the Bears. As I recall it, the Poets completed twenty passes for a new record. And they had the game won until the last few minutes of play, when perversely the forward pass, their chief reliance, worked their downfall. Sharpe of California intercepted one of these near his own line and ran to a touchdown.

"As you will remember, up to that time California had been floundering along, and getting nowhere in particular with old line football. But with the adoption of the forward pass and series play brought up from Southern California, their ascendancy started, and reached its zenith during the past two seasons. Of course, California at that time had not fully recovered from the effects of Rugby, and Smith had to build from the ground up, but the fact remains that the south gave the north some valuable football ideas, and these are still being used."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DEL MONTE (Cal.) Jan. 20.—Word has been received from George Moore that he will enter a strong polo four for the opening tournament of the California season at Del Monte on January 28 to February 5. It is understood that Moore will play No. 1 position, Willie Tevis No. 2, Tom Driscoll No. 3 and Elmer Boeseke at back. This will make a very strong senior aggregation, as Tevis and Driscoll rank among the star players at San Mateo, and Boeseke and Moore were on the Santa Barbara team which made such a wonderful showing in the East a couple of years ago.

Hugh Drury is lining up the players who will represent Del Monte. He will try the experiment this year of transferring Eric Pedley from No. 2 to back, and he has in mind two or three aggressive horsemen for the places in the forward lines.

Carleton Burke, captain of the champion Midwick team of last season, has promised to come up to the tournament with Arthur Perkins and possibly Teddy Miller. There is also a likelihood of several other well known polo ists turning up for the matches.

The Army officers are going to play a prominent part in the tournament. The Monterey Presidio has enough players for three teams, but will probably only make entries for two of the junior events. Maj. C. P. Chandler, three-goal man, has been schooling Presidio players regularly at the Del Monte fields and has a strong five-goal combination. Maj. John A. Robenson, a hard rider, will be No. 1; Maj. Chandler at No. 2, Capt. C. A. Wilkensen, No. 3, and Capt. Joe Rogers at back. Another Monterey team will probably be made up of Capt. Pierce, Capt. Baker, Maj. B. Y. Read, Capt. V. M. Cannon or Lieut S. M. Lipman.

HAM HYATT TO PLAY AT FIRST.

First base on the Vernon club for next season has been solved by the simple process of retaining Ham Hyatt for that position.

This is the information handed out by Bill Essick, who, after looking over the field, decided the hard-hitting and reliable veteran to be the best available man for the place.

"There are plenty of good fielders, but mighty few who can slam the ball like Hyatt, or drive in as many runs," declared Essick. "Last season he was handicapped by an injury, but I expect he will be in shape after a winter's rest."

Essick has a couple of youngsters who will try out for first base, but feels certain that his final selection will be Hyatt.

Flashy Main Event Lined Up for Gobs.

Two good boys will be seen in action at the C.P.O. Club's Point Fermin arena at Los Angeles Harbor tonight, when Gene Cline, Hollywood flash, and Sailor Johnny True, the U.S.S. Nevada's all-Navy middleweight champion, clash in the main event of a six-bout card.

Cline showed considerable class in his defeat of George Levine at the Hollywood arena two weeks ago and Matchmaker Frank Crowley of the Hillside Club, is therefore putting him forward as the one man in the Southland best able to give True everything he hands out.

New Carmen Proves Good in Singing.

Carmen, Carmen, Carmen! Every few years a new Carmen! Every few years a new disappointment! Many, indeed, are lured by this role, but few are selected by the public for their idol.

Alice Gentle has been the reigning queen of the gypsy mood for several seasons here—in fact, for a decade. Even Mary Garden couldn't dislodge her, and, in such circumstances, there isn't much opportunity for Nina Frascani, who essayed the role last night with the San Carlo Opera Company.

Still, as Carmen goes, she is acceptable, if you wish to alter your viewpoint, as you may well do in the instance of a role that's as subject to the portrayer's will. But Frascani will never be an idol in the part locally—not by a long shot.

Her Carmen is nearer to Maria Gay's than it is to any other that has been heard here before. It's along the lines of breadth and thickness rather than cleverness and subtlety. Musically it is a truer Carmen than Miss Gentle's, because Miss Frascani's voice has the deeper heavier quality of tone, which brings out the strongest elements of the music. At the same time, her voice is somewhat lacking in uniformity of tone color. This interferes somewhat with her vocal performance. She deserves, however, much credit for her singing of the part.

But to play Carmen, it takes a personal adroitness, a temperamental feeling that Miss Frascani does not exhibit even if she knows what it is. She doesn't fill the center of the picture. She doesn't radiate that fullness of life which could be associated with the natural coquette.

In her dance she hardly did more that click her castanets, and made the impression of a merry-go-round running in low. Her "Habanera" and "Seguidilla" were sung, and the applause might be considered somewhat deficient as a tribute to her renditions—but again it is a question of personal appeal.

Romeo Boscacci enhanced his own vocal honors during the engagement in the role of Don Jose. He was rewarded with a burst of applause after the Flower Song. His tenor has grown considerably since last heard here.

Joseph Royer was substituted for Mario Valle as Escamillo, and made one of the big hits of the evening with the Toreador Song. His singing of it was excellent, so excellent in fact, that the audience saw fit to call for a repetition.

One high note and a beautiful one brought Josephine Lucchese one of the most notable outbursts of enthusiasm. Otherwise, it would have been as well if she had not undertaken the small role of Micaela following her Lucia. She was obviously not in good voice, nor was the part well suited to her. She is withal such a fine singer that in the face of these disadvantages she makes an impression.

Some good work by Pietro De Biasi, Manuel Perez, Natale Cervi, Frances Morosini, Edith Makie and other minor characters. But Ernesto Knoch, at the conductor's stand, seemed at times to be groping for his musical effects.

McCORD, TAKEN IN CUSTODY AT LONG BEACH, WANTED ON TEXAS CHARGE.

Charles W. McCord, who was taken into custody at Long Beach some days ago on a warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice from the northern district of Texas, furnished bond in $25,000 for his release from the County Jail yesterday.

The charge against McCord, who is also known as Mansfield, is that on Feb. 16, 1921, he caused a draft for $18,000, to be deposited in the mails at Texarkana, Tex., by the Guaranty State Bank of Texarkana, in a letter addressed to the National Bank of Commerce of New York for the purpose of Defrauding Erl B. Urmsten of that amount.

It is stated that McCord will fight his return to Texas for trial. Under the statutes he is charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

FILE PHONE COMPLAINT

Seventy-Seven Protest Against Service Given Patrons.

Seventy-seven informal complaints against the service furnished by the Southern California Telephone Company, were received and filed in the office of the State Railroad Commission here during the first seventeen days of January. "Poor and inadequate service," is given in the majority of cases as the reason for submitting the protest. In several instances it was affirmed the patrons of the telephone system were without service for a period of eighteen days. "Delayed installation," is another principal reason listed by the complainants.

Six protests were filed by residents of the Atwater tract, near Tropico, who explain that, although they live within the city limits, their telephones are placed on the Glendale exchange, necessitating the payment of toll rates whenever they are connected with another city number.

YOUTH SAYS HE DROVE AUTO TO STATION; BELIEVES MRS. BULL IS DEAD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Ralph Costa, the Ridgewood (N. J.,) youth who disappeared at the same time that Mrs. Ella Arlene Bull and her 7-year-old daughter, Lila, did, December 31, returned from Canada today, and told the police here that he did not think Mrs. Bull was alive.

Aubrey H. Bull, the woman's husband, yesterday received a telegram from Costa, who said he was returning from Toronto to aid in the hunt for Mrs. Bull. Bull and Harry E. Cole, a private detective, met the youth at the Fifty-first street police station today, and he told them he knew nothing of the whereabouts of Mrs. Bull now.

"I don't think she is alive," he said.

Mrs. Bull and her small daughter ostensibly started from their home in Ridgewood for New York to meet Bull, employed as a teller in the Harriman National Bank.

Costa said he went with them only as far as the railroad station in Hoboken, being merely requested to drive their automobile to the depot.

Mrs. Bull gave him $50 for his trouble, the youth said, and then told him not to breathe a word of her departure, stating it "would be the worse for him if he did."

According to Costa, he came to New York with the automobile. He was worried and decided it would be best to leave the car in a garage. He then went on to Canada. No charges have been made against Costa and police did not detain him.

FAVOR NEW HALL OF JUSTICE NEAR PLAZA.

Pressure will be brought to bear by the Los Angeles City Planning Association, it was stated yesterday, to have the Board of Supervisors select the site for the new Hall of Justice in a location in close proximity to the proposed Plaza union terminal improvements ordered by the State Railroad Commission.

Action looking to this was taken by the association at a meeting Thursday night, and embodied in a resolution which was adopted unanimously. It was also resolved to urge that the library board provide in the new central library a commodious auditorium for the public discussion of civic problems, and smaller ante-rooms for the study of educational topics.

FARM BUREAU DELEGATE SAYS WALLACE ACTS UNWISELY.

[BY P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FLORENCE (Ala.) Jan. 20.—Charges that the Federal government had lost approximately $1,500,000 in the last six months by not accepting Henry Ford's offer to lease the dam and operate the nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala., were made here today before the meeting of the southern group of the American Farm Bureau Federation by Gray Silber, their Washington representative.

"Mr. Ford's offer has been published to the world for months," he said, "and yet Secretary Weeks has delayed sending the offer with his recommendation to Congress, thereby encouraging other bidders to revise their bids."

Immediate resumption of construction work on the government's property at Muscle Shoals with an idea of providing an ample supply of fertilizer for American farmers was declared essentially necessary for agricultural progress by the southern group of the federation today.

The group meeting was attended by representatives from eighteen States, California being among those sending delegates.

HAS TOO MANY JOBS.

Attorney Rules Van M. Griffith Cannot Hold Two Positions.

Van M. Griffith, son of the late Col. Griffith J. Griffith, donor of Griffith Park, must give up his $150-a-month position as city park developer, City Attorney Stephens yesterday advised Mr. Griffith and the members of the City Council. If Mr. Griffith desires to retain his place on the Board of Park Commissioners, to which he was recently appointed by Mayor Cryer.

The City Attorney told the Councilmen that as the position of Park Developer was in the park department and under the direction of the Park Board, it would be illegal for Mr. Griffith to retain it and at the same time be a park commissioner. His commissionership pays no salary.

Commissioner Griffith must also give up his unpaid post as Motor Bus Commissioner, which placed him in charge of the city motor bus line which serves Griffith Park. It is probable that this position will be abolished, and that a new appointment will be made to the post of Park Developer.

Thus Mr. Griffith must relinquish two jobs, one paying $150 a month, in order to accept an unpaid commissionership.

Plead Guilty of Burglary and Kidnaping

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Jan. 20.—Six members of the oil workers' union who were indicted by the Fresno county grand jury on charges of burglary and kidnaping, withdrew their former pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty in court here today. They asked for probation. In statements made to the court, they said they were aware of overwhelming evidence against them.

E. H. Potts, A. K. Hughey and L. A. Seward pleaded guilty to charges of burglary with the intent to kidnap and kidnaping. W. J. Rader, L. R. Bryan and Oakley Warren pleaded guilty to charges of burglary with the intent to kidnap. The men were arrested in connection with the recent strike of San Joaquin Valley oil workers.

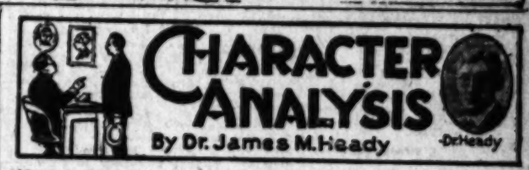
UNIVERSITY OFFERS BUSINESS COURSE.

The University of California Extension is offering a complete curriculum of professional courses in accounting, six of which are to begin before February 9. According to C. A. LeDeuc, instructor, modern business is shifting its confidence from lawyer to accountant. More and more the business man is realizing that he must keep tab on expenses, and the demand for unrefutable figures which reveal the condition of business is being supplied by the six courses in accounting offered by the State university. These classes begin next Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 6:30 p.m. in Pacific Finance Building.

Advanced accounting and auditing is scheduled for Tuesday in room 826, intermediate accounting for Thursday in 828 and cost accounting for Friday in room 826 Pacific Finance.

SAILORS ENTERTAINED.

Members of the Pathfinders and the Supremas clubs of the Y.W.C.A. entertained a group of fifteen sailors from the U.S.S. Tennessee at a dinner party Saturday evening of last week in the Blue Triangle clubrooms. The tables were decorated with flags, red, white and blue streamers and ribbon confetti, places being set for thirty. Later in the evening they enjoyed a program of games at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium, 1063 West Seventh street, remaining for the dance that followed.



[This is the fourteenth of a series of practical daily lessons in the science of human analysis—the determination of the facts of character by the appearance, the features, the handwriting, and other characteristics of any given man or woman. By them you can learn for what work in life you are suited, or, if an employer, how to "size up" an applicant unerringly, to spot the weak and the strong traits in your organization, where to promote and where to put them. Dr. Heady is a national expert of twenty years' experience in this line. He has analyzed some 15,000 people and has written and delivered many books and lectures on the subject. He studied under Dr. Meyer Bloomfield of Harvard head of the famous Vocational Guidance Bureau, the first in the country. During the war Dr. Heady was on the employing staff of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. He lectured at the San Francisco Vocational Fair and opened the first free employment office and vocational guidance bureau in Los Angeles. VOCATIONS FOR PEOPLE OF THE MOTIVE AND VITAL TEMPERAMENTS.

In my study of the various temperaments and especially in analyzing their vocational fitness, I have endeavored to emphasize the value and importance of education and training. The mental equipment of the individual is the deciding factor in the majority of instances and his brain capacity is responsible for his limitations.

Without training, a person of the mental type would be destined to be a mental drudge. A person of the motive temperament a day laborer or unskilled worker. One of the vital temperament whose natural inclination would be to direct the energies of others, or to embark on a business career, would be sadly handicapped unless properly trained.

A person of the motive temperament, or to be specific, of the mental-motive temperament would be best suited for many things mechanical. This covers, of necessity, a wide range.

Art.—The creation of pictures is basicly a mechanical pursuit and a successful artist is one with mechanical ability, but he must also be able to use his mental powers constructively in the various ramifications of this vocation.

Music.—Those who are gifted with musical talent will agree with me that the proper use of their hands is more necessary than the use of their brains. But the use of the hands alone would never be responsible for the development of a capable musician.

Mechanics.—The field of mechanical operation is unlimited, consisting of construction, manufacturing, transportation, mining, farming, etc., and it is in this realm that the degree of mentality and its development is the point of difference between the laborer and the engineer and inventor, or the boss and the man who "works" for a living.

In the limited space allotted to me a detailed explanation of the relative value of mental and physical ability would be impossible. A brief summary of some of the other vocations for which a person of the motive temperament would be adapted are: surgeon, dentist, author of mechanical and technical books, teacher of vocations, salesman of mechanical and construct products, and work in connection with transportation military and naval affairs.

The people of the vital temperament possessed of mentality, and most of them are, although many of them by reason of their natural dispositions have failed to train their minds properly, are qualified by nature to handle both people and things. They are best adapted for merchandising, organizing, and for handling financial matters.

A man of the distinctly mental-vital temperament is usually a good speaker, and finds a place in law where he is eminently qualified as a judge, or in the ministry where his poise and good judgment and other qualifications make for success. As a salesman he is usually a success because of his geniality and personality, self-confidence and optimism that enables him to handle people successfully.

To interest a person of the mental temperament show your interest in the intellectual side of things. Be careful not to irritate him because he is usually nervous and is angered by stupidity and lack of understanding. He is idealistic and interested in theories.

A person of the motive type appreciates action and is always interested in anything mechanical, and one of the vital type appreciates service without servility. In dealing with him remember that he is interested in profits and that which is profitable to him is always interesting.

For our Sunday lesson we shall begin the study of "fine" and "coarse" people, and "hard" and "soft" people.

[Note: Because of the large number of inquiries regarding these articles, Dr. Heady will answer a limited number of questions on the subject by mail, provided stamped and self-addressed envelopes are inclosed. All letters should be addressed to Dr. Heady, care of THE TIMES office.]

TWO INDICTED IN MAIL THEFT.

Federal Grand Jury Holds Wilson and Cox.

Twenty Sacks Stolen in Hold-up of Truck.

Officials Expect One to Make New Statement.

Indictments against Herbert Wilson and Herbert R. Cox, charging them with holding up Nelson R. Grimes, driver of a mail truck, on the night of March 3, last, and stealing twenty sacks of mail matter, were reported yesterday by the Federal grand jury. No estimate is given in the indictments as to the amount of loot secured by the two.

There are five counts in the indictments, and in addition to charging that the defendants threatened Driver Grimes, the same charge is made as to Jesse R. Alexander, mail clerk, in charge of the truck on the night of the robbery.

Another charge is that Cox and Wilson took the twenty bags of mail from First and Alameda streets to a point in the rear of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, 417 Mateo street, where the mail was ditched.

Other counts in the indictment cover charges of conspiracy to violate the postal laws and a violation of the law against the mutilation of mail sacks.

Under the ordinary rules of the court, the accused men will be arraigned before the United States District Court, next Monday, and it is possible that with the action of the grand jury, there will nothing come of the motion on behalf of Wilson to have his bail reduced from $100,000.

While there was no information given out as to the testimony in the case before the jury, it is said that it was of the most convincing character, and that there was no difference of opinion as to what the body should do.

PROPERTY RETURNED.

Before the return of the indictment, U. S. Commissioner Long and Asst. U. S. Atty. Herron, conferred with Richard Kittrelle, representing Wilson, and entered into a stipulation by the terms of which certain personal property belonging to Wilson, located by a search warrant in box No. 4650, in the Merchants' National Bank, on December 29, last, was ordered returned to Mr. Kittrelle. It was asserted and admitted that securities of value had been purchased by Wilson from a local bond house, two years before the robbery, on Alameda street, and were not in the list of securities taken by the thieves at that time. The $20,000 in cash captured at the same time, and the property of Wilson, is still in the hands of the government. It is asserted that this money represents the receipts from the sale of some of the stolen bonds and other securities.

Two bundles of canceled checks, articles of co-partnership, certificate for fifty shares stock of the Southern Pacific Company, fifty shares of Anaconda Copper Company, chattel mortgage Frank Wilson to Herbert Wilson, Nov. 1, 1921; bill of sale to Herbert Wilson by R. L. Hall & Co., sixty shares of stock of United Alloy Steel Company, one Liberty Bond of $100, last will and testament of Alice Wilson, Aug. 8, 1919; last will and testament of Herbert Wilson Aug. 27, 1921; volunteer discharge certificate, article of agreement between F. E. Davidson and L. E. Davidson, insurance policy for $6000 of Hanover Fire Insurance Company of New York; chattel mortgage, Effie C. Davidson to F. E. Smith, one note for $6000 date Jan. 18, 1921, payable to Herbert Wilson by Kate and Abe Singer.

GRAND JURY WITNESSES.

The witnesses before the Federal grand jury were Henry S. Davis and Aldro Denier, gate-keepers at Alameda street; Nelson R. Grimes, driver of the auto mail truck, and J. R. Alexander, a postal clerk, and it is stated that they all recognized both Cox and Wilson. There were several other witnesses but their identity has not been revealed.

When Cox went before U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke and made a statement which led the Federal officials to believe that it was only the prelude to more important information in regard to the events on the night of the robbery, the men were separated at the County Jail, lest Wilson use his influence to get Cox to change his mind about making statements to the officers.

Through some mistake both men were taken to the Federal Building yesterday, where they remained together in the cage in the office of the United States Marshal. They were in each other's company until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

"ILLUSTRATED POEM."

Beauty of "Four Seasons" is Highly Commended.

Recently Sid Grauman charmed local lovers of exquisite pictures by the presentation at his Rialto Theater of "The Beggar Maid," which was pronounced by press and public "a masterpiece in miniature." Now comes word from this exhibitor to the effect that "The Four Seasons" at Grauman's Theater next week will probably create an impression equally deep, lasting and delightful.

"The Four Seasons" will be offered as an added attraction on a bill featuring "Three Live Ghosts" a Paramount photoplay. Hugo Risenfeld, recognized as being as astute a showman in the East as Sid Grauman is in the West, wrote to Charles Urban of the Kineto company which produced "The Four Seasons," that he felt he owed him "more than the price of the picture or mere thanks for 'The Four Seasons.' It is beautiful, instructive and intensely interesting and with proper music it becomes an illustrated poem of immediate appeal to all classes. The audience loved it."

Robert Ellis With Holubar.

Robert Ellis, who recently laid aside his directorial megaphone to take up acting again, has been engaged by Allen Holubar to act as leading man to Dorothy Phillips in her next starring vehicle, "The Soul-Seeker." Production is now under way at United Studios.

FLASHES.

CLARKE AS MANAGER.

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF NEW PARAMOUNT STUDIO.

By Grace Kingsley.

The Realart Studios aren't to be given over to the spiders and mice, after all. According to announcement sent out yesterday by Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of Famous Players-Lasky organization, the studios are to be reopened, and Victor H. Clarke, formerly manager of the Long Island studios of the organization, has been appointed general manager, the studios to be known as the Wilshire Paramount Studio.

And the former Realart stars will probably have the joy of retaining their old dressing rooms, too, inasmuch as most of these players will now appear as members of all-star casts in special productions. According to present plans, a number of these special all-star cast productions will be made at this studio.

"Blood and Sand," from the Ibanez novel, will be the first production to be undertaken here, and John S. Robertson, who is to direct it, will be in town in the course of three weeks, and will at once commence work.

Bebe Daniels, who is to play a leading role in the picture, has just returned from a short vacation in the mountains, and May McAvoy and Constance Binney, who have left for a few weeks' vacation in New York, will find hard work awaiting them on their return.

Here and There.

Harry Pollard signed last Friday, a five years' contract with Hal E. Roach, who will feature the comedian beginning February 15, in two-reel comedies. Asked if he wasn't superstitious, Pollard said "No, I'm only superstitious when it comes to three as applied to one thing."

"What's that?" was asked. "Three square meals a day."

The entire cast has been chosen for Marie Prevost's new story, "Kissed," which has just been started at Universal City. Frank Glendon and Lloyd Whitlock carry the two male leads. Lillian Langdon, Arthur Hoyt, Harold Miller, Marie Crisp, Harold Goodwin and Percy Challenger, are also in the cast.

Production upon the first of a series of short subject novelties by Protean Arts has commenced at the Fine Arts studio, in Hollywood.

Echoes From Cocoanut Grove.

It seems to be becoming all the style, nowadays, for the flapper picture stars to step out with partners not in the profession. Beside Love, Ruth Clifford, Edith Roberts, all of them are dancing around these days with regular guys from the business world.

Marshal Neilan and Blanche Sweet dance together a lot these days. Miss Sweet has recovered from her recent prolonged illness, and is looking as pretty as a pink. Even when they go out in big parties, they don't dance with anybody else.

Maurice Tourneur Busy.

Having enlisted a full quota of villains and subvillains, Maurice Tourneur is now proceeding speedily with the involved plot of "Lorna Doone," his latest feature. Donald MacDonald, who has just completed an important role with Anita Stewart, will accomplish most of the rough work as Carver Doone. Jack McDonald, who has appeared in several previous Tourneur productions, will play Councellor Doone, another leader of the ruffian band. Frank Keenan, Madge Bellamy and John Bowers are also in the cast.

Zion Meyer's Bulletin.

It's of no more use for Zion Meyer to try to hide his talent than it is for him to try and hide his red hair. Now it comes out that though he is ostensibly acting only as Julius Stern's private secretary over at Universal City, he is also engaged in the bright mornings and dewy evenings in writing lyrics, along with his artistic partner, I. B. Kornblum, sister Carmel's husband.

The newest spot in which Zion's genius has broken out is in the writing of some new lyrics for Joseph Howard, with Howard and Kornblum writing the music for them. "Naomi" is the name of one of the songs, and Howard will sing it next week.

Kenneth Harlan Out.

There's a very painful professional divorce scheduled to take place as soon as Constance Talmadge finishes her picture. No, I don't mean her husband. I mean that Kenneth Harlan's contract as leading man with Miss Talmadge is completed, and the matinee girls may as well get their hankies ready to weep on, 'cause some other man is hereafter to be the star's professional lover in pictures.

Mr. Harlan has been so long identified with Miss Talmadge's comedies that it won't seem a bit natural to see any other man holding her hand. But it seems that the power that be among the producers always decree that no leading man shall appear opposite a star in more than six pictures.

The plans of Mr. Harlan are indefinite at present. He has an offer to return to the stage, however, which he may accept.

Carmel's Husband Wrote It.

Lovers of romance are going to get one of the most spine-tickling thrills of their careers next week when Joseph Howard at the Orpheum sings a duet with his wife, Ethlyn Clark, called "A Kiss from You."

You see that little song was written by I. B. Kornblum, who happens, besides being a lyric writer of note, to have the luck to be the husband of Carmel Myers, picture star. The inspiration was Miss Myers, herself, and the writing of the song won the first kiss Miss Myers ever bestowed on the aspiring young composer.

It appears to be a lucky little song for everybody who sings it. While Miss Clark was doing a "single" in vaudeville in the East, away over in Yonkers, she found that one of her numbers was not going well. So she sent her maid skurrying back to New York to dig into a trunk to find the Kornblum song, which she decided to try out.

She made such a terrific hit in "A Little Kiss from You" at the very first performance at which she sang it that she was forced to give it the precious encore spot.

STATE AUTO LAW TO BE QUESTIONED

Federal Supreme Court Ruling Basis for New Attack on Motor Act.

The validity of the State Motor Vehicle Act will be questioned, and a complete revision of the law asked in a suit which will be filed today on appeal from a sentence passed by Police Judge Chambers on Robert M. Ramsey, convicted recently of failure to drive an automobile in a "careful and prudent manner."

The appeal will be based on a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in regard to arity in the phrasing of laws.

Mr. Ramsey, according to Lyndon L. Young, who is preparing the suit, was sentenced to thirty days in jail for violation of Section 22 of the State Motor Vehicle Act. He injured Joseph Ryan, an aged tourist, on December 15, last, when he struck him with his car at Tenth street and Normandie avenue.

According to Mr. Young, Mr. Ramsey was prosecuted under the provision of the act which demands a "reasonable and proper speed." As no testimony was introduced to show that Mr. Ramsey was exceeding the speed limit, but as the prosecution's case was based entirely on the phraseology of the opening paragraph of the section, it is said the sentence is unconstitutional.

The theory of Mr. Young is based on a decision made in the Lever Act by the United States Supreme Court, which held that the words "unjust and unreasonable" were not constitutional in an act because they are indefinite. As no two persons might consider the same rate of speed, "reasonable and proper," Mr. Young states that ample precedent has been shown to invalidate the act.

French Actress Here.

With the announced purpose of producing a series of plays such as are given at the Grand Guignol in Paris, Mlle. Salvor, a French actress, has recently arrived in this city and is now endeavoring to obtain at theater at which she and her company will appear. She will present her plays in English. Her repertoire includes "Zaza," "The Admirable Crichton," "Camille," "Honor," "The Black Night," "The Signal," "Heart to Heart," and other classic and novelties of French stage.

Her company includes Bruce Stirling, leading man; Mlle. Suene Sergy, formerly danseuse at Buenos Aires Opera; Miss Martha Belfort, Pedro Valdez, noted Apache interpreter, and William Musgrave.

When she herself made her debut on the French stage it was in the part of Metternich in "L'Aiglon." She studied with Gerval.

Comedy Lead Vacationa.

Lucille Carlisle, accompanied by her mother and her sister Helen, left Wednesday for Coronado, where she will spend the remainder of the week. Miss Carlisle has just completed work in the latest Larry Semon comedy, and feels that she has earned a vacation.

Mr. Semon, who has recently become an enthusiastic golfer, will join the party later in the week. He is anxious to try out the links at Coronado, and it is possible that San Diego will furnish the exteriors for his next comedy, which is to be filmed on elaborate scale.

Mrs. Harry Todd In It.

Mrs. Harry Todd, who is to be co-starred with her husband in the new series of two-reel comedy-dramas, which the Roy H. Klumb Productions Company is making at Hollywood, won her biggest success triumph under the name of Margaret Joslin in the Snakeville series of comedies made by Essanay several years ago. Her characterization of the irrepressible Sophie Clutts was considered a film classic.

New MacDonald Film.

"Conquer the Woman" is the name of a new original story that B. P. Schulberg, president of Preferred Pictures, Inc., the producers of the Katherine MacDonald pictures, has just bought from Violet Clark. Miss Clark also wrote "Domestic Relations" which Miss MacDonald recently completed but which has not yet been released.

MUSICAL.

PARLOW SOLOIST.

GLAZOUNOW SYMPHONY AT ORCHESTRA CONCERT.

By Edwa Schallert.

If it's Russian it's interesting. At least that would appear to be the dictum of the public in regard to a symphonic work at the present time in Los Angeles. They advanced proof of their appreciation yesterday at Philharmonic Auditorium bn the presentation of Glazounow's Symphony No. 4, in E flat by the Philharmonic Orchestra. A notable work by a modernist of classic modifications it attracted the keenest attention, through its occasionally fine melodiousness its remarkable richness of orchestration and its high color vibrations.

Mr. Rothwell gave the symphony its first performance here. He invested it with an interpretation vigorous and dramatic. He emphasized in a high degree its somewhat primeval and barbaric characteristics. In fine it was a production that caught and held the hearer with is vibrant, its stern evidences of health in the music.

These manifested themselves in all three movements, but more especially perhaps in the second and last, although the first is endowed with rare melodic beauty. Some, I might say, much, of the music, shows a deficiency in creative impulse, except in so far as it is related to natural Russian idioms. Its trappings are greater than itself. The second movement perhaps showed the most freedom of style.

There are momements when the brasses acquired a stridency that did not appeal to my own ears but I will not gainsay that such blares of color have a place in the music of the Slav.

Acute indeed was the contrast between the symphony and the concerto for violin in E minor of Mendelssohn played by Kathleen Parlow, on whom have descended many of those prerogative which formerly belonged to Maud Powell as the premier woman violinist of the country. Miss Parlow made her first appearance with the orchestra locally, and her second in this city, her previous visit having been in recital last season.

Miss Parlow's finest qualities seem to be strictly feminine. For this reason perhaps the beauty of her rendition increased as the concerto advanced from the first to the second movement. The Andante had a rare loveliness. The final movement was sprightly and in a degree infectious.

The excellence of Miss Parlow's musicianship shine in the delicacy of her tonal fabric. It is like lace work. The thrills and florituras command the highest admiration. In the opening section of the Concerto she was not well poised either in tone or interpretation. Both in applause and flowers the soloist was warmly welcomed.

The closing number on the program, Wagner's prelude to "Die Meistersinger" showed in the highest degree the musical vigor which was elsewhere reflected in the program.

Lubitsch Studies Criminals.

Storing up information to be used in future productions, Ernest Lubitsch, the European director of "Deception," "One Arabian Night" and other pictures, who is now in New York, has been visiting points of historic interest about the city, having been received at the City Hall by Mayor Hylan.

This week Mr. Lubitsch, accompanied by Samuel Rachman of the Hamilton Theatrical Corporation, which has the famous director under contract, went to Sing Sing Prison and the New York police headquarters. At Sing Sing Lubitsch saw the electric chair and was shown how condemned criminals are strapped into the chair preparatory to execution.

His finger prints were taken in the Bertillon bureau and in the rogue's gallery he secured the photographs of several excellent underworld types. The first picture that he selected for the type of gunman was that of Monk Eastman, notorious gangster. The second, however, was that of one of the star headquarters detectives. The difference was carefully explained to him by police officers escorting him.

Pat Maurice.

Girl's Parade in New Gown Leads to Jail.

Pat Maurice strolled down Broadway yesterday, wearing a new dress. She smiled as several envious girls gazed longingly at the new gown, but her smile faded when she met Mrs. A. B. French, from whose apartment the police say the dress was stolen two weeks ago.

Pat Maurice wore another new dress last night, a prison gown lent to her at Central Police Station where she is held on suspicion of being a burglar.

When the girl, who is 20 years old, was met by Mrs. French, the latter notified the police and Pat was arrested by Detective Sergeants Cline and Eby. The detectives searched the girl's rooms and there they say they found the remainder of the clothing and jewelry, valued at $500, which had been stolen from the French apartments. The girl says they were given to her by an admirer.

Detectives Shy and Cline learned that their prisoner had resided during the last few weeks at sixteen hotels at each of which she is said to owe rent.

THREE PAY FINES FOR SPEEDING.

William Dalkart, 28 years old, of 340 Firmin street, was fined $150 by Police Judge Richardson on a complaint issued by W. E. Worthen, of 8044 Norton avenue. Mr. Worthen testified that at Fountain and Mariposa avenues on the 7th inst., Dalkart had crashed into his automobile.

Paul Arthur, 28 years old, was fined $100 or 100 days in the City Jail for reckless driving on the 10th inst. According to witnesses Arthur passed a moving street car on the left side and struck M. Ortes, a pedestrain. Arthur placed the injured man in his automobile, but instead of taking him to a hospital he took Ortes to his home and then failed to make an accident report to the police.

N. O. Dickson was fined $50 for having driven an automobile in a reckless manner on Macy street a few days ago.

Fatal Traffic Accidents More Than Doubled.

Statistics of automobile accidents which have occurred in Los Angeles since the first of the year, her of injured, January, 121, 432; head of the police traffic bureau, showed that twice as many deaths, due to traffic accidents, have occurred in the last twenty days as compared with the entire month of January a year ago.

WIFE SAYS HE FINALLY WENT.

Divorce Complaint Tells of Husband Returning and Going Again.

Although Frank D. Miller announced that he was through and was going to leave Mary Miller forever, he showed up at home the next night, according to a suit for divorce filed yesterday by Mrs. Miller. Finally, however, he made good his promise, and the couple separated November 21, last, she says.

They were married in Indiana Oct. 26, 1892, according to the complaint filed by Attorney Morris M. Ferguson.

MONUMENT TO CHINESE-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP

"DEDICATED TO AND ERECTED IN HONOR OF THE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
OUR FRIENDS ACROSS THE SEA
MAY THERE BE ETERNAL PEACE BETWEEN THE TWO PEOPLES"

The Chinese Puzzle of 400,000,000 Mortals

"Whoever understands China socially, politically, economically, and religiously, holds the key to the world's politics for the next five centuries."—Former Secretary of State, JOHN HAY.

WITH SEVENTY THOUSAND Chinese studying and working among us; with "the Open Door" in China standing as the great, dominant American policy in the Far East; with the traditional friendship between China and the United States constantly finding new expression, it still remains true to-day that to practically all Americans China, with her four hundred millions of human beings, is a vast unknown, a mystery unfathomable. Never has so good an opportunity come to Americans to know and understand China as now, when Japan and China have been brought together at a conference table of the world's great powers in the Capital of the American Republic. Therefore THE LITERARY DIGEST has prepared a complete presentation of China, the Country, the People, their Industries, their Ideals, and their Relations with the Rest of the World.

Americans Now May Know the Whole Story of China

A HOARY HISTORY

Countless ages back, lost in the mists of antiquity, thousands of years before the Christian Era, the Chinese people began,—no one knows how. Did they spring from the soil, or migrate from ancient Turkey, or Syria, or did they actually descend from Noah, after the Flood? Their many centuries of known history is full of wonderful happenings. An outline of it is given in this special number of THE DIGEST.

THE WHITE RAIDS ON CHINA

"The story of China for the past hundred years has been largely the story of her spoliation by the white races." To all who are accustomed to think of Japan's "extension of influence" as the chiefest of China's troubles, the article describing "Europe's Encroachments on China's Sovereignty" will bring an astounding revelation.

AMERICA: FRIEND and PROTECTOR

During all the troublesome years of European and Japanese encroachments and demands on China, only one great power in the world has stood by her as her protector, and is her protector to-day, and that power is America. A splendid article tells what America has done and is doing to maintain "the Open Door" and to protect China from voracious raids of foreign powers.

SHANTUNG

The cradle of Chinese Civilization; the Holy Land of the Chinese People; the birthplace of the silk industry, an Eden of agriculture; an Aladdin's Cave of precious metals and stones; the heart that controls the internal commerce, and communications of the entire Chinese Empire; one of the richest and most densely populated provinces of the earth; self-governed for five thousand years—There are many reasons "Why They Struggle for Shantung," and the article under that title is full of surprizing information, illustrated with a specially-drawn map.

JAPAN'S 21 DEMANDS

Probably not five persons in every ten thousand Americans could name even three of the famous "twenty-one demands" imposed upon China by Japan. Yet these demands have the most vital relationship to any settlement of the great "Problem of the Far East." They have been variously interpreted by the powers concerned. One of the most important articles in this week's DIGEST reveals "The Secret of the Twenty-One Demands."

CHINA'S RELIGIONS, CUSTOMS, ART

To know China it is necessary to know her religions. A clear explanation of the part which Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, Ancestor Worship, and Christianity play in Chinese life is contained in a special article on the subject. "Men and Manners in China" is another colorful article, full of interesting incidents. The "Peculiar Qualities of Chinese Art" are instructively described.

UNBINDING THE WOMEN

Along with the crippling of Chinese women's feet and the custom of killing or selling girl-babies, has gone a general subordination of the whole sex. But women in China are being unbound, physically, mentally, morally, and socially. A most instructive article tells how the transformation is being wrought.

SCIENCE IN CHINA

While the people in Europe were going about dressed in the skins of wild animals and using pieces of stone tied to sticks for tools and weapons, the Chinese were a highly developed and skilful nation. They were the inventors of gunpowder, the mariner's compass, the art of printing, the making of porcelain, and the manufacture of silk. Read about their casting of metals, their electrical industries, their medicine, their curious treatment of fractures, and many other marvels and oddities.

A LANGUAGE OF PICTURES

Chinese written characters are full of suggestive symbolism and piquant commentaries on social and industrial life. There is a picture character for "man" and another for "field." Both put together mean "farmer." Combine the character which means "word" with "man" and we have a man and his word, or "honesty." The symbols for "woman" and "son" together mean "good." Two of the symbols for "woman," together, mean "quarrel." Three of them together stand for "gossip." An interesting article reproduces and explains many of these story characters of the Chinese language.

An Exclusive Map, in Colors, of the Divided Republic

No such map has been published in this country before. It shows at a glance the provinces under the Peking Government, those under the Canton Government, and those which are independent or neutral. The leading article tells the whole story of the Divided Republic. Another valuable map shows the Province of Shantung, with its railways, roads, cable lines, and grand canal, as well as the location of its iron and coal fields and other mines. Still another map shows just where the zones of commercial influence of the various European Powers in China are located. These maps are of infinite value in making plain the real situation in China. The flag of the Chinese Republic is reproduced in correct colors on the cover.

EXPRESSES HOPE FOR BOND SALE.

Mayor Expects Favorable Action by Attorney.

City Will Win Minter Suit, Executive Asserts.

Validity of New Securities Held Sound.

Mayor Cryer expressed the hope yesterday that bond buyers will bid next Thursday morning on the $13,500,000 issue of electric power bonds, despite the litigation that has been started attacking the validity of the securities.

The Mayor opposed the secret $1,535,000 discount sale of the bonds to Irving H. Hellman, on the ground that the method of sale was improper and illegal, and that the bonds sold under open competition would bring a large premium.

Sales of city bonds subsequent to the secret sale to Mr. Hellman proved that the securities of the city would bring par and large premiums. The Supreme Court last Saturday set aside the Hellman sale, and the Mayor expressed the belief that a premium of at least $600,000 would be offered by the bidders.

Then late on Thursday came the telegram from Attorney John C. Thomson of New York, who certifies as to the validity of Los Angeles bonds, stating that in view of the suit attacking the bonds filed by C. B. Minter, would prevent Mr. Thomson's giving a final opinion as to the validity of the bonds until the litigation was decided favorably to the city.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT.

Mayor Cryer said yesterday:

"I am confident, as a lawyer, that the city will win the Minter suit, the filing of which seems to have been timed to block the sale of the bonds so as to prevent the city from carrying out its purchase agreement for the distributing lines of the Southern California Edison Company on March 1, and terminating the present operating arrangement which expires on that date.

"The fact that Attorney Thomson validated the two blocks of harbor bonds and the $500,000 block of library bonds after the California Supreme Court had made its ruling declaring that Sawtelle was not and had never been legally a part of Los Angeles indicates to me that Mr. Thomson felt that the fact that Sawtelle, which participated in the harbor and library bond elections, was not a part of the city at the time did not invalidate these bond issues. And I believe that the Supreme Court will so rule in the Minter suit. I hope that banks, bond and investment houses will come forward and bid on the power bonds and will not be frightened away by this litigation."

COMPLAINT FORWARDED.

Special Counsel Matthews of the Board of Public Service Commissioners yesterday forwarded to Attorney Thompson in New York a copy of the complaint in the Minter case, and there is a possibility that after reading the complaint Mr. Thomson may wire before the hour set for opening the bid that the litigation, being unsound and trivial, he is prepared to certify that the bonds are legal.

While members of the Board of Public Service Commissioners are hoping that bids will be received next Thursday the commission is already considering what shall be done in case the bonds cannot be sold and the Southern California Edison Company declines to grant any further extensions of time for purchase of its system in Los Angeles. There remains unsold in the city treasury $1,200,000 of 1914 power bonds, bearing 4½ per cent interest, and it is believed that these securities could be sold at once, and the proceeds used for the construction of new distributing lines.

JOINT TRIAL OPPOSED IN BURCH CASE

Mrs. Obenchain to Have Separate Hearing, Says Prosecuting Attorney.

Possibility of a joint trial for Arthur C. Burch and Mrs. Madalyane Obenchin for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy was eliminated yesterday when it was announced by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine that he did not intend to ask Judge Reeve that the two defendants be tried at the same time.

It had been reported that the District Attorney would ask for a joint trial, but in a statement last night this was denied. So far as the District Attorney's office is concerned, the cases will be tried separately.

Telephones for License, Then Fails to Call.

Willard Mack, actor and playwright, whose marriage has been expected on a number of occasions, last evening furnished a false alarm for the marriage license bureau when he sent a hasty message to Miss Emma Higgins, in charge, stating that he would appear with his prospective bride to obtain a license.

In his conversation with Miss Higgins, he asked that she remain until 5:15 p.m. as he would arrive at that time. Miss Higgins remained until 6 p.m., but Mr. Mack and his bride-to-be, Mrs. Beatrice (Bebe) Stone, failed to arrive.

LIBRARY OFFICERS NAMED.

The board of directors of the Los Angeles Public Library has named elected officers for 1922 as follows: President, Orra E. Monnette; first vice-president, Frank H. Pettingell; second vice-president, Mrs. J. Wells Smith; treasurer, Dr. Walter Lindley; secretary, Everett R. Perry. Appointment of committees was postponed until the next meeting.

SUNDAY'S SERMON TOPICS.

pected at the banquet at the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium this evening, given by the Presbyterian Social Union in honor of Dr. Henry C. Swearingen, Moderator of the General Assembly, and his party of national church officials. Accompanying Dr. Swearingen on his trip to Los Angeles are Dr. John A. Marquis, general secretary of the Home Mission Board, Dr. W. F. Weir, general secretary of men's work, Rev. A. W. Moore, representing the Board of Foreign Missions, and Miss Mabel Shelbley, secretary of the Women's Board of Home Missions. Arrangements have been made for Dr. Swearingen and members of his party to speak at many local Presbyterian churches tomorrow.

TAKE RELIGIOUS CENSUS.

A marked increase of church attendance tomorrow is expected to result from the religious census conducted in Los Angeles yesterday when more than 400,000 people were visited at their homes, asked to state their religious convictions and requested to attend the church of their choice. The campaign was in general charge of J. Shreve Durham, international superintendent of Home Visitation. Mr. Durham stated yesterday that the census taking will be continued today and perhaps tomorrow.

REV. MOORE TO PREACH.
FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Hundreds of invitations were sent yesterday to Los Angeles college and university students, requesting their presence at the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning to hear an address by Rev. A. W. Moore, a missionary from India. Tomorrow evening Dr. Hugh K. Walker will preach on "Three Impossibilities in the Ranks of the World's Well Wishers." Dr. Walker will illustrate his sermon by a sketch of the most famous character in English fiction and will outline a programme for the church and the nation.

MODERATOR TO PREACH.
IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN.

Dr. Henry Chapman Swearingen, pastor of the House of Hope Church in St. Paul, Minn., and Moderator of the General Assembly, will preach tomorrow morning at the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena and in the evening at Immanuel Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles. "Dr. Swearingen is proving to be one of the most efficient men who ever held his present high office," was the tribute paid the Moderator yesterday by Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, pastor of Immanuel Church. Tomorrow morning Dr. Smith will preach on the topic, "What Is Salvation by Grace?"

"MODERN IDEA OF GOD."
EBELL CLUB.

"The Modern Idea of God," a free public lecture by Bishop Irving S. Cooper, will be delivered in the Ebell Club Auditorium tomorrow evening. "The statements about God made in the average Christian pulpit and Sunday-school are impossible if the God described is the Ruler and Creator of the universe," said Bishop Cooper yesterday. "They might apply to the Ruler of a planet, but even then they would belittle such an intelligence." Bishop Cooper is of the opinion that many of the old ideas current in Christianity need recasting in the light of modern knowledge. He believes that astronomy is the greatest help to one trying to get an adequate idea of God and in his lecture tomorrow evening he will take his hearers on an imaginary journey through interstellar space.

"FIVE THINGS ESSENTIAL."
WILSHIRE PRESBYTERIAN.

According to Dr. John Albert Eby, pastor of Wilshire Presbyterian Church, five things are essential to a complete human life —a healthy body, a cultured mind, a happy home, a useful occupation and a sinless soul. However, says Dr. Eby, these things are not easily attained and retained. We are all surrounded by big iron gates that shut us out or in from these blessings. In his sermon tomorrow morning Dr. Eby will tell how to open these "iron gates." In the evening Dr. A. W. Moore, missionary from India, will preach.

"REBUILDING JERUSALEM."
BROADWAY CHRISTIAN.

Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the Broadway Christian Church, will tell the story of Jerusalem's rebuilding in his sermon tomorrow morning, giving the story a present-day application. The Broadway Church is taking on new life with each succeeding week under the able direction of Mr. Buchanan, and the musical programs, under the direction of Mrs. Alma K. Moss, are proving a delightful and helpful feature of the services. More than 150 members have been added to the church since last May, when Mr. Buchanan assumed the pastorate.

DR. PATTON GOES EAST.
FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

Following his first lecture in a series on "Christ in Modern Fiction," to be given next Wednesday afternoon at the First Congregational Church, Dr. Carl S. Patton will leave Los Angeles for Grinnell, Iowa, to deliver the "Gates Lecture" at Grinnell College. He will return to Los Angeles in time for the lecture to be given on the afternoon of February 8. Tomorrow morning Dr. Patton will preach on "The Hid Treasure" and in the evening will illustrate his discourse by the picture, "Salvation Nell."

"FOOLISH PROPHETS."
MINISTERS TO MEET.

Chief of Police Everington will be introduced to the clergy of Los Angeles at a meeting of the Ministerial Association of Los Angeles and vicinity, to be held at 10 o'clock next Monday morning in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium. The chief speaker will be Dr. John Gardner, who will give an address on "Foolish Prophets."

DR. CRANE TO PREACH.
TEMPLE BAPTIST.

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, who recently went to the Golden State Hospital to undergo a minor operation, is recovering rapidly and will probably be taken to his home today or tomorrow. A week from tomorrow Dr. Brougher expects to take charge of at least one of the services at Temple Baptist Church. The sermon tomorrow morning will be by Dr. Albert H. Smith, who will preach on "In the Midst of the Year." In the evening, following the musical program and the showing of the moving picture, "The Wanderer and Whozitt," Dr. Henry H. Crane will preach.

DR. FRANCIS IN MISSOURI.
FIRST BAPTIST.

Dr. James A. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, left Los Angeles last night for Columbia, Mo., to attend an important meeting of representative Baptists from the northern and southern conventions. The First Baptist Church pulpit will be supplied tomorrow by Rev. Oliver U. Chapman, junior pastor, who will preach in the morning on "A Good Life" and in the evening on "The Source of Divine Power."

TO HONOR BRITAIN.
AMBASSADOR CHURCH.

In honor of the coming of the British cruiser, the Raleigh, Dr. Frank Dyer, at the Ambassador Hotel Church tomorrow morning, will conduct a special service of recognition and tribute to British leadership and the relationship of America and Britain during, and subsequent to the World War. Dr. Dyer will speak on "David, the Poet King, and David Lloyd George." British veterans and all former residents of the British empire are especially invited.

"JAZZING HELLWARD."
TRINITY METHODIST.

"Spiritual illiteracy and moral ignorance are causing this nation to jazz its way hellward double-quick," is the statement made yesterday by Rev. Robert Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, who will preach tomorrow evening on "Jazzing Hellward for Lack of Knowledge." The subject for the morning is "Revelation Versus Evolution—Where Stands God?" At 3 p.m. a sermon will be preached by Dr. Henry C. Morrison of Louisville, Ky., who with the possible exception of George Stuart, is said to be the best-known Methodist preacher in "the old South." A feature of the evening service will be the large chorus directed by M. M. Johnson, with Robert Harkness at the piano.

ON LYONS'S REPORT.
FIRST CHRISTIAN.

The criminality statistics for the last year, as compiled by Statistician L. W. Lyons, form the basis of a sermon to be preached by Rev. Edgar Fay Daugherty tomorrow morning at the First Christian Church. The subject of the discourse is "Statistics Teach" and Mr. Daugherty promises to point to the lessons to be learned from the catagory of crime. The subject for the evening sermon is "Hosea—and Marital Infidelity."

"BURCH'S FATHER'S PRAYER."
WESTLAKE PRESBYTERIAN.

It is said that the father of Burch spent twelve hours in prayer while the jury was out discussing Burch's fate. Did God hear the cry of this man, pleading for his son? This question will be discussed by Dr. G. A. Briegleb in a sermon tomorrow evening at the Westlake Presbyterian Church. In connection with the evening service, Dr. John A. Marquis, general secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, will speak on "Modern Heroisms of the Cross." In the morning Dr. Briegleb will preach on "Victory Through Christ."

GOES TO HOLY LAND.
DR. B. S. HAYWOOD.

Members of Wilshire Methodist Episcopal Church have granted their pastor, Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood a vacation of three months and Dr. and Mrs. Haywood will leave Los Angeles next Saturday on a tour of the world. On February 4 they will sail from New York on the "Empress of Scotland," stopping at the Madiera Islands and then visiting Spain, Gibraltar, Algiers and Tunis. They will visit all the important Mediterranean cities and will then spend several days in the Holy Land. From there they will go to Egypt, thence to Europe and will return to the United States by way of Canada, landing at Quebec. During the pastor's absence, his church will be supplied by prominent ministers of Los Angeles and the Southland. Tomorrow morning Dr. Haywood will preach on "The Ones at Your Side You Don't See," and in the evening his subject will be "To Lands Afar." The Wilshire Men's Club will give a dinner in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Haywood at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening at the church and among the speakers for the occasion are Gov. William D. Stephens and R. B. Von Klein Smid, president of the University of Southern California.

"THE MASTER OF MAN."
ST. PAUL'S PRO-CATHEDRAL.

"Is it safe to make light of sin? How far should a wife forgive her husband? Why do girls leave home? Should mercy temper justice?" These are some of the questions to be answered by Rev. William MacCormack at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral tomorrow evening in his sermon-review on Hall Cain's book, "The Master of Man." The subject of the morning discourse is "The Individuality of Duty." Beginning at 7:15 p.m., a half-hour organ recital will be given by Ernest Douglas.

"THE ANCIENT WISDOM."
CHURCH OF THE PEOPLE.

Emerson said that India's ancient wisdom, compared with modern philosophy, is as the blazing sun compared to a candle. Reynold E. Blight will speak before the Church of the People tomorrow morning on the subject, "The Ancient Wisdom of India Applied to Modern Life." Classes for the study of life's deeper meanings, conducted by Maud F. Galpher, C. F. Holland and C. F. Hamley, will be open to the public next Monday at 2 p.m., and 8 p.m., and next Friday at 8 p.m.

GIVES SWEDISH PROGRAM.
THEOSOPHY SYMPHONY HALL.

A Swedish speaking and musical program has been arranged by Mme. Katherine Tingley, to be given at Symphony Hall tomorrow evening under auspices of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical Society. Mme. Tingley will give an address in English and addresses in Swedish will be given by Mrs. Anna Reutersvard Lars Eek, Miss Karin Nystrom, Miss Agda Ohlsson, Lieuts. Berg Von Linde, Alarik Unger-Soderberg, and others.

"MORALITY AND RELIGION."
REV. C. A. COLE.

"The Difference Between Morality and Religion" will be discussed by Rev. C. A. Cole next Wednesday morning before the Graded Union of Church School Workers, meeting in Berean Hall, Philharmonic Auditorium. Ways and means for "the best workers' conference in the church" will be considered by several prominent speakers. The young people's department members will meet next Monday evening in Rowland Hall, Columbia Building, under leadership of Prof. A. A. Macurda.

"FINALITY OF CHRIST."
WILSHIRE BLVD. CHRISTIAN.

"Are you peddling a second-hand doubt? Are you relying on second-hand experience? Are you trusting a second-hand faith?" These are among the questions to be asked the congregation at the Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church tomorrow evening by Rev. M. Howard Fagan, who will preach on "New and Second-Hand." At the morning hour, Mr. Fagan will preach on "The Finality of Christ." The morning service will be featured by the singing of Albert K. Macgillivray, who will render a selection from the "Elijah."

"THE BURCH TRIAL."
WESTLAKE METHODIST.

A discussion of the modern defense of criminals will feature a sermon on "Crime, Insanity—But What Else?" by Rev. Thomas O. Grieves, at the Westlake Methodist Church, tomorrow evening. "The Burch trial is over, its lessons are public property, and it is time we give attention to some of the fundamentals relative to this trial," said Mr. Grieves yesterday. At the morning hour, Mr. Grieves will preach on "Investments and Dividends."

WILL "PAN" RAMESES.
TRINITY AUDITORIUM.

The virtues and vices—particularly the vices—of Rameses the Great, will be discussed by Dr. S. E. Helms in a sermon at Trinity Auditorium tomorrow evening. Dr. Helms will put one over on the old Pharoah, who for sixty-seven years enslaved and persecuted the children of Israel. He will mercilessly expose the allegedly great Rameses and "Ram" will have no come-back. All the other Pharoahs together left but 140 monuments. Rameses alone left 200 monuments—which fact, however, will not prevent Dr. Helms from saying just what he thinks of them. In the morning Dr. Helms will preach on "The Higher Versus the Lower."

"WHO IS WHO?"
CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR.

In the absence of Dr. R. A. Torrey, Dr. Cortland Myers will preach tomorrow morning and evening at the Church of the Open Door. In the morning Dr. Myers will preach on the subject, "In the Modern Mixture of Church and World, Who is Who?" The subject for evening is "What is Life in Los Angeles?" Speaking yesterday, of the work of Dr. Myers, Dr. T. C. Horton, superintendent of the Bible institute, said, "Dr. Myers is a fearless preacher of God's word. He has unbounded faith in the Bible, and an uncompromising message for men. He shoots straight at the target and never fails to hit his mark."

"STRANGLE HOLDS."
CHURCH OF DIVINE POWER.

A dramatic Bible interpretation of "The Rich Young Man" will be given tomorrow morning in the Assembly Hall of the Hotel Alexandria, third floor, by Mme. Lelia Simon Castberg, founder of the Church of the Divine Power. Mme. Castberg will also give a lecture entitled "Strangle-Holds." In the evening Blarne Castberg will lecture on "The Way That Wins."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.
LESSON-SERMON, "TRUTH."

Services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, by the twelve Christian Science churches, and two societies of Los Angeles. The subject of the lesson-sermon for the churches and societies is "Truth." Services also will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, in First, Second Third, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth and Thirteenth churches. All churches and societies hold Wednesday evening meetings, at which testimonies of Christian Science healing are given.

CHURCH NOTES.

Dr. Jay N. Taft will be in charge of services tomorrow morning at Plymouth Congregational Church and will preach on "The Great and the Good Church." At the People's Service at 7:15 p.m. the moving picture, "Dwelling Place of Light," will be shown.

Dean S. H. Blakeslee and his vested choir from the First Methodist Church of Ontario will give a vesper concert at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Hollywood Methodist Church.

Rev. L. Thornton Hartman, pastor of Lincoln Heights Baptist Church, will preach tomorrow morning on "The Unspeakable Gift," and in the evening on "Purification by Faith."

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Dr. W. C. Miller, pastor. Morning subject, "Heaven, the Way to It and the Glory of It"; evening, "The Great Alternative."

Prof. John Hedley of the University of Southern California will be in charge of the service tomorrow morning at Crescent Heights Methodist Church. In the evening Rev. W. C. Ingle will speak on "Pacific Palisades, the Future Christian Center of the Southland."

Hollister Christian Church, Rev. W. F. Richardson, pastor. Morning topic, "What Does God Do to Save Us?" Evening, "The Divine Yardstick." The pastor's class on "The Art of Thinking Right" will be conducted next Wednesday evening.

At the First Inglewood Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. Herbert E. Hays is pastor, the sermon tomorrow morning will be by Dr. John MacAllister. In the evening Mr. Hays will preach on "God's Righteousness and Ours."

Rev. George W. Davis will be in charge of services tomorrow morning and evening at the Gospel Tabernacle, 1705 South Hope street.

Church of the Messiah (Congregational), Rev. Howard L. French, pastor. Morning subject, "What Is a Christian?" Evening, "The Story of a Young Artist."

The usual Sabbath services will be conducted at 10:50 o'clock this morning at the Temple, Congregation B'nai B'rith, with Dr. Edgar F. Magnin in charge.

Pico Heights Congregational Church, Rev. J. M. Schaefe, pastor. Morning subject, "The Age Long Conflict"; evening sermon on "How to Succeed," by Rev. M. A. Shipman, associate pastor.

Hyde Park Congregational Church, Rev. J. M. Schaefe, pastor. Morning sermon by Rev. M. A. Shipman; evening discourse by Mr. Schaefe, who will preach on "The Masterful Minority."

Dr. George Davidson will preach on "Casting Out Evil" at St. John's Episcopal Church tomorrow morning. The evening sermon will be by Rev. Mearl K. Crawford. Sunday-school at 9:45 a.m.; preaching, 11 a.m.; Christian Endeavor, 6:30 p.m.; preaching, 7:30 p.m. At the morning worship, Rowe's "Silent Voice" will be sung by Miss Marion Logan of Denver, Colo.

Florence Miriam Johnson will speak on "The Mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven" tomorrow morning at Lincoln Hall, Walker Auditorium.

First English Lutheran Church, Rev. W. G. Dyrsinger, D.D., pastor. In the morning Rev. Wendell S. Dyrsinger, assistant pastor, will preach on "Opportunity and Opposition" and in the evening the pastor will preach on "Christ, Not a Reformer."

Seventh Park Christian Church, Rev. Bruce Brown, pastor. Morning subject, "The Problem of Human Suffering"; evening, "Satan's Sermon."

First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Lewis Lloyd Bard, pastor. Morning subject, "Salty Speech"; evening, "The Rock of Wisdom."

Park Congregational Church, Rev. Henry Stanley, pastor. Morning subject, "The Healing of a Paralyzed Soul." Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:30 p.m.

More Sober Anyway.

Dr. F. E. Shelling of the English department of the University of Pennsylvania, says that students of today are much more serious-minded than in by-gone years. He does not know whether to attribute this to prohibition or to an increasing desire for higher education.

PRISONERS TO BUST 'EM UP.

Four Hundred Vagrants to Break Rock to Prevent "Homesick Feeling."

The unemployment problem at the Lincoln Heights Police Station was solved yesterday by Police Inspector McDowell. The inmates, in the future, will make little ones of big ones.

Each day, the East Side substation has an average of 400 inmates, most of them sentenced for vagrancy. The problem of what to do with the vagrants to occupy their time and prevent them from getting homesick has been perplexing the police.

Twenty tons of huge rocks were carted to the station yesterday. An ample number of sledge hammers has been purchased. Tomorrow the rockpile will be established. A sledge hammer is to be issued to every prisoner and in the future they may be found making little ones of big ones.

LOSES WAY TO JAIL.

Prisoner Overlooked After He Has Hearing in Court.

C. Covell, accused of attempted grand larceny, lost his way yesterday and had to be shown how to get back into the County Jail. He had had a partial hearing before Justice Follette and the officer in charge overlooked him. He wandered about the courtroom and the corridors for a time and then returned to court and inquired how he could get back into jail. A constable was called and showed him the way.

The prisoner is accused of having attempted to obtain from Charles A. Willard, 1219 Irolo street, the sum of $3000 for the Australian and New Zealand rights to a popular drink. The case was continued until the 27th inst. The prosecution is in charge of Dep. Dist.-Atty. McDaniel.

DRIVEN BY REMORSE, MAN TAKES OWN LIFE.

Remorseful because of family troubles, according to deputy sheriffs, Manuel Ortes, aged about 45 years, said to be a member of an old Southern California Spanish family, killed himself yesterday by inhaling gas in the bathroom of his home, 3333 Princeton street, at 3:30 p.m. His body was found by his son, Pablo. Ortes was born in Los Angeles and died in the house in which he was born.
